

Mr. R. A. Morrow spent today in Charlotte.

Mr. A. M. Stack spent Saturday in Charlotte.

Mr. Chas. Huntley has resigned as constable of Marshville township.

Mr. C. E. Ingram of Cheraw visited in town Saturday and Sunday.

Dr. and Mrs. Henry Houston of Waxhaw visited at Mr. R. Redfern's Friday and Saturday.

Mrs. Maggie Littleton of Albemarle is visiting her sister, Mrs. T. J. Jerome.

Mrs. H. F. Bivens returned to Waxhaw yesterday from a visit to her sister, Mrs. A. C. Johnson.

Miss Elsie Baker left last week for Confederate College to take a business course.

Messrs. Lee & Lee will have their millinery opening tonight and tomorrow. The store is being most beautifully decorated.

Dr. Watt Ashcraft left Monday for Washington, D. C., to begin a course in the U. S. College of Veterinary Science.

Mr. J. A. Jerome of Unionville sends The Journal office a sample of a second crop of ripe June apples.

Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Monroe of Sanford arrived this morning, being summoned by the death of Mrs. Monroe's father.

Mr. A. L. Parker of Lanes Creek leaves a sample of some fine home-made molasses to The Journal office.

The Bear Creek Primitive Baptist Association held its annual fall session at Freedom, Stanly county, last week. A report of the meeting will be published next week.

Messrs. Horace Stacy, Ney McNeely, Chatham Bivens, and Oscar Brown have been elected by literary societies at Waxhaw Institute for the Christmas debate.

Mr. J. T. Brown, a railroad man of St. Augustine, Fla., and a Union county boy, is visiting his parents at Wingate. Mr. Brown and his mother are spending the day in Charlotte.

Mrs. A. Levy will give her millinery opening tonight only. Mrs. Levy always makes these occasions most pleasant for visitors and all are cordially invited to call at her store tonight.

Mrs. C. B. Laney and children went to Wadesboro Saturday to join Mr. Laney, who has accepted a position there. They will make their home in Wadesboro, to the regret of their many friends here.

Mr. Thos. Little, son of Esq. J. S. Little, and Miss Lela Horton of Lanes Creek township, were married Sunday at Mt. Moriah, in South Carolina, Rev. J. L. Bennett officiating.

Elders W. T. Broadaway and W. Moness will preach at the following times and places in this county: Watson, Oct. 9; Union Grove, 10; High Hill, 11; Liberty, 12; Mountain Springs, 13.

Messrs. Jno. C. Griffin and M. A. Polk will put up a telephone line from Monroe to Charlotte, with a station here, and an exchange at Matthews and one at Baker's Crossing.

Belk Bros. will give their fall millinery opening tonight and tomorrow. The store next to John R. Simpson's is given over entirely to the millinery department and will present the usual pretty appearance.

Mr. M. A. Griffin, proprietor of the Richardson Creek Berkshire herd, is making preparations to put a number of his hogs on exhibition at the Raleigh, Greensboro and Charlotte fairs. Mr. Griffin always brings home premiums.

There will be a public debate at Wingate Saturday night, Oct. 17th, on the query, "Should we have a low tariff?" The speakers are G. H. Hinson, L. L. Hurley, W. E. Jones, Vann Griffin, W. E. McWhirter, Sam Long, W. E. Brock and J. R. McLendon.

Mr. D. H. Funderburk of Buford township last week entered the senior class of the Maryland Medical College at Baltimore, and will graduate next May. Mr. Funderburk has heretofore been studying in Augusta, Ga.

Mr. W. J. Hudson has become manager of the insurance department of the Savings, Loan and Trust Co. He will probably move his family to Monroe later on. Mr. Hudson is a good citizen and Monroe will be glad to acquire him permanently.

Mr. O. P. Wimberly tells The Journal that the report that he had said he saw boll weevils in his cotton this year was a mistake. It was last year, he says, that he saw the weevil in his cotton, and is absolutely sure that he made no mistake as he had seen fields of them in Texas.

