Slaughter of Toilers.

More men are killed and maimed in Allegheney county in peaceful pursuits in one year than were killed and wounded in many of the great battles of history. Statistics for the past year show that there were killed and injured in the iron and steel mills and blast furnaces, 9,000. In other mills, shops and factories, 4,000 were sacrificed, while the coal mines swell this figure by 400, and the railroads' victims include an additional 4 300 making up a grand total of 17,700 who were slaughtered or injured in one year. In addition to this numthere are thousands of cases that are not reported.

According to employers, most of the accidents occur through the carelesaness of employes. The frequency of accidents and deaths in the Edgar Thomson mills have cansed Chief Factory Inspector De-lancy to announce that he will investigate that plant next month. Of all the injuries and deaths in the county last year, only 92 cases came under the notice of the State factory inspector.
