IN BUYING GROCERIES

the careful housekeeper makes every cent count. But she can't make the pennies count by trading at every store in town, spending half her time looking for the centcheaper articles.

She can save money only by searching out a reliable groce and sticking to him.

The money is saved by trading with the groceryman wh sells dependable goods.

Dependable goods are not to be obtained in every store. Goodness and cheapness appeal to every condition of manity

There are no fancy prices here and everybody is treated alik

Our goods are cheap because they're good. It's not th price that makes them cheap. Goods that are bought so cheaply that they have to be thrown way on account of poor quality are the dearest goods bought.

Better pay a fair price and get the dependable kinds. You can't buy any other kinds here. We don't keep them.