Mr. Jerro Hinson, who went to Charlotte sometime ago to have his eyes operated on, went back there yesterday. On the first trip only one eye was treated, which has now gotten so that he can see just a bit out of it, and the other will now be operated on. The physician tells Mr. Hinson that he is confident that he can restore his sight.

The celebrated "Bailey" case has taken a new phase. Last Saturday Marshal Milligan appeared in Monroe and served an injunction upon Capt. W. C. Heath, Bailey's surety, forbidding the payment of the judgment against Bailey of $5,000. The injunction was issued by Federal Judge Simonton, and will be heard at Charlotte, S. C., on the 15th inst. Thus the case goes into the Federal courts.

Messrs. Shute & Sons have bought the old buildings on the Winchester property on Hayes and Franklin streets and will move them off. Messrs. Redwine & Stack have bought their material and will at once begin the erection of their large store and office buildings.

Mrs. Y. R. Parker died at her home in north Monroe on Saturday afternoon. She was about 60 years of age. The funeral was conducted by Rev. Mr. Watson on Sunday and the remains buried here beside those of her brother, Rev. Philip Snider, who was the first pastor of the Baptist church here. Quite a concourse of friends and relatives attended the funeral.

The County Commissioners were in session yesterday and today. Mostly routine business was transacted yesterday. Today Mr. J. Ed Stewart was elected register of deeds to fill out the unexpired term of Mr. J. Millen Stewart. This young gentleman has been the deputy register for some time, and is thoroughly familiar with the office and will make a capable and painstaking officer.

Dick Howard, an industrious colored man of Sandy Ridge township, fell dead last Friday. Dick was in his cotton house, and as he stooped to pick up an armful of cotton, fell over and quickly died without speaking. As he fell one of the boys jumped on a mule and ran for Dr. Price, who got there in about an hour, but the man had then long been dead. Dr. Price said death was caused by neuralgia of the heart.

Mr. J. Frank Williams and Miss Mamie Helms, daughter of the late Abel Helms, Esq., were married last Thursday night. The marriage was a very quiet affair and quite a surprise to all but the most intimate friends. The ceremony was performed by Rev. W. F. Watson at his home. Mr. D. B. Snider and the minister's family were the only witnesses present. Mr. Williams is a son of Mr. S. A. Williams of east Monroe township, and is a very popular young man, holding a position with the Heath-Lee Hardware Co. The bride is a popular and accomplished young lady.

Schools to Open in November. The County Board of Education met in regular quarterly session yesterday. All the members, namely, F. B. Ashcraft, chairman, J. N. Price and J. W. Bivens, were present. A great many local controversies came before the board for adjustment. Among the other business transacted it was ordered that all the schools of the county begin on one of three days, November 2nd, the 9th or the 16th, each committee to select its own date to suit peculiar circumstances.

J. C. Irby, R. W. Tysinger and W. C. Brown were appointed a committee in the Howie Mine district and the school ordered continued until further action.

Petitions for and against consolidation of the Pleasant Grove district in Sandy Ridge township and the Doster district in Monroe were heard, also a good deal of argument. It appearing that consolidation would not be wisest, the board ordered that districts remain as at present.

The Altan or Baker district was given permission to move the present public school house out to the Wolf Pond road to a point within from three quarters of a mile north of Altan, expense to be borne by the district.

Pin Hook school house in Vance township was ordered sold and the proceeds put into the Indian Trail building.

A petition to have a part of the Rock Rest school taught at Centre was not allowed, it appearing not to be the best interest of the district.

The question heretofore up in regard to the moving of school house in district No. 6 in Sandy Ridge was discussed. The board held to its former action as to location, which was that the new site be as near in the centre as a suitable location could be obtained, but as to the expense of moving, ordered that it be borne by the district, either from private subscription or from the district's own funds.

