

SULLY SAYS WAIT FOR THIRTEEN AND FOURTEEN.

Cotton King Speaks to Farmers in Raleigh and Says if the Farmers Fall This Time Cotton Will Never Go Beyond Ten Cents Again.

Farmers from thirteen counties, numbering about 500, assembled in Metropolitan Hall yesterday at noon to hear Daniel J. Sully, the ex-cotton king, deliver his message to the cotton growers. Every seat in the hall was occupied. Scores were standing in the aisles, the platform was crowded with well known cotton men, and in the galleries were a few darkies, forming a dark background.

Secretary T. B. Parker of the North Carolina division of the Southern Cotton Association presided, and the Wake county officers of the association were on the stage, together with Commissioner of Agriculture S. L. Patterson and leaders in the cotton movement, who seemed to endorse the sentiments expressed by the man who has mastered the cotton markets of the world.

Mr. Sully's speech was plain and simple, easily understood by any who heard him. He is not an orator, and does not possess eloquence, but the frequent outbursts of enthusiastic applause attested the popularity of the man, and his speech seemed an inspiration to the crowd.

Mr. Sully began by assuring the audience of the pleasure it gave him to express to them a few of the ideas and thoughts that had impressed him for years. He declared that one of the most momentous questions that had confronted the South for a generation was the price of cotton, and that this question is fraught with tremendous possibilities for either good or evil.

"If the prices go lower," he exclaimed, "every industry in the Southern States will be disorganized thereby." He waded into his subject without further preliminaries, and said:

"Today there is organized all over Europe the Spinners' Confederation, and they have for eighty years been living on the products of American soil. Europeans have spent many millions of dollars in endeavors to raise cotton on their territories, but every experiment proving a failure it has been demonstrated that no future attempt can succeed. They have learned now that the cotton growers of the southern portion of the United States have organized, and that with a crop of 14,000,000 bales the organized farmers kept the prices up fairly well, and now, as Europe has found that cotton cannot be grown elsewhere, the spinners over there are trying to break the price of cotton, so as to put it where it will never rise again. The European spinners are using 60 per cent of the cotton of the South. If they can get it at 6 cents they will never again attempt to cultivate the staple in foreign countries where only failure has already resulted. That confederation has the help and assistance of every spinner in America as well as in Europe, because the belief is universal among them that the South if once on its feet firmly, as it was in 1903 and 1904, and continues so during this year, they will never see cheap cotton again (applause), and they are out and bound to break the price of cotton.

"If the whole South, its farmers, bankers and merchants, determined to sell for not less than 10 cents, and hold the staple three weeks they will get 11 and 12 cents, for the European manufacturers are today selling their cotton goods on the basis of 12 cents cotton, and American manufacturers on the basis of 13 cents cotton, and they are realizing good profits and dividends on their mills. The spinners will not give more than 6 cents for cotton if they can purchase at that price.

"A week ago we had the Washington Bureau report of 71.2 flashed throughout the cotton world, and it broke cotton prices 125 points, which means $6 per bale. On the present crop it means that if the cotton were sold for prevailing prices there would be a loss of $54,000,000 to the growers. What is 71.2? It was followed by the weather report which indicated that 60 to 70 per cent of the crop was picked, and 71.2 therefore means the condition of the present plant. As soon as the world realizes that there are not 12,000,000 bales of cotton it will be avaricious in giving you 13 cents, for the world is consuming 12,500,000 bales. If this crop is what I believe it is, the world this year will not see 10,225,000 bales of cotton. If not, and you hold your cotton until the true condition is realized, you will obtain 10, 11, 12 and 13 cents for cotton. The world must get it, and is already selling goods on that basis.

"As far as interest goes, there was never a time when the moneyed men of the world were so much in favor of high prices for cotton. Wall Street is not against you, but it is opposed to low prices, because the entire country is prosperous, and high prices for cotton will bring more money and gold back into this country from Europe. There is not a bear of any consequence who would be unwilling to give 11 cents, and except for the 71.2 report they themselves would have even given 11 cents. These men are scared of the condition, and are willing to get back, and will give you, the masters of the entire situation, 11 cents for cotton, 12 the month after and 13 the month after that, when they know the true situation. The only interest opposed to you are the entire spinners of Europe. They are determined to put the price of cotton down. Putting the price of cotton down not only hurts the farmer, but I guarantee that if the price of cotton is below 9 cents in November you will never see cotton above 10 cents again unless there occurs a big crop disaster.

