Carl, the eight-year old son of Mr. T. L. Price of Goose Creek township, met with a very painful wound at school a few days ago, being hit in the eye by a discharge from a fly-gun by Louis, the fifteen-year old son of Mr. Henry Furr. The wound consisted of a piece of wood pointed with a brass pin and penetrated the centre of the eye or pupil of the eye. Upon a surgical examination it was found that the little fellow had almost totally lost his eye sight, and it is feared that the wound will prove fatal to his eye.

The Jackson Club held a meeting Thursday afternoon and appointed Mr. Frank Armfield to go to Winston to the railroad meeting to be held there, the Club bearing the expenses. It also asked the town to send a man. In conformity with the request the aldermen appointed Mr. A. M. Stack. The proposed road has been talked of for a long time. The people of Wadesboro are very active in pushing their town forward as the Southern terminus. If the road is built it ought to come to Monroe, and our delegates will go to the meeting fully prepared to set forth the advantages of this point.

Mr. Chas. A. Hamilton died Saturday night at the home of Mr. W. M. Perry of Wingate of tuberculosis. He was a native of Gaston county, and was 28 years old. He first came here as a student of the Wingate School eight years ago. For three years he has been living with Mr. Perry, with the exception of a short time last fall when he worked as bookkeeper for the Monroe Manufacturing Co. The remains were buried at Meador Branch, of which church he was a member, and his fellow students at the school bore the corpse lovingly to the cemetery. Mr. Hamilton was a gentle, lovable young man and never failed to attract to him those with whom he came in contact. Mr. Perry loved him almost as a son. "You can't say anything too good about Charlie," he said to the writer, "for he was in all respects a true, good young man." Two brothers and one sister survive him. The sister and one brother are young and are in an orphanage.

Public Meeting of Ministers' Association.

The Ministerial Association of Monroe celebrated its first anniversary by a public meeting in Central church Sunday evening. Quite a good congregation was present and the program was very interesting. The ministers fired a big gun in the interest of law and order and the moral welfare of the community.

Rev. W. F. Watson, president of the association, spoke of the relation of the association to the spiritual interest of the community. He said that the ministers of the several denominations had a great many things in common, they craved association and fellowship, hence the organization. He then spoke at length on the important relation that the preacher bears towards the people as a moral and spiritual guide, and as messenger of God to man and as messenger from man to God.

Rev. Mr. Atkinson followed, speaking of the improvement of the county as regards the liquor traffic and pointing out the fine features of the new law creating a medicine depository for the sale of whiskey. His subject was "The moral issues of the day as they relate to Monroe and Union county."

Rev. W. R. Ware spoke of the personal responsibility of christians and other good citizens in the carrying out of the law. He showed the necessity for individual effort in upholding the new measure as a practical prohibition one.

Attention, Farmers!

To the Cotton Growers of Union County:

I again call your attention to the meeting of the Union County Cotton Growers' Association next Saturday at the courthouse at eleven o'clock. Let every farmer and all who are interested make it a point to be there.

The planting season is drawing near and we must not make the mistake of overplanting. Come, let us renew our reduction pledges and report the outlook for our respective localities.

Hon. R. B. Redwine will deliver an address.

If you have not heard a speech on the cotton situation, come and hear one; if you have, you surely want to hear this one. Come and bring your neighbors.

We are nearing the beginning of the end, and the cotton consuming world is watching the southern planter with the keenest interest. If he plants for a large crop cotton will immediately go lower; if he cuts the acreage as much as twenty-five per cent. it will immediately go higher. The old crop is not cutting any figure just now; they know what that is. But will the acreage be reduced? That is the question.

Now, when such mighty results hang in the balance, is there a man in Union county who will refuse to give aid and encouragement to the Southern Cotton Association, the purposes of which if consummated, mean so much to every southern industry.

It means better homes, more and better things to eat, better educational facilities, happier children, a contented and prosperous people.

It will help everybody, and this being the case no man should refuse to give of his time and money until we come into the full fruition of its plans and purposes.

Come to the county meeting. T. J. W. Broom, President Union County Cotton Growers' Convention.

Polk Miller, the best delineator of the old plantation negro that has ever appeared upon the platform, will appear in the opera house next Tuesday night with his famous quartette of negro voices. He is the pioneer in the line of negro dialect story telling and singing in this country, and in his performances introduces the most side splitting stories, while his singing of old plantation melodies, accompanying himself on the banjo, is so true to life and realistic in every way, as to take the old Southerners back to the happy days of their childhood. It is in no sense a lecture, but an evening of story and song, combining the pathetic and humorous in such a way as to make it an evening of rare pleasure. The Quartette was organized by Mr. Miller for use in his entertainment of "Old Times Down South." They are not such as are seen in vaudeville performances, and are not of the cake walkin' dude variety, but the real thing. They imitate nobody. Their voices are the sweet, though unvoiced results of nature, producing a harmony unequalled by the professional, and because natural, go straight to the hearts of the people.

RUSSIANS OVERWHELMED.