The petition of S. W. Stewart and others asking for a district between the Wesley Chapel and Sandy Ridge districts in Sandy Ridge township, containing 71 children of school age, was granted, much of this territory being heretofore uncovered by schools. The conditions are that the petitioners must furnish the school site and build the house at their own expense, which proposition they made.

A long and warm discussion was indulged in before the board on the request of a part of the Weddington or Sandy Ridge district to divide the public school money between the school at the academy and the private school now running in the district. The board decided to make the division and requested the committee of the district to see if they could agree on an equitable basis of division.

The school in the Fowler district in Monroe township was ordered to be taught in the new school house in the district.

The Marshville, Wingate, Carmel and Tirzah districts each applied for one of these libraries that the county is entitled to, each furnishing $10 by private subscription and getting $10 from the county and $10 from the State. There are two more libraries not applied for.

Loans from the State building funds amounting to $700 were arranged for, the applications already having been granted. This money is borrowed by Indian Trail ($500), Trinity ($150) and Sandy Ridge ($50).

Mr. J. Millen Stewart Dead. Mr. John Millen Stewart, register of deeds of Union county, died at his home in Monroe at 1:30 last night. He had been sick about six weeks with typhoid fever. The funeral will occur tomorrow at ten o'clock with services at the house.

Mr. Stewart was sixty years old, having been born Oct. 28, 1843. He served in the war as a member of the 10th North Carolina troops. After the war closed he returned to his home in Jackson township and took up the battle for bread. He was married to Miss Nancy. They were married in 1872 and have since lived here continuously. Of their several children four survive, Mrs. W. A. Monroe of Sanford, Mrs. J. S. Hasty, Mrs. T. R. Brown and Mr. James Stewart of Monroe. In 1898 Mr. Stewart was elected register of deeds for the county and so well did he fill the office that the people re-elected him in 1900 and in 1902.

Union county has never had a better citizen than John Millen Stewart. On his soul there was no blemish. He was as gentle as a woman, and never spoke or did aught to offend or wound others. He was a most devoted member of Unity Reformed Presbyterian church, and possessed to a most noticeable degree the true christian spirit. He loved his church and was most liberal with his means in contributing to all its demands. An honest and conscientious public servant, a gentle and lovable christian, a kind and devoted husband to his loved ones, who have but recently given up to death a beloved brother and son, the late Bonner Stewart, but they may have for consolation the fact that he lived a worthy and useful life, was a true man, and an humble believer in Christ.

There was a called session of the Board of Commissioners Wednesday, and the following were drawn as jurors for the second week of court: Marley Griffin, J. C. Bancroft, Walter Haney, J. T. Cox, W. J. Sutton, William Fowler, T. J. Caudle, D. C. Robinson, Jr., J. Lonnie Helms, W. Hampton Brooks, J. L. Cuthbertson, E. Brady, Enoch W. Griffin, S. P. Walkup, H. D. Fowler, B. Frank Mangum, C. E. Rushing, A. H. McLarty. The vote of the school election in Trinity district was canvassed at this meeting. The vote was 12 to 10 in favor of the tax.

Slayer of John Williamson Gives Bond. Wadesboro Messenger and Intelligencer.

Judge Cook made an order, while here last week, allowing Henry Young, who was in jail here awaiting his trial for the murder of Jno. H. Williamson at Hamlet several months ago, bail in the sum of $1,500. Monday morning Mr. J. D. Young, Henry Young's father, arrived here from Rockingham, bringing with him a duly executed bond for the above amount, which was accepted by Clerk of the Court T. C. Robinson. Young was at once released and returned home with his father Monday night.

The bond was signed by the following citizens of Rockingham: A. W. Porter, M. T. Hinson, T. S. Wright, E. D. Whittlock, John Morrison, J. B. Caudle, M. L. Hinson, A. M. Long, J. M. Smith, John P. Cameron, D. M. Morrison, W. A. McDaniel.

Child Scalded in a Pot of Cabbage. Wadesboro Messenger and Intelligencer.