"There is another remarkable fact that should receive a great amount of thought from the farmers of the South. In no portion of the globe is the spinning industry increasing more rapidly than in the Southern States. But the spinner of the South has arrayed against him the same forces that are opposed to the Southern farmer. By depressing cotton early in the market the European spinners purchased cotton cheaper than the Southern spinners bought it, and as their labor was cheaper they manufactured and sold cotton goods cheaper, setting up a formidable competition to the American manufacturer goods. They obtain freight rates 5 cents cheaper than the hundred than do the New England spinners, and by their subsidized ships they obtain freight on the water cheaper, and they sell effectively in competition with American goods.

"The South produces 80 per cent of the world's cotton supply. The European spinners are alarmed lest the time soon come when instead of using 4 per cent of this supply of American cotton the American mills will manufacture the full 80 per cent, and I declare this time to be not far distant. Within 20 years 75 per cent of the American supply will be consumed by American spinners, and 50 per cent in the South, and it is thus clearly seen to be to the interest of the spinners of the South to uphold the price of cotton.

"I am gratified to hear that the bankers of the South are for and with the Southern farmers, and will give all the facilities necessary to carry cotton at the prices the farmers want. As soon as it is known that a big crop will not be marketed the price you demand is yours. (Applause.)

"I am absolutely sure that it does not make any difference what the bears do, for the more and harder they ram, the higher the prices will go, if the farmers will but hold their cotton two or three weeks. If a bear sells a bale today, there is no surplus for him, he must buy a bale from you to replace it."

CONGRESSMAN LIVINGSTON Says Pe-ru-na is a Splendid Cathartic Tonic.

COLONEL L. I. LIVINGSTON, Colonel L. I. Livingston, Member of the Industrial Commission and the leading Democratic member of the Committee on Appropriations in the House of Representatives, whose home is at Atlanta, Ga., writes:

"I take pleasure in joining with General Wheeler, Congressman Brewer and others in recommending Peruna as an excellent tonic and a cathartic cure."—Col. L. I. Livingston.

All phases of catarrh, acute or chronic, are promptly and permanently cured. It is through its operation upon the nervous system that Peruna has attained such a world-wide reputation as a sure and reliable remedy for all phases of catarrh wherever located.

Mr. Jas. O. Morin, 1179 Ontario street, Montreal, Canada, writes:

"Peruna is certainly a great cathartic remedy. It cured me of catarrh of the head and I gladly endorse it. Canadians are peculiarly afflicted with this disease and for years the doctors have tried to overcome it with elixirs, powders and pills, but Peruna has solved the question and since the medicine has been established here hundreds of people have been cured of catarrh."—Jas. O. Morin.

If you do not derive prompt and satisfactory results from the use of Peruna, write at once to Dr. Hartman, giving a full statement of your case and he will be pleased to give you his valuable advice free.

Faints and Falls from Fourth Story

Notwithstanding a desperate effort of his wife and son to hold him by the feet, after he had fainted and toppled over the sill of an open window, George F. Kapp, cashier of the Cooper Exchange bank, fell to the street from the fourth floor of his home at No. 209 West Ninth street today and was killed.

Mrs. Kapp and her son, Herbert, saw Mr. Kapp, who was in ill health, suddenly fall over backwards. Both mother and son jumped to the window in time to seize the falling man by the feet. They held him safely for a few seconds, screaming for help, but the assistance was slow in coming, and Mr. Kapp's weight began to slip away from his rescuers. The realization of this terrible fact caused the wife's strength to desert her completely and the son, with his mother helpless at his side, and compelled to hold his father alone, was too light for his father's superior weight. Exhausted and on the point of being dragged over the window sill himself, the boy lost his grip and Kapp fell to the street. He died soon afterwards. He was 52 years old.

Some Seasonable Advice.

It may be a piece of superfluous advice to urge people at this season of the year to lay in a supply of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. It is almost sure to be needed before winter is over, and much more prompt and satisfactory results are obtained when taken as soon as a cold is contracted and before it has become settled in the system, which can only be done by keeping the remedy at hand. This remedy is so widely known and so altogether good that no one should hesitate about buying it in preference to any other. It is for sale by C. N. Simpson, Jr., and S. J. Welsh.

