JEWELRY TO PLEASE ALL TASTES.

In my Jewelry cases may be found something to please any woman's taste, no matter how it may incline.

If she have a favorite gem, it is pretty sure to be found here in a ring or brooch, or whatever article she may prefer.

If lorgnette chains or dainty fobs please her fancy, I can show many handsome patterns of the well-known SIMMONS Chains and Fobs which are more widely known and more universally worn than any other make.

BANK of UNION

This Bank has been operated in the interest of the people at arge as well as its stockholders. Its officers have done their best to build up Monroe and the surrounding country. It provides every safeguard for the depositor and is always liberal thus far and let everybody know that it will meet all legitimate competition in the future. Patronize it with your accounts and thus show your sympathy for a progressive and obliging institution. It is your friend and it is here to stay.

Rascally Tramp and a Foolish Girl.

A heroine of a brief romance i Miss Emma Hall, who lives far out is very small and quite petite. A trim little figure, a mass of dark hair, a pretty round face, a pair of large gray eyes and a coy smile, an the most noticeable of her many at-tractions. She is diffident and her mother says that she has never had anything to do with men before, scorning the boys around her as not good enough. Last Sunday afternoon a stranger stopped at the Hall's and asked the mother if she would have her fortuntold, but she replied that she knew her fortune already. The man start ed to go on but Mrs. Hall's curiosity got the better of her and she called him and invited him in, saying that she like 1 to look at foreigners He entered the house seemingly afraid and began telling his past history. He was medium size, wore a gray checked suit that had once been new, had red cheeks, light hair and brown eyes.

"A good face," said Mrs. Hall, and when he was telling the big gest lie ever, he looked you square

He had a brogue and bore no evi dences of being educated. He told the mother his story and the little girl sat by listening intently, for this man was not like the others she knew. He was born in England, had run away when very young, had traveled all over the world, and, as he claimed, had never done a lick of work in his life. He said he was a fortune teller, a hypnotizer, a show man, a prize fighter and had no fear of the police for he was a secret service officer also. Privately, he told the little girl that he was in disguise and had lots of better clothes eise-

Weak Hearts

Are due to indigestion. Ninety-nine of every one hundred people who have heart trouble can remember when it was simple indigestion. It is a scientific fact that all cases of Saturday, August 26, 1905

tion. It is a scientific fact that all cases of heart disease, not organic, are not only traceable to, but are the direct result of indigation. All food taken into the stomach which falls of parfect digestion ferments and swells the stomach, puffing it up against the heart. This interferes with the action of the heart, and in the course of time that delicate but vital organ becomes diseased.
