The company which was billed to present the Merchant of Venice here last Friday night failed to show up and at the other towns in this vicinity, hence it is supposed that the organization went broke. It was a disappointed set of people who assembled Friday night at the opera house and waited in vain.

The board of road commissioners of Monroe township now consists of J. W. Chaney, R. K. Helms and Davis Armfield, the latter having lately been appointed by Governor Kitchin to fill the unexpired term of Mr. W. F. Morgan, who resigned to take the place of superintendent of the chain gang.

Dr. Famous, who has been in charge of the government's tick eradication work in this county for some time, has completed his work and will be sent to Jefferson, Tenn., to begin work. He and Mrs. Famous left Sunday night to spend some time at their old home in Philadelphia.

Many careful thinkers believe that in a few years electric car lines will connect all the towns in this section, making something of a belt line around Charlotte. A news item from Rock Hill gives color to the above idea. It says: Rock Hill is to have an electric car line, which will not only operate through the streets and connect up its cotton mill suburbs, but will be extended to Charlotte and will take in Chester and Yorkville and will establish a connection with the Seaboard. The Carolina Traction Company of Rock Hill was today commissioned by the Secretary of State to carry out these plans. The company has an initial capital of $150,000, and an ultimate capital of $500,000. The incorporators are J. M. Cherry of Rock Hill, W. S. Lee and George Stevens of Charlotte, and it is evident from this that the Southern Power Company is interested in the enterprise. Mr. Cherry is a big land owner at Rock Hill and one of the best business men in the State.

Capt. W. C. Health has put in use in his office a business phonograph. It is one of Edison's latest perfection. The user talks into one machine, which makes the record. A business man can talk onto one of these records some fifteen or twenty business letters. His stenographer then takes the record when she desires, puts it into her machine and hears repeated the letters that have been dictated, and as the machine runs she writes the letters with her typewriter as if they were being dictated by the man in person. There is still a third machine, which is nothing more than a turning lathe on which the records that have been used are trimmed down for use again. The machine is a great time saver, and enables a man to dictate when he chooses and the stenographer to write when she wishes.

Elections are being held today in many States and cities throughout the country. Three States will elect governors and full State tickets, namely, Massachusetts, Rhode Island and Virginia. New Jersey will elect both branches of the legislature. Pennsylvania will elect a State treasurer, auditor general and judge of the Supreme court. Nebraska will elect the justices of the Supreme court and three university regents. In point of interest and excitement the three municipal campaigns of the great metropolitan cities, New York, Philadelphia and San Francisco, far exceed that of the State contests. In each of these municipal contests the reform question is a dominant issue. Practically all of the contests are on local issues.

Dr. J. L. Best, one of the oldest citizens of the county, died at his home at Olive Branch last Tuesday, after an illness dating from the meeting of the old soldiers in Charlotte last August, which he attended. Dr. Best was a native of Cabarrus county, but had been living at Olive Branch since he was a young man. He was a good physician, but had not been in active practice for a number of years. He merchandised at Olive Branch for a long while. Dr. Best was a man of fine mind, and was an interesting character. He never married. He was a member of Company D, Thirty-seventh regiment, N. C. Troops, and was for a time captain of his company.

On the 24th, Mr. C. A. McRorie and Miss Josephine Lampley were married at the Central hotel, by Dr. Chreitberg. On the evening of the 30th, Miss Minnie Lampley and Mr. Geo. Stall of Lynchburg, Va., were married at the parsonage by Rev. Mr. Thomas. The brides are daughters of Mr. J. H. Lampley. They have made many friends since they came to Monroe. Mr. and Mrs. McRorie will live in Monroe. Mr. McRorie having a position with the Health-Hardware Company. Mr. and Mrs. Stall will live in Valdosta, Ga.

Mrs. Susan Baucom, wife of Mr. W. T. Baucom, died Sunday night, Oct. 24, at her home in Goose Creek township, after a long illness. Mrs. Baucom's maiden name was Love. She was a sister of Messrs. W. A. T. L. and John W. Love and of Mrs. John I. Dong of Monroe. She leaves besides her husband three sons and two daughters. The sons are Messrs. J. E. H. M. and Alvis Baucom, and the daughters are Mrs. Jesse Long of Stanly county and Miss Jane Baucom.

Mr. Thos. Gay of Buford township died yesterday, after a long illness. He was 78 years old and leaves a wife and several children. He was twice married, the last time about two years ago. He was a quiet, good old man. By trade he was a potter, and a good one, and for many years made and sold much crockery. His sons are Messrs. Thomas, Murphy and George Gay.

Mr. N. H. Hallman, who lives in the Unity neighborhood, lost his corn crib, corn and four bales of cotton by fire Tuesday night. The flames were first discovered in the top of the building about 11 o'clock in the night and it is not known how the fire started.

IF it's Insurance you want, we have it— Fire, Life, Accident, Health, and all other kinds. C. N. Richardson & N. C. English at Savings, Loan & Trust Co.'s.

Social. Mrs. Julian Griffin was at home to her many friends Thursday morning and Thursday afternoon. In the morning forty-two was played and Mrs. W. J. Rudge captured the prize. The guests of the afternoon engaged in a guessing contest, in which several answered all the questions correctly. Mrs. Frank Laney was the successful one to draw the prize. A delightful luncheon in two courses was served on both occasions. Mrs. Raymond Shute, Miss Pearl Griffin, Grace and Mabel Smith were able assistants of the hostess in entertaining her friends.

