Mayor Sentenced to Penitentiary.

Mayor Schmitz of San Francisco, convicted of extorting money from French restaurant keepers and charged with other crimes, was yesterday sentenced to a term of five years in the penitentiary. The city of San Francisco has been in a bad way for a long time, playing against all manner of hard luck, but it appears that the people are waking up at last. The mayor's case is but one. The press dispatch which tells of the scene in court when the mayor was sentenced is worth reading. It runs as follows:

Judge Dunne, in pronouncing sentence on Schmitz, said: "It can be said that the verdict of the jury in this case had a deeper significance than ordinarily attaches to the finding of guilt. It is a message to all the people in the city of San Francisco that law and order are supreme, that no man, however exalted his station or how strong and powerful the political, social and financial influences which surround him, is above the law. Eugene E. Schmitz, you have heretofore occupied the highest office which the city of San Francisco can confer on one of its citizens. You were elevated to that position because of the confidence and trust reposed in you by the mass of the people."

"I am here," interrupted Schmitz, in a voice, though quiet and controlled, that carried to the far corners of the room, "to receive sentence at your hands, and not to be humiliated by a lecture which the newspapers can repeat in print."

Judge Dunne paid no attention to the interruption. "You were elevated to that high position, I say, because of the confidence and trust reposed in you."

"Attorney Metzton interposed: 'We are here to take sentence; not to be lectured. We—'

"Mr. Metzton," said Judge Dunne warmly, "if you interrupt these proceedings again I will send you to jail. You would be in far better business if you were here begging for day in court to answer the charge that you willfully and improperly attempted to tamper with a juror in this case."

Turning to Schmitz, Judge Dunne resumed: "You were elected to this position because of the confidence and great trust reposed in you by the mass of the people. You have by your willful criminal act, so a juror of your fellow citizens have declared, broken that confidence and betrayed that trust."

Here Schmitz again protested against the "lecture." Judge Dunne said:

"Therefore," the judge continued, "it may be said that the penalty which the law permits in this case is insufficient to meet the demands of justice. It may be suggested, however, that by your conviction you will lose the respect and esteem of all good citizens and men; that you will suffer the humiliation of knowing that your career of hypocrisy, duplicity and dishonesty—"

"I stand here as an American citizen to demand my rights," interposed Schmitz. "I'm not asking any leniency at the hands of this court. I am prepared to receive sentence. I ask that your honor do your duty and pronounce it immediately and that I be not subjected to humiliation and degrading remarks which the newspapers are copying and will print. I say, if your honor has any self-respect, you will proceed with the sentence."

"It is not unusual," was Judge Dunne's reply, "for courts to be brought into contact with such brazen acts of effrontery as yours in the present instance. It is the duty of the court in such cases to view the conduct of a convicted felon with patience and toleration, not to say pity. By your conviction you will lose the respect and esteem of all good men and citizens. You will suffer the humiliation of knowing, I say, that your career of hypocrisy, duplicity and dishonesty has been exposed, and that you stand before those who believed in and honored you, morally naked, shamed and disgraced."

"I deny that," cried Schmitz. "The people of San Francisco know how I was railroaded through."

Judge Dunne resumed: "Morally naked, shamed and disgraced. It is in the knowledge of these things rather than in any mere term of imprisonment in a State penitentiary, that the full measure of your punishment may be found."

"It is the judgment of this court that you be confined in the State penitentiary at San Quentin, for a term of five years."

The judge certainly had his head set on saying what he started out to say. But didn't he squish lawyer Metzton?

Mrs. Lillian Bridger Stewart. Mrs. Lillian Bridger Stewart, wife of Rev. S. A. Stewart, was born in Spartanburg county, S. C., February 15, 1880, and died in Kobe, Japan, June 7, 1907. Mrs. Stewart was educated first at Littleton Female College, then at Trinity College. At the Students' Volunteer Conference at Nashville, Tenn., in March, 1906, Mr. Stewart and Miss Lillian Bridger offered themselves for the foreign field. This was done without either knowing of the other's purpose to do so. On the 9th of August after this event in their lives, they were happily married at Durham by Rev. F. S. Aldridge, and set out on their journey for far away Japan on September 9, 1906, after spending several weeks with friends and kindred in delightful fellowship and happiness. A good part of this time was spent in and near Monroe with the mother, brothers and sisters, near kindred and friends of Mr. Stewart. During these days Mrs. Stewart formed many acquaintances who remember her most pleasantly, and now sympathize with the stricken husband in this great sorrow that has shadowed his young life.