Savings Bank Incidents.

A ragged little newsboy entered a Pittsburg bank one day and boldly invaded the private office of the president.

"Say, mister," he said, "can I put some money in this bank?"

"Certainly you can," the president answered; "how much do you want to deposit?"

"A quarter," exclaimed the youngster, pulling a handful of pennies and nickels out of his pocket. The banker took him over to the receiving teller and introduced him with all the deference that he would have shown a millionaire.

The boy left the city soon after opening the account, but he kept adding to his deposit from time to time, and as he was naturally bright and shrewd, everything he undertook prospered. He is back in Pittsburg now, the head of a successful manufacturing concern and one of the bank's most valued customers.

A year ago a proud young father out in Michigan sent $25 to open an account for his first-born son, then less than a week old. "The boy'll need it some of these days," he wrote, "and we may as well begin to save for him right off." Six months later a tear-dimmed letter came asking to withdraw the money to pay the little fellow's funeral.

A working woman in a little town in New York sent a dollar bill in the name of her daughter, six years of age. "She'll be marrying by and by," she said, "and ought to have something to start life on." That was nearly two years ago, and almost every week since a dollar bill has been added to the account. There'll be a snug little marriage portion for the young lady some day if nothing happens.

Much Preaching and Good Results in the County.

EVERY summer there is carried on in the county a great number of protracted meetings by the ministers of the several denominations. It occurred to The Journal that its readers would be much interested in some account of this work in its entirety. Therefore we have asked the several ministers of each denomination to give a brief account of their work during the summer past. The total makes a great showing. Each denomination, perhaps, knows something of what is going on in its own ranks, but little of that outside. The replies that have been received are published together below:

REV. W. R. WARE, METHODIST.

In the meetings that Rev. Mr. Ware has been engaged in there were over 200 accessions, as follows:

With Rev. J. P. Hipp—Centre, 5; Prospect, 13; Bethlehem, 14; Smyrna, 12; Oak Grove, 2; Carmel, 5.

With Rev. L. E. Stacey—Waxhaw, 14; Pleasant Grove, 22; Union, 12.

In the Monroe meeting, 17.

REV. T. J. ALLISON, PRESBYTERIAN.

It affords me much pleasure in noting the progress which is being made in the cause of education in Union county, and in the prosecution of my work as evangelist of Mecklenburg Presbytery. I make it a point to do all in my power wherever I go to stir up the people and encourage and help them to build up their secular schools and lengthen their school terms.

I held a meeting at Altan in the mid-summer. Among the good results of that meeting was the deeper awakening of the people in the community on the subject of a good school. An effort was at once begun to raise by private subscription an amount sufficient, together with the public school fund, to secure a continuous school term of eight or nine months under the tuition of a first class teacher. It is a matter of rejoicing that this effort has been successful and the school is assured. Through the kindness of Mrs. Walter Belk, the owner of the excellent school building at Altan, the school will be conducted in that house so well adapted to the work.

Also I have become very much interested in the establishment of a school at Mineral Spring. It seems to me that it would be an exceedingly wise thing to move to the station the school in the district that lies east of the railroad. Let the western boundary of that district be extended sufficiently far to include the incorporate limits of the town. This would give a good school patronage, not too far from anyone. An effort is now being made to build a suitable building at the station. Any assistance given these people from the county school fund will be very appropriately rendered. They are moving in the matter with a view of a long school term. A committee of citizens was appointed last night to devise a plan of a house and estimate the cost, etc.

And so the good work goes on, and may the Lord continue to bless it.

T. J. ALLISON.

Charlotte, Sept. 25, 1905.

REV. W. F. WATSON, BAPTIST.

In compliance with your very kind request, I will now try to give you a few notes about my summer's outing. I usually spend from six to eight weeks of the heated term, a time when the people at home are really not anxious to be disturbed by a pastor's visits, in revival meeting work with our country churches, and this summer has been no exception to the rule.

