

President Roosevelt in the State and the South.

The right of any man here to feel a greater pride in the deeds of every Southerner than I feel. Of the children, the brothers and sisters of my mother who were born and brought up in that house on the hill there, my two uncles afterwards entered the Confederate service and served in the Confederate navy. One, the younger man, served on the Alabama as the youngest officer aboard her. He was captain of one of her broadside 32-pounders in her final fight, and when at the very end the Alabama was sinking and the keel was passing under her stern and came up along the side that had not been engaged hitherto, my uncle, Irving Bulloch, shifted his gun from one side to the other and fired the two last shots fired from the Alabama. James Dunwoody Bulloch was an admiral in the Confederate service. Of all the people whom I have ever met he was the one that came nearest to that beautiful creation of Thackeray, Colonel Newcome. Men and women, don't you think that I have the ancestral right to claim a proud kinship with those who showed their devotion to duty as they saw the duty? Whether they wore the gray or whether they wore the blue, all Americans who are worthy the name feel an equal pride in the valor of those who fought on one side or the other, provided only that each did with all his might and soul and mind his duty as it was given him to see his duty.

The President next was driven to the old Presbyterian church in which his grandfather, James Bulloch, was once a leading member. Mr. Bulloch dropped dead in this church while teaching a Sunday school class in 1849, and among those present in the church today were three members of that class who were present at the time. The venerable pastor of the church, Rev. Dr. W. E. Baker, offered prayer and the President and Mrs. Roosevelt then shook hands with a number of the townspeople, many of whom had known the President's mother. On the way to the train the President stopped for a moment at the home of Dr. Baker, where he met the pastor's wife, who was one of his mother's bridesmaids. The escort, which conducted the President from his train to the different points he visited, was Warren E. Crockett, who was a member of General Roosevelt's regiment during the Spanish war. The reception of the President at the old home of his mother was a cordial one. The people greeted him both as President and as the son of one of their neighbors. Many were the kind references to his mother from those who knew her, and many were the expressions of good will toward her distinguished son. The train left for Atlanta shortly before 10 o'clock.

Wingate News.

Wingate, Oct. 23.—Mr. W. B. Small returned to his home at Taxahaw last Wednesday to spend a few days.

Mr. W. M. Perry went to Raleigh last week to take in the State fair.

Miss Blanche Williams has a position at Monroe with the Ascraft-Stewart Sanitarium.

Mr. O. P. Wimberley of Monroe moved into the house here last week formerly occupied by Mr. S. M. Rogers.

Mr. J. S. Henry of Lilesville and Mr. W. D. Harrington of Stanly county entered school here last week.

It was announced in Sunday school yesterday that Rev. J. A. Bevins will preach at Faulk church next Sunday at 11 a. m.

The infant of Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Austin, which was so badly burned a little more than a week ago, is improving now. It was thought at first that it could not recover, but its condition is much more hopeful now.

"How is your grade on examination?" is the question among the students of the Wingate School now. They have just passed this dreaded week.

Misses Cora and Una Gardner of Charlotte and Miss Willie Redfern and her sister of White Store are here to enter school at the beginning of this quarter.

Mr. C. O. Long returned to his home at Unionville last week. He will teach at Bellfield this winter.

There will be a public debate here next Friday night by representatives of the Gladstone and Philanthropic literary societies. The Russo-Japanese peace treaty will be discussed. A large crowd is expected to be present.

Resolutions of Appreciation.

Inasmuch as Miss Mary E. Walsh has been a valuable member of the Woman's Foreign Missionary Society of Central Methodist church since its organization, and our beloved president for years, and as she has moved from our midst to another town, out of love and gratitude for her efficient work and wise leadership, we would like to give an expression of our appreciation. The missionary cause lay so near her heart that love for the work, combined with her splendid intellect, soon made her a wise and consecrated leader. Our society will miss her inexpressibly, and while we give a most reluctant farewell, shall ever be in a favorable attitude to welcome her back.

Catch These Remarks.

To the Cotton Growers of Union County:

Your attention is called to the fact that there will be a meeting of the Union County branch of the Southern Cotton Growers' Association Saturday, October 28th, at 12 o'clock, at the court house in Monroe. Did you catch the date and the place? If not, go back and read again—read it until it is well fixed in your mind. Having done this much, now consider the question as to whether or not you would like to enjoy the privilege of saying what the product of your own labor, your own property, is worth. If you decide that you would, then come along to the meeting Saturday. If you decide that you would not, then let it be weakened by staying away. But, now listen, I want you to catch this: if you don't want the privilege to price your own product—your cotton—which of the two great powers now contending for the mastery will you choose to do it for you? The Southern Cotton Association says hold your cotton and receive from $5 to $10 a bale more for it. Theodore Price and the English spinners say, throw it on the market and we will make from $5 to $20 on each bale. Whose advice are you taking? Whose will you take? Know this, that every time you put a bale of cotton on the market for less than 11 cents the minimum price fixed by the Southern Cotton Association, you weaken the cause of the Southern farmer and push farther away the prestige for which the South is contending.