Letters received by friends here say that every attention by skilled physicians and trained nurses was given; all was done that could have been done anywhere. The Christian sympathy expressed by missionaries and native Christians was beautiful.

These two young people were so happy with the prospect of engaging in the service of the Master in their chosen field. It was beautiful to see their complete consecration to Him who gave himself for a lost world. It seems so sad and mysterious that one so young and full of promise should die just as she began her life's work. But so it happened. May many others be found to take her place in the ripe harvest fields. Her memory is blessed; her influence will abide. "The husband is among the shadows, but the eternal lights are playing on his suffering heart, bringing that comfort which only Christ's own may know." To him and the bereaved ones in this community we tender our sympathies and prayers.

"God of the living, we must not say that those are dead who pass away. From this vain world of flesh set free, We know them living unto thee."

Suggestions for Home Nursing, by Miss Mae Card.

The Farm Garden, by J. Z. Green.

While these subjects will be discussed, any others of special interest may be suggested by those present. Every man meets with difficulties in his work, and the institute is the place to which our farmers should bring their difficult problems and help each other solve them.

There should be no hesitation about any farmer joining in and making these institutes of great good to the county. No one man can alone acquire either by study or through experience what is needed for him to do the best farming, and therefore if these farmers' institutes are made occasions for giving and receiving help, for study and comparison of ideas and methods, much good cannot fail to result to those who take an interest and active part in the work.

The purpose of the women's institutes is to enable the women on the farms to help each other by giving and receiving information obtained through study or experience. We hope the women will attend this meeting in large numbers, for a day spent in this way should be both pleasant and helpful.

Chip

CHIP TOBACCO is one of the best and largest plugs of fine-cured goods ever offered the consumer at 10c. It is manufactured by a strictly INDEPENDENT firm, a concern depending solely upon the merit and patronage of the people at large; a patronage only desired upon the strength of the superior quality of their tobacco. That it has earned this appreciation is amply proved by the tremendous and rapidly increasing demand for CHIP. In fact, wherever their tobaccos come into competition with other makes, whether with the people or before judges of the world's great expositions, they are invariably winners. Call for CHIP and save the tags as they are valuable.

A copy of our 1907 premium catalogue, which is one of the largest and most attractive ever gotten out by a tobacco manufacturer, will be sent to any address in the United States on receipt of only 1c in postage stamps or 2c if the tag is not returned.

Woman Thrown from a Pullman Window and Killed.

Train No. 41, arriving here at night, had a peculiar accident at Kittrell, beyond Raleigh on Sunday afternoon, in which Mrs. C. E. Harris, wife of a civil engineer of the S. A. L. living at Aberdeen, was killed. Mr. Harris and his eight-year-old daughter were in the rear Pullman, while the train was making about 45 miles an hour.

Suddenly Mr. Harris heard a sort of popping noise under the car and instantly the rear trucks left the rails and the car turned over. Mrs. Harris was thrown out of an open window. She had grasped the hand of her little girl when the shock came and the car turned over. The conductor and the train crew and passengers smashed windows in order to get some of the passengers out. Mrs. Harris' head and body were mangled in a horrible manner.

The shock of the derailment was not felt at all in any of the other cars. The car which capsized went on the inside side of the curve, which was not a sharp one, thus showing the speed was not high. The only damage to the car was the windows broken in extricating passengers. The correspondent talked with Conductor Cain and Engineer R. H. Buckner, who agree in saying the accident was due to the "buckling" of the rails, owing to the heat, the buckling being to one side. The engineer felt no jar whatever. Every car passed safely except the rear Pullman. Mr. Harris said his wife was thrown out of the window like a shot, that he saw her throw out her hands in a vain endeavor to stop herself.

Preparations for Bountiful Dinner at Unionville.

The public will, no doubt, be interested to know that the advisory board and the citizens of Union Institute met here on the 27th ult. to make suitable arrangements for receiving and entertaining the old students and their friends at their reunion here on Friday, the 2nd of August. At this meeting it was unanimously decided to give them a bountiful picnic dinner, and to invite and request all our friends, as far as practicable, to bring out well-filled baskets to assist and encourage us on this occasion.

All are cordially invited to come out to enjoy this reunion feast.

Wm. A. Love, Esq., as chairman, will welcome the old students, and will then turn over everything to them to carry out just such program as they may see fit to adopt and arrange for the occasion.

The old students have already organized and will in due time announce their program.