My first meeting was with "Weeping Joe," as he is familiarly known among his friends (Rev. J. L. Bennett), with the Pleasant Valley church in South Carolina. We had a good meeting. About 25 said they had been blessed during the meeting, but only two united with the church. At Mountain Springs I held forth next, a section of our county dominated for a long time by the Primitive Baptist idea, but at this meeting the Primitive brother said he could endorse my doctrine most heartily, and the Methodist brother said the same, so it seemed that they all heard the word of life in their peculiar tongue or dialect and were pleased. Rev. D. A. Snider is the bishop of this flock.

Next I went up to Hopewell, and for a week, despite the rain, preached to the people, and a goodly number professed faith and eleven joined the church and were baptized. "Uncle Joe" is the pastor of Hopewell.

Meadow Branch was my next point and it was quite a joy to mingle with these good people. As a result I baptized eleven a month after the meeting closed. Baxter Funderburk preaches for this congregation.

Mount Harmony, where the twin Sular brothers live—men so much alike that it is said that the smaller children can't tell them apart and the older ones are constantly mixing them up—was my next appointment. We had fine crowds and some interest. Five united with the church. Pastor Snider has a strong hold upon these people.

Hamilton's Cross Roads was my next place. For two years now, I have been permitted to speak to these good people, and it is a joy to find them so much in earnest in the Lord's work. Ten were baptized. Rev. A. Marsh attends to the spiritual side of this people.

Next I went to Carthage, where I commenced the ministry, and held a ten days' meeting. About thirty professed faith and fourteen were baptized. Geo. J. Dowell is pastor.

I love to preach to the country people; they love to hear the old story, and it takes you an hour and a half to tell it. They are patient and sympathetic all the way through. I want to say this about our country pastors, they have been so kind and courteous to me that I feel more and more like placing myself in a serviceable attitude and inviting them to command. May God bless them all. I have aided Snider, Bennett, Byens, Marsh and Funderburk this summer, and they are a fine set of men and give the visitor a good time.

Success to you, Mr. Editor, in the discharge of your duty in your very responsible position.

Sincerely, W. F. WATSON.

REV. GEO. STEVENS, PRESBYTERIAN.

During the summer months it has been my privilege to labor in Union county, giving one Sunday in the month to each of the four places, Altan, Morgan Academy, Unionville and Indian Trail.

In addition to this regular preaching and work in the several communities, two meetings were held, with Rev. T. J. Allison doing most of the preaching. At Morgan Academy we were not able to accomplish very much on account of frequent rains. The attendance at preaching services there is excellent and much good may be done. A church is needed in the immediate vicinity of the academy, and the high school, it is hoped, will be revived.

At Altan our church has an organization, though no building. The meeting was carried on there for some days with much interest and good attendance. Six or seven made profession of faith in Christ, three joining the Presbyterian church. Mr. Allison hopes to be with them in another meeting this fall. At present Rev. Geo. H. Atkinson is preaching twice a month in the school house there. A good Sunday school is also being conducted.

At Unionville also the school building is used for public worship of all denominations. It will not be long, however, until the Methodist church will be completed, when we hope a splendid meeting will be held.

The Methodists kindly granted us the use of their church at Indian Trail for preaching and good congregations attended.

It is gratifying to note the spirit of harmony in christian work in our county. There is room for all who are working to advance the kingdom of God and for the salvation of souls through Jesus Christ. Some sections of the county need more christian workers, both as teachers and ministers. It is my prayer that the laborers now in the field may have continued and abundant blessings on their efforts and that true fruit may be more and more manifest from year to year.

A Young Business Woman.

The Raleigh Enterprise has discovered a bright young business woman. Her name is Miss Edie Bond, and she lives at Angier, in Wake county. Two years ago her father gave her a deed for a store house, stock of goods and nine dwelling houses, all located in Angier. Miss Bond was then but 18 years of age, and at that time the stock was worth about $900. A recent inventory shows that it is worth $3,970.46.

The Enterprise says that Miss Bond has conducted the business unaided. She collects the rents for nine houses and rents a dairy business that nets about $35 per month in addition to everything else. She knows how to buy and what to buy. She recently arranged to buy 1,000 bushels of North Carolina corn to be delivered October the first.

Miss Bond is described as bright, pretty, energetic. And the inference is that she is a favorite with young men.

There is more catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has pronounced catarrh to be a constitutional disease and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Cathartic Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials. Address: F. J.