The Friday Afternoon Book Club had a very enjoyable meeting with Mrs. Clarence Houston last Friday. The club will study English literature this winter and at each meeting one modern author and one writer of the past will be studied and discussed.

Mrs. J. J. Crow read an able paper on John Milton, while an interesting study of Kipling was presented by Mrs. Frank Ashcraft. Some beautiful selections from Kipling were read by Mrs. J. M. Bek in a very appreciative manner. The hostess served a dainty and enjoyable repast as is her custom.

Mrs. Frank Armfield entertained the Whist Club Saturday afternoon from 3:30 to 5:30. Bridge was played at four tables. The prize, a brass jardiniere, was cut for by Mrs. Clegg Ashcraft and Miss Frances Lee, the latter being successful. A hand painted booklet entitled "Points on the Score," was given as a booty. The score cards were hand-painted, the design being autumn leaves. The hall and parlors were decorated with red and yellow autumn leaves, while the same colors appeared in the refreshments.

The first and second meetings of the Thalia Book Club almost overlapped each other. The initial meeting was convened at the home of Mrs. Noreus English on Houston street. After a short social session, Miss Mary Davis, the president, made a few remarks relative to procuring reference books for the study program, the subject being "The French Revolution and Napoleon." The year's work was happily started off by Mrs. Warren Stack's paper on "Causes of the Revolution," and this was followed by one on "Parties and Leaders" by Miss Anna Chreitberg, who also led in the discussion of current events.

After the literary program Mrs. English led the way to the dining room which was brightened by a huge center vase of sunflowers. At each corner was a booklet beautifully hand-painted in purple and gold asters. This contained a number of questions on "cakes" which proved to be very absorbing. Between the salad and ice courses each member was given envelopes and paper and requested to write two impromptu letters to Misses Mary and Susie Covington, who were to leave soon for an extended visit in the middle West and Texas. These letters were to be opened on different dates during their stay.

Special attention was given to making welcome the guests of the afternoon, Misses Maffitt of Wilmington and the club's new member, Miss Caroline Parker.

The second meeting of the Thalia Book Club with Miss Edna Harris at Mrs. L. C. Bickett's was characterized by two strong papers. Miss Bright Ogburn read a description of "The Bastille," and Miss Mary Davis a character sketch of Marie Antoinette. The general discussion of these was very instructive.

The social feature of the meeting was a hallow'en frolic over the luncheon in the darkened dining room lighted only by a big jack-o-lantern centerpiece. Small candles, around each of which a ridiculous white mouse was twisted, were placed by the plates, and each guest had to light her candle and guard its flame during the luncheon. Each one was called on for a ghost story and in the hurly-burly most of the candles were put out, leaving only the horrid jack-o-lantern glowing. The favors were bon-bon boxes in the shape of black boxes, fittingly entitled "Ghost Stories."

Opening of Public Schools. We hereby give notice that all public schools should be ready to open by November 15th or as near that date as possible. We hope the patrons will see to it that the school grounds are cleared of rubbish and that the buildings are thoroughly cleaned before the schools begin. This will be a valuable object lesson for the children, and their health and comfort demand it. Nery respectfully, R. N. NISBET, Co. Supt.

PEOPLE'S BUILDING AND LOAN ASSOCIATION. Third Series will be open from now until Monday, November 1. Do it! Do it right! Do it right now! While this is only the third series of the new association, it ranks with the foremost in Union county. Being purely mutual, its expenses are practically nothing, and the gross earnings therefore go to you. Twenty-five cents for one share. Don't wait until the last day.

A Bunch of Old Ones. Over on the old Houston corner yesterday four old fellows sat together and talked and seemed so much to enjoy themselves that passers-by one by one stopped. They were Messrs. John Birmingham and Oliver Rogers, 85 years old each, J. H. Irby 78 and J. W. Irby 79. All widowers. Soon Squire John Winchester, a lad of 78, joined the crowd. Mr. R. V. Houston soon came up, of course, and remarked that Mr. Birmingham did about the first carpenter work in Monroe. Mr. Rogers fired the first clock. Mr. J. W. Irby had raised the hymns at Pleasant Grove camp ground for 60 years and that Mr. J. H. Irby knew more about La-Batt's cross roads than anybody else. Uncle Oliver Rogers, who is a man that puts duty above all else, was at the time of the surrender, guarding a railroad bridge near Concord. Having got no orders to leave he stood by his post for 30 days after the surrender and during the time the Confederates ceased to use the road and Stoneman began transporting over it. He staid by his bridge till his rations gave out and he had to quit or starve. Then he heard of the surrender and didn't go back.

Scotch Singers Thursday Night. Miss Tina Crawford, the Scottish prima donna, acknowledged by press and public of Great Britain as the greatest living Scottish contralto, brings to the Lyceum platform for the season 1909-10 the Famous Scotch Singers of Glasgow. Miss Crawford is known in her native country as the "Scottish Jennie Lind." The associate artists of the company were personally selected by Miss Crawford from hundreds of applicants, because of their particular fitness for the solo and ensemble work of the most difficult and exacting program. Personnel—Miss Tina Crawford, contralto; Miss Jeannette Cuthill, 1st soprano; Miss Ella Campbell, 2nd soprano and pianist; Miss Agness Hyde, 1st contralto and reader.

When you have a cold the first thing to do is have the bowels moved. Do not take anything that may constipate, and most old fashioned cough cures do constipate. Try Kennedy's Laxative Cough Syrup. It drives the cold from the system by a free yet gentle action of the bowels; it stops the cough, it is pleasant to take. Children like it. Sold by English Drug Company.
