A Fatal Cattle Disease. To the Editor:-The dairymen of this section are becoming very much alarmed by the increasing number of cases of a disease seriously affecting the months and feet of eir cattle, in some cases fatal. The disease is known as "My cotic Stomatitis," and is described in circular No. 51, Bureau of Animal Industry, Department of Agriculture, Washington, D. C.

This disease fortunately is noninfectious. It affects cattle of all kinds that are permitted to graze. It is supposed to be caused by the eating of food containing fungi or mold. The spores irritate the mu-

This trouble usually occurs during rainy weather which is favorable to the developement of such organism, and consequently the weather has been most favorable for several weeks.

Milk cows seem to be more often troubled with this disease than usually salivated, sores are formed charge from the nose, the animal becomes stiff, in some cases the feet become so swollen and sore

N some conditions the gain from the use of Scott's Emulsion is very rapid. For this reason we put up fifty-cent size, which is enough for an ordinary cough or cold or useful as a trial for babies and children. In other conditions the gain is slower-health cannot be built up in a day. In such cases Scott's Emulsion must be taken as nourishment; a food rather than a medicine. It's a food for tired and weak digestions.
