

How the Beef Trust Hits North Carolina.

The Wilmington Star, referring to the loss sustained by eastern North Carolina by reason of the lack of refrigerator cars in which to transport the strawberries lying at the stations awaiting shipment, raises the inquiry if it would not be a good idea to organize private car companies here in North Carolina "to get our products to market." We have heard a broader—or narrower—suggestion on the same general subject, to-wit: the railroads of the country have for two years or more had more business than they could handle by reason of a shortage of cars. The car works have not been able to meet the demands upon them. Why, then, would not the building of freight cars be a profitable business in North Carolina, where timber is abundant and all sorts of wood-working is going on? High Point, which has lately engaged in the building of street cars—and they are as good as the best—might think on this to advantage. Charlotte Observer.

Freight cars might be built to advantage in North Carolina, but the refrigerator cars, which are necessary to the berry and truck growers, are another proposition. The man who built one of these in North Carolina would find himself in the fix that Robinson Crusoe was, when, having with much work built a great boat in the interior of his island where the timber was handy, found that it was his labor for his pains, because he had no way to get the craft to the sea. The refrigerator cars of the country, with trifling exceptions, belong to the Beef Trust, and if there were a thousand such cars idle in North Carolina belonging to other parties, the Atlantic Coast Line wouldn't give ten cents apiece for them, for the simple reason that it would no sooner put a lighted torch to the finest depot on its line than it would undertake to operate one of them. Not only do the allied packing houses of the West, lead by Armour, and known as the Beef Trust, own the refrigerator cars, but they compel the roads that operate them to illegally chisel the shippers of the country out of thousands of dollars every day, which goes into the treasury of the trust, and not to the railroads. Since the Beef Trust got control of the refrigerator cars, they have not only murdered every other concern that dared touch them, but have quickly sandbagged every railroad that refused to rob the public for them. The Observer will notice in its own special that the suits which are being brought by the berry growers are not being brought against the railroad, as would be naturally expected, but against the Armour Fruit Express Company.

Disastrous Loss on Berries for Lack of Shipping Facilities.

In a letter to the Observer from Chadbourn, N. C., on Saturday, Mr. H. E. C. Bryant gives the following account of the distressing situation there: "The strawberry season is in full blast here, and the refrigerator cars have given out. The situation is unique and interesting, but deplorable. Thousands of dollars' worth of the finest sort of berries are rotting on the railroad yards. The Atlantic Coast Line had contracted for something like 1,700 refrigerator cars from the Armour Fruit Express Company and up to date have received about 500. That is the state of affairs in a nutshell. Since Monday at noon $200,000 worth of berries have been dumped to the edge of town and dumped into the river. Hundreds upon hundreds of crates of the freshly gathered berries are perishing every hour. This is true in the face of the fact that fifteen or more Northern agents are on the ground ready and eager to pay from 9 to 15 cents a quart for the berries delivered in New York and other markets. The growers are gathering from 15,000 to 20,000 crates a day and turning them over to the station agent here. The Armour concern will be held responsible for the loss and up to date something like $250,000 in claims have been filed. "Instead of improving, the situation grows worse. Not a car load has left here today. It is claimed that the congestion on the Washington Southern Railway, between Washington and Quantico, has caused the delay of the Armour cars. The people here are almost frantic, for all depends on getting their crops to market at the proper time. Merchants, bankers, truckers and buying agents look blue; their faces could not be longer if they were attending the funerals of their best friends."

Capt. R. P. Hobson to Wed.

The engagement of Miss Grizelda Houston Hull, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Geo. H. Hull of Tuxedo Park, N. Y., to Capt. Richmond Pearson Hobson has been announced. On account of the recent death of Capt. Hobson's father, the wedding, which had been set for May 25, will be very quietly celebrated, without formal invitations or announcements, at the home of the bride's parents in Tuxedo. Only relatives and a few intimate friends will be present. Miss Hull is a grandniece of former Gov. Houston of Alabama. It is an interesting coincidence that Gov. Houston appointed Capt. Hobson's father, Judge James M. Hobson, then a young lawyer, to fill a vacancy on the bench of Alabama.

The Graves of the Dead Stand Not in the Way of Progress.

Relatives of the late Dr. Bartlett Jones, who was buried 74 years ago on one of the lots on which Col. Springs will erect store rooms, will move his remains to the Presbyterian church yard here. At the time of his death Dr. Jones owned, and had his office on the lot where his remains were interred, and it was his request before death to be buried there.

A Minister's Brave Feat of Horsemanship.