Industrial Education at A. & M. College.

"The world is demanding men who can do, as well as think," says President Winston. "The best equipment for a young man today is not a liberal education, but a practical one. A century ago education was for the few, and was designed to equip them for the learned professions; today education is for the many, and is intended to fit them for life's practical work."

The advertisement of the North Carolina College of Agriculture and Mechanic Arts appears in another column. This college has courses of instruction in Agriculture, 104 students; Civil Engineering, 101 students; Electrical Engineering, 108 students; Mechanical Engineering, 71 students; Cotton Manufacturing, Chemistry, and Dyeing, 52 students. Besides the regular four-year courses there are short courses and special courses in machine work, drawing and designing, carding and spinning, weaving, cloth analysis, agriculture and dairying.

Scarlet Fever.

The scarlet fever situation is becoming more serious day by day. It appears that some families have purposely concealed the disease in their homes while the other members of the family were allowed to go here and there mingling with the people, thereby spreading the disease and endangering the public safety.

For the benefit of those who have failed to call a physician and have given no warning to the public, the following regulations are published:

March 16th, 1906: Meeting of the Sanitary Committee, Section V of regulations.

Any person concealing or failing to report or to have reported to the County Superintendent of Health for this county the existence of any case of small pox, diphtheria, measles, scarlet fever, yellow fever, typhus fever, cholera, mumps, itch or whooping cough at his place of residence, or wherever the case happens to occur, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and shall be punished as provided by law in cases of a violation of the rules and regulations made by this committee and shall be liable for a penalty of ten ($10.00) dollars to be recovered by any person suing for the same.

Sec. VIII.—Any parent, guardian or other responsible person who negligently or willfully sends or allows any child or other person under his charge to go to a secular school or to any Sunday school, church or public gathering, from any residence or any premises where there is an existing case of smallpox, diphtheria, measles, scarlet fever, yellow fever, typhus fever, cholera, mumps, whooping cough or itch, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and shall be punished as provided by law in cases of a violation of the rules and regulations made by this committee, and shall be liable for a penalty of ten ($10.00) dollars, to be recovered by any person suing for the same.

Signed: H. L. Price, Chm., A. D. N. Whitley, Sec., W. G. Long, A. M. Crowell, H. C. Houston.

Sanitary Com.

If the doctors will thoroughly disinfect all infected houses and individuals and the people will give the doctors every assistance in the work of quarantining and disinfecting all infected premises and persons the disease can be stamped out before the winter season.

Chicago experienced an epidemic last winter that carried off three thousand children.

There are cases existing now at the following places:—Jeff Hill's, John Broom's, William Sutton's, John Horton's, Bartley Helms', Emsley Gurley's, Will Carroll's, Will Simpson's, John Brewer's. Stay away from these places and make these families stay away from you until every infected house, article of furniture or of clothing, and every infected individual shall have been disinfected. Individual liberties must be sacrificed for the sake of the public safety, and those who haven't sense enough or intelligence enough or human kindness enough to readily yield, must be forced by law to do so.

Very respectfully,
H. D. STEWART,
County Superintendent of Health.

Wingate Man is Robbed in Wadesboro.

Last night about 10:30 o'clock Mr. J. I. Raynor of Wingate was held up a short distance beyond the first bridge on the new depot road, and robbed of $219. Mr. Raynor, when seen by a representative of the Messenger-Intelligencer, said that he came to Wadesboro on the 7:30 train from Wingate yesterday afternoon; that he went to the depot to see a man who was to be on the 10:11 train from Wilmington; the train was late and he concluded that he would come back up town and not wait for it; as he approached the last bridge on the road, coming from the depot to town, a man suddenly appeared in front of him and struck him on the head; at the same time another man grabbed him around the waist. They struggled for a short time, the men striking him in the face, choking him and cutting him, superficially, in a number of places with a knife; finally the men succeeded in getting his coat which he carried on his arm, and a small sum of money he carried in his hip pocket.

Mr. Raynor carried nearly all his money in a bill book in his coat pocket. He says the money consisted of seven $20 bills, six $10 bills, three $5 bills and two $1 bills. Mr. Raynor could not tell certainly whether the men were black or white but he thinks they were colored. He reported the robbery at once to Sheriff Martin and every effort is being made to capture the guilty parties.

Mr. Raynor is in the moving picture show business. He says he moved his family from Charlotte to Wingate about two months ago. The reason he carried so much money on his person he explains by saying that he was on a trade with some parties in this county for a moving picture outfit.