Fred, the sixteen months old son of Mrs. T. V. Howell of Peachland, was badly scalded Tuesday. His mother had just removed a pot of cabbage from the stove when the little fellow went up to the pot and began to play beating the drum on the cover, at the same time leaning his weight on the cover. The cover slipped and he fell in the pot, emptying a good part of its contents on his body. The child is badly scalded about the hands, arms, face and chest, but it is not thought his injuries are dangerous.

Notice. All our notes, mortgages and accounts were due Oct. 1, '03, except some who have been owing us for years and years and act like they thought if they were to happen to pay these honest debts the world would come to an end at once and then their days would be over for deceiving people (and it ought to be). We will say to such who owe us, we intend to collect from you at once if possible. To one and all we will say that we need our money and hope you will settle at once and save trouble, etc. McRAE MERCANTILE CO.

Attention Veterans! You are all earnestly requested to meet in Monroe on Saturday, Oct. 10th, for the purpose of making arrangements to attend the State reunion. Let all come. R. V. HOBSTON, Commander.

I want your country produce of all kinds. See me before you sell. S. R. DOSTER.

TALKING WITH THE PEOPLE.

"Agriculture for Beginners" Proving Popular—Mr. S. A. First Law Case—Land About Schools Booms—A Bit of Ancient History—The Fox Race Didn't Turn Out Well—Tragedies Everywhere.

The new text book for the public schools, "Agriculture for Beginners," is attracting much attention among the teachers and some of the practical old farmers. Eighty-two per cent. of the population of North Carolina is supposed to live in the country, yet our system of instruction has taught a good deal of conjecture concerning the milky way and neglected to say anything of the soil from which the food of the children were to get their bread. Many a bright boy in the public schools has learned to love the name of every capital, chief city, river and big branch in Europe, and at the same time been kept in profound ignorance of the principal of crop rotation or any ideas of plant food. This book will be the first step towards laying a reliable and useful course of study for the schools. It is the first step for the boys. The first step for the girls will be an elementary book on cooking, sewing and needlework. How many girls have you seen stand up and spin? Hundreds of them they would never hear used in after life!

"Agriculture for Beginners" is the first same note. "It's a fine book," said Mr. T. B. Liles of east Monroe township. "My daughter has bought one to study and I have been slipping it out to read. It was a surprise to me, and a fine book. It will help the boys." A lady teacher who has been studying it remarked Saturday: "My brother, who is a farmer, has been reading mine."

"The starving" time of a young lawyer is proverbial, and the subject of a good deal of joking. Certainly it is a trying—and a testing—time, too, for the youngster. The moment of the universe, though, with him, is when he makes his first attempt in the court house. Two weeks ago Mr. John Sikes hung out his shingle and announced himself ready to take in hand any legal complication that needed to be unraveled. Unlike most of the boys, he didn't have long to wait, but made his debut into the forensic field last week. To be sure it wasn't in the Superior court because that wasn't in session, but 'twas before Squire Flow, the chief justice of Union county, and it had all the surroundings of a "big court." And he acquitted himself well. By the way, Chief Justice Flow and Associate Justices Simpson, Johnson and Houston always hold their courts in the court house. In the rural districts magisterial justice is dispensed under the spreading oaks of the justice's front yard, but these gentlemen sit in the chief temple of justice, and up on the judge's stand, too. The bell is even rung to announce their sittings. The principal difference in the rural courts and the regular session of the Superior court is, to an outsider, that Constable Bivens takes the part of Solicitor Robinson.

The writer has been informed that since the people of Indian Trail began their school building, every available farm in reach of the school has been sold or rented to outsiders who will move in. One man told the writer that he would be compelled to leave because the farm he had been renting had been sold to a man from another county who was coming to it, and he couldn't rent another. Verily a good school puts life into the dry bones of a community!