Actuated by the parental spirit and that of his sacred calling, Rev. Dr. M. D. Hardin, pastor of the Second Presbyterian church, yesterday afternoon saved the life of a little girl, a daughter of Mr. J. Y. Orders of this city, by interposing his splendid Kentucky thoroughbred horse and intercepting the flight of a frightened horse attached to a buggy owned by the child. The act was one of distinguished fortitude and gallantry on the part of Dr. Hardin, and called forth such comment as has seldom found utterance in this community. At the risk of limb and life, and staking his splendid horse as well, the unselfish minister accomplished such a feat as few even dare to undertake. Shortly after 1 o'clock Misses Mary and Laura Orders drove to the residence of Mr. Thomas Buxton, on North College street, and occupied seats in an open buggy behind a horse of their father. On arriving at the house Miss Mary Orders left the vehicle and entered the home of her friends, leaving her younger sister in charge of the horse. At the passing of a street car that contained the Watts birthday party, the horse took fright and began to run at a break-neck speed in a southward direction and toward the more crowded section of the city, where numerous wagons and carriages were on the move. The girl held bravely to the lines and guided the animal along the middle of the street. Dr. Hardin, who was out riding, took in the situation at a glance, when he put spurs to his horse and pushed him with all possible energy and speed in the direction of the frightened beast and the burden he carried. Twice he failed to grasp the lines near the bit, when he employed all his powers to break the progress of the unruly animal. In a moment or two he had accomplished his purpose. His large and powerful horse stood in the way of the runaway. There was a shock, the sundry impact of which crushed the fore part of the buggy—wheels, dashboard and bottom—and released the running horse from his harness and also broke the shafts. The little girl was thrown suddenly and violently to the ground amid the wreckage of the buggy. Dr. Hardin and those who had been attracted by the excitement and alarm on the street, lifted tenderly and carefully the small girl and carried her into the house of Mrs. Sallie Torrence, where she received every possible attention. Dr. C. E. Mason was summoned and administered aid, after which the girl was taken to the home of her parents. At a late hour last night she was resting with a tolerable degree of comfort, no bones having been broken, and her injuries having been pronounced not of a serious nature.

Wingate Commencement.

The closing exercises of the Wingate school took place last Friday. The day was auspicious for such an occasion and an unusually large crowd was in attendance. The exercises of the forenoon consisted of declamations, recitations, vocal and instrumental music. The prize for best declamation was won by Mr. C. L. Bivens. Miss Vivian Horley was awarded the prize for best recitation. These prizes consisted of gold coins and were given by Mr. G. M. Stewart of Wingate. At 2:30 p. m. the address was delivered by Hon. R. N. Page to a large and attentive crowd. Mr. Page took for his subject "Good Citizenship," and made a very practical and sensible speech. The various prizes and medals were presented by Rev. W. F. Watson, Mr. T. L. Caudle, Rev. A. C. Baker and Mr. L. L. Parker. Their speeches of presentation were well received by the audience. The Steele Creek cornet band added much to the enjoyment of the day.

Wesley Chapel News.

Wesley Chapel, May 8.—The continued wet weather has put the farmers behind with their work; quite a number are not done planting cotton. Cotton that was planted early is up and looking nice—and so is the grass. But very little corn has been planted.

Theodore H. Price's Cotton Letter.

New York, May 8.—Spinners' takings of American cotton last week were 266,000 bales. For the last ten weeks they have averaged 259,000 bales. If for the balance of the season they average only 200,000 bales, the total takings will exceed 12,500,000 bales. British board of trade returns show that for the two months of March and April exports of cotton manufacturers from Great Britain exceed last year 33 per cent. The New York Commercial in its report on the dry goods market today says: "The great jobbing sales that closed Saturday afternoon were pronounced successes. Mills are busy on orders and the shipments that are being made for export are growing larger. With the cotton goods market growing stronger and the range of prices on goods to arrive reaching higher levels, the buying contingent is being heard from in a way that clearly indicates that secondary supplies are low."

Union Meeting.

The union meeting of the Union Association was held at Union church beginning Friday, April 28th, and lasting through Sunday. Rev. J. L. Bennett preached the introductory sermon. At 1 p. m. the meeting was called to order by the moderator, Rev. J. A. Bivens, and was organized for the discussion of queries.

Christian Endeavor and Sunday School Convention of the Colored People.

Please allow us space in your paper to say a few words respecting our Varnick Christian Endeavor and Sunday School convention, which closed on the evening of the 7th inst., in Mt. Calvary A. M. E. Zion church, one among the best sessions ever held in its history. This convention was organized a few years ago by Drs. Thomas, Blackwell and Reeves. Since that time, through the untiring efforts of its founders, aided by the painstaking and energetic superintendents and their corps of teachers, the work has grown to such proportions until its influence is felt throughout the length and breadth of three counties. It meets annually, the object of which is to hear the reports from the various endeavors and Sunday schools in each county, and in the meantime to inspire those who are doing what they can to promote the religion of Jesus Christ in their several communities, and to strengthen those, if there be any, who are not as active as they should be along such lines. Just how well it has succeeded can only be determined by the success which has crowned each of its meetings. And, too, these conventions do not only serve as a stimulant along the moral and religious lines, but the literary as well, which is demonstrated by the number in attendance. More than 100 delegates of the Sunday school and Christian Endeavor attended the session just closed. It is with a deep sense of gratitude that we accept the cordiality of the good people of Monroe, and the wholesome instruction received from Rev. Messrs. Ware and Rodgers of the M. E. Church, South. Thanking you in advance for this publication and hoping to merit even more in the future, we remain as ever, friendly disposed to the race.
