Everybody has heard about the scarcity of farm labor. But this is not the only kind of labor that is scarce in the South. There is a scarcity in every line of activity. The remarkable thing about the situation is that not only is both skilled and unskilled labor scarce, but there is a lack of men to fill positions of trust and places that require manag- forth and necessitated the Klu Klux, and Bob Duncan, all charged with riage immediately following that of ing ability. Monroe has had one show this fall and is to have another big one this month. Show day is always a big day. Thousands of people come to town that day to see the big elephant, etc. But show day has no especial attraction for us. And why, would you suppose? Because we manage one big show six days every week. We show hundreds of people every day our big line of Dry Goods and Groceries. We have a large and well selected stock. Men and women come and look. then they come back and buy. It looks like dastardly murder. These negro rows and shooting scrapes come too quick on the heels of each other, and if they continue, white persons may suffer. There came near being a double homicide at Salem colored church Sunday a week ago. Within a week followed the Berryhill affair. There is no telling where the next will occur. Blind tiger liquor furnishes the fuel for the outbursts of brutal passion, and the rural com-munities are bound to feel the bloody hand soon or late. It is a serious proposition for the law-abiding per-son, whether he be white or black. The fear of the gallows keeps the hot-blooded negro from shooting down a white man when he becomes infuriated because of some imaginary or real wrong.

This is the boldest statement of an unpleasant truth that we have seen, but who can doubt that it is true? There is no question that a large class of the negro population holds very lightly the killing of each other. If this idea is allowed to flourish through the cupidity of white men, how long, as the Observer suggests, will it be that the brutes can be held in leash from attacking white men with the same unprovoked fury? The white men who secure the liberty of such brutes for the sake of their labor are playing with fire.