When the poet and statesman, David, after innumerable battles and foreign and domestic strife of all kinds, had made himself king over all Israel, founded Jerusalem and builded a kingdom palace, he thought himself to go down to the house of Abinadab, where it had rested for three-quarters of a century, and bring up the Ark of the Covenant, containing the tablets of stone engraved 'mid Sinai's thunder, and other sacred articles. During all these years of struggle this sacred instrument had been neglected, and the people knew not to reverence it as God had commanded their fathers to do. Moses had been commanded to carry it on poles borne by priests. When David and the thirty thousand men of Israel went to fetch it up, they placed it upon a new cart, drawn by oxen, as the Philistines had done. Plainly a new and powerful lesson was needed. When the oxen rushed to pick up the scattered straw about Nachon's threshing floor the Ark trembled and Uzzah put forth a hand to steady it. Instantly he fell dead, and the needful lesson was given. The people came to their senses. Sometimes an individual or a nation needs to be brought up short—no present application.

'Round at Armfield's stables Mr. Dave Armfield has penned up the big red fox that was brought from Missouri. He is a fierce fellow and tries hard to get out of prison. There are also three small gray foxes, but they don't count. Just as soon as the rain comes so that the scent will lie on the trail old Missouri will be turned out and the woods will ring with the deep-mouthed bay of a score of fox hounds. 'Tis a lost sound in these parts and to the younger generation an unknown one. But here and there an old verrick of the chase will hear it, prick up his ears and in fond memory run again some race of the long ago. P. S.—The above was written too soon. Old Missouri wouldn't worth a cent. The impatient wouldn't wait for rain, but he limped out last night. About 100 hunters followed, including the steady citizens as J. R. English, C. Williams and Capt. H. F. Richardson. The fox was caught less than an hour.

By far the most beautiful and the most pathetic story that fell from the gifted pen of Washington Irving is that of "The Broken Heart," but the broken hearted mourner for the gallant young Irishman, Robert Emmet, who died on a Dublin scaffold at the age of twenty five, carried a British officer two years afterward. So the broken hearts in the books are not all genuine. Neither do the tragedies of fiction compare either in number or intensity with those of real life. And most of the real ones are unseen, or, if seen, unheeded. Mankind is too dull-eyed to see or too saddened to feel. One with half an eye can see them anywhere. The sensitive soul sees, but turns from them to avoid the anguish, then shames itself for being a coward.

W. N. Jones of the Raleigh dispensary campaign predicted his prediction to your country at last night that he would win by 200 majorities, for his side won by 194 in county election, which, though very quiet, was exciting in the extreme. Two causes brought about the rout of the saloons, these being the pretty general opinion that they have for years largely controlled city politics, and the presence of low groceries at which there were day and night swarms of shiftless negroes who would on no account do any work. Such are the reasons given for the anti-saloon fight. The polls were well manned today by both sides. At all the polling places there were crowds, but there was not even a ripple of disturbance. The registration was 1,711; about 225 of those registered could not vote, mainly for non-payment of taxes. The total vote cast was 1,460. There was a pretty full vote of those eligible as voters. Probably 100 who didn't vote had moved out of town since the registration in April.

A Good Show. Kingston Daily Free Press.

The All Stars Company gave a very satisfactory performance at the opera house last night to a small sized house who appreciated the efforts of the performers and applauded every number.

The show is a good, honest entertainment that, without being brilliant, is very entertaining and well worth the price of admission. The performance was replete with amusing and interesting features, but Baby Lucile, an account of her extreme youth, captivated the audience at the start and her every appearance was a signal for a storm of applause. She was truly astonishing in her specialties, displaying a tact and receptiveness that would do credit to a much older person. Her acting and singing in the first number, "Won't You Come Home, Bill Bailey," made an impression on the audience which was not lost during the whole of the performance.

The Bullock quartette in specialties was very catchy and the male quartette also came in for a good share of applause.

Ernest Linwood, the irrepressible Ernest, who is pretty well known here, did not disappoint his friends but kept everybody in explosive laughter with his quaint sayings.