Greatest Battle of Modern Times Ends Injoriously for Russians. Immense Losses.

In the greatest battle of modern times, lasting nearly two weeks, the Russian army has been overwhelmingly defeated, and General Kurapatkin has resigned. His resignation will be accepted but Russia has no man to take his place. The Charlotte Observer sums up the events up to yesterday morning as follows:

While General Kurapatkin has apparently succeeded in saving more of his artillery than seemed possible, his losses in men, ammunition and commissariat supplies in the battle of Mukden are far greater than earlier reports indicated, and even that portion of his army which he succeeded in extricating from the positions around Mukden is still in serious danger. The Japanese generals, realizing that with a little more speed they could have inflicted a crushing defeat on the Russian army after the battle of Liao Yang, determined not to again allow an opportunity to pass, and are following after the defeated and sorely tried Russian forces. While a small portion of Kurapatkin's army has reached Tie Pass, the greater part of those who escaped from the battle of Mukden are still struggling northward, being at last accounts between 12 and 18 miles from their goal, with the Japanese, flushed with victory and reinforced by fresh men, harassing them from all sides. Even should the remnants of the army reach Tie Pass, it is hardly possible for it to make a stand there against the overwhelming force opposing it, and especially as the Russians must be worn out and weakened by the loss of men, guns and ammunition. It is more likely that Kurapatkin will fall right back to Harbin with what he can save and wait there for the re-enforcements that St. Petersburg already has promised him. A possible obstacle to the plan is General Kamamura's army, which has not yet been located and which may also be heading for the northern capital.

General Kurapatkin admits that 1,190 officers and 46,931 men are not responding to roll calls. This is rather vague. It may or may not include the thousands of wounded who have been sent north, and again it may not include the losses suffered by the Third Army, with which the commander-in-chief was not in communication for some time. The figures given by the Japanese War Office appear more reasonable, namely: 40,000 prisoners, 26,500 dead left on the field, and 90,000 killed or wounded, the latter figure, of course, including the dead found by the Japanese. The Russian losses, therefore, total much over 100,000 men, or more than one-third of the whole army. The fact that the Japanese report the capture of only sixty guns indicates that Kurapatkin, at the last moment succeeded in sending a considerable portion of his artillery northward on the railway. The Japanese losses up to this morning were reported as 41,000, not including the army which was pushed north between Mukden and Fushun.

Official Russia is determined to carry on the war, and St. Petersburg reports that orders have been issued for the mobilization of more troops. This may prove a difficult task with the temper of the Russian people in its present condition. There is still hope in St. Petersburg that Russia can exhaust Japan financially, and for months there has been talk of the mobilization of an army on the Siberian border which would compel Japan to keep her vast army in Manchuria.

JAPANESE CASUALTIES 41,222.

Tokio, March 12.—A dispatch from Japanese military headquarters announces the estimate of prisoners captured up to and including Friday at 20,000. Since that time the number has been briskly increasing, and the total will exceed 30,000. The dispatch continues:

"Reports from the chiefs of the medical corps of all the armies have been received from February 26 to March 12. Our total casualties at that time were 41,222."

LOSSES SUFFERED BY RUSSIA.

Tokio, March 12.—Field Marshal Okama, reporting today, says:

"Prisoners, spoils and the enemy's estimated casualties against all our forces in the Shakhe direction follow, but the prisoners, guns and spoils are increasing momentarily. The prisoners number over 40,000, including Gen. Nachmoss. The killed and wounded are estimated at 90,000. The enemy's dead left on the field number 26,500."

"The spoils include two flags, about 60 guns, 60,000 rifles, 150 ammunition wagons, 1,000 cars, 200,000 shells, 25,000,000 rounds of small arms ammunition, 75,000 bushels of cereals, 275,000 bundles of fodder, 45 miles of light railway outfit, 2,000 horses, 23 car-loads of maps, 1,000 car-loads of clothing and accoutrements, 1,000,000 rations of bread, 75,000 tons of fuel, and 60 tons hay; besides tools, tents, bullet-proof vests and poles, timber, beds, stoves and numerous other property."

"The battle has been officially named 'The Battle of Mukden.'"

Landlord and Tenant Act.

The landlord and tenant act passed by the legislature for Union county is, in the main, as follows:

Section 2. That any landlord or cropper who contracts with a tenant or cropper to enable him to make a crop, and willfully fails or refuses to furnish said advances without cause, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor.

Section 3. Any person who employs a tenant or cropper who has violated the provisions of section 1 of this act with knowledge of such violation, shall be liable to the landlord furnishing such advances for the amount thereof, also be guilty of a misdemeanor.

Section 4. That whenever any tenant or cropper shall enter into a contract for the rental of land for the current or ensuing year, and without just cause, willfully neglect or refuse to perform the terms of this contract, then the tenant or cropper shall forfeit his right of possession to the premises and the landlord may recover possession of said premises in the manner provided for in section 1777 of The Code.

Section 5. The punishment for any violation of any of the provisions of this act shall not exceed a fine of fifty dollars or imprisonment for more than thirty days.