If you are in debt and your creditor is needing his money and you are selling to pay your debts, all honor to you. But shame upon the man who is able to hold his cotton and who is so indifferent as to his country's welfare who throws his cotton upon a depressed market, and thereby thwarts the very purposes that his country is seeking to accomplish.

But what does all this mean, all this stir throughout the cotton belt? It means that there is going to be a revolution in the marketing of cotton; it means that the South has awakened from her Rip Van Winkle sleep and put the world on notice that she is going to walk into her rights. Though she does it with the knowledge that she will have to contend for every inch of the ground, that she will be opposed by the men, the sections, and the countries that have fattened and grown rich off the products of the toil and labor of her sons.

Farmers of Union, wake up, come to the meeting Saturday and let us decide once for all that we will be loyal to the purposes of the Southern Cotton Association, that we will go to work and equip ourselves with shoes and rations for a long campaign against the enemies of Southern prosperity.

T. J. W. Broom, Pres.

Last Year's Cotton Still Unsold.

Oceans of cotton yet remains in this county unsold of last year's crop, according to what a good many people told us last winter and spring. They said they would pay us just as soon as they sold their cotton, and as they have not yet paid us it must be that the cotton is yet on hand. Sell out and pay up.

Also those who owe us for this year's supplies would be welcomed around our way. A hint to the wise is sufficient. Don't wait for anything stronger. McRae Mercantile Co.

If you have troubles, just see "Hooligan's Troubles" and you'll forget yours. At opera house Friday, October 27.

Just received a job lot of clothing we are selling at a very low price. Collins & Biggers.

Fresh lot of fancy cakes and crackers just arrived—Nabisco's, choice sandwiches, vanilla wafers, graham wafers, butter thin biscuits, lemon and ginger snaps, marshmallow dainties and others that are just delicious. Try them. M. C. Broom.

Lipton tea is the best. Bruner & Huey.

Why will you buy a dry, salty, no good kind of ham when you can get a good, sweet, juicy ham at Bruner & Huey's.

Cheese! Cheese! We have them and they were bought before the advance in prices and will be sold at the old price. Come quick. M. C. Broom.

See us before you buy a trunk, if you want a bargain. Collins & Biggers.

We are handling fresh fish and oysters and will be pleased to fill your orders. M. C. Broom.

New lot breakfast bacon just arrived. Doster Grocery Co.

Fresh lot of pickles from the vines this year, William Bros' brand. J. A. Lingle.

Marriage in Buford.

Correspondence of The Journal.

Hope, Oct. 23.—Mr. R. F. Mangum, one of our enterprising farmers, has conceived the idea of making money out of horse flesh. He has bought eleven mule and horse colts to carry over winter for the trade next fall.

Mrs. Susan Gallegher, nee Laney, of Jefferson, S. C., has a very serious attack of fever. At this time she is improving slowly.

Rev. W. R. Ware assisted Rev. J. P. Higgs in a protracted meeting at Trinity recently. The church was greatly revived and seven were added to the church. Cotton is nearly all gathered. Sowing grain, gathering and husking corn is the order of the day.

There is sharp competition among the country merchants these days.

Mr. James Lowery, son of Mr. C. C. Lowery, and Miss Matilda Bruce, daughter of the late W. R. Bruce, were married at the home of the bride's mother Oct. 12. Rev. A. C. Baker officiated. Mr. R. A. Eubanks and Miss Annie Lee Lowery, Mr. Joe Bruce and Miss Jennie Green were the attendants.

There is and will be a great moving of the tenants this fall.

Messrs. T. N. Gay and Charles Laney bought from Mr. Thos. Williams the cheapest tract of land that will be bought in Buford for time to come, paying only $7.50 per acre.

Mrs. J. M. Funderburk of Calabrus county has been visiting relatives here.

Mr. W. T. Laney will soon be in his new dwelling.

Mrs. W. J. Laney and son, Master Emsley, have been visiting at Mr. G. M. Laney's.

I shall soon put 60 geese and 30 turkeys on the market.

Jack frost has arrived in killing shape. J. C. L.

If your sewing machine is working badly, and you need it right and want it made, send Griffith word—don't do it sadly, and he will fix it for you gladly. Now at Central Hotel, Phone 28.

Don't fail to call up Bruner & Huey for your tea cakes and crackers. A nice line just arrived.

Our telephone girl got report this morning, "When you see 'Hooligan's Troubles' you will like it so well you will want to see it over again." See it. You'll get dizzy laughing. October 27.

Convenience and Safety.

These are the characteristics of the modern banking business. No man who wishes to have his money in an absolutely safe place can afford to let it stay out of the bank. There it is not only safe, but there it can be best and most easily used by him. When you have a bank account you are never bothered about making change or sending money off. All you have to do is to write a check on your bank. All this saving costs you nothing. When you deposit money we give you a check book free and charge you nothing for keeping the account, and you can take all the money out whenever you want to. If you want to leave it for a stated time we will pay you interest on it.

Put your money where it will serve you best, and where neither burglars nor fire can touch it.

The People's Bank is the oldest and largest bank in this section, and has a long and splendid history for honesty, safety and liberal treatment of its customers. We want every man in Union county who hasn't already a bank account to open one with us. We take large or small accounts.
