WORLD'S CHAMPION DEAD.

Man Who Had Sailed Nearly 10,000 Feet High, Drops to His Death and Body Ground to Pieces.

Denver, Col., Dispatch, 17th.

With one wing tip of his machine crumpled like a piece of paper, Ralph Johnstone, the brilliant young aviator, holder of the world's altitude record, dropped like a plummet from a height of 500 feet into the enclosure at Overland Park aviation field late today and was instantly killed.

When the spectators, crowded about the enclosure, reached him, his body lay beneath the engine of the biplane, with the white planes that had failed him in his time of need, wrapped about it like a shroud. Nearly every bone in his body was broken.

He had gambled with death once too often, but he played the game to the end, fighting coolly and grimly to the last second to regain control of his broken machine. Fresh from his triumphs at Belmont Park, where he had broken the world's record for altitude with a flight of 9,714 feet, Johnstone attempted to give the thousands of spectators an extra thrill with his most daring feat, the spiral glide, which has made the Wright aviators famous. The spectators got their thrill, but it cost Johnstone his life.

The fatal flight was the second Johnstone had made this afternoon. In the first flight, when he was in the air with Hoxey and Brooks, he had gone through his usual program of dips and glides with the machine apparently under perfect control. Then Johnstone rose again and after a few circuits of the course to gain height, headed toward the foothills.

Still ascending he swept back in a big circle and as he reached the north end of the enclosure, he started his spiral glide. He was then at an altitude of about 800 feet. The machine tilted at an angle of nearly 90 degrees and he swooped down in a narrow circle, the aeroplane seeming to turn almost in its own length. As he started the second circuit the middle spur, which braces the left side of the lower plane, gave way and the wing tips of both upper and lower planes folded up as though they had been hinged. For a second Johnstone attempted to right the plane by warping the other wing tip. Then the horrified spectators saw the plane swerve like a wounded bird and plunge straight toward the earth.

Johnstone was thrown from his seat as the nose of the plane swung downward.

He caught on one of the wire stays between the planes and grasped one of the wooden braces of the upper plane with both hands. Then, working with hands and feet he fought by main strength to warp the planes so that their surfaces might catch the air and check his descent. For a second it seemed that he might succeed, for the football helmet he wore blew off and fell much more rapidly than the plane.

The hope was but momentary, however, for when about 300 feet from the ground, the machine turned completely over and the spectators fled wildly as the broken plane, with the aviator still fighting grimly in its mesh of wires and stays, plunged among them with a crash. Scarcely had Johnstone hit the ground before morbid men and women swarmed over the wreckage fighting with each other for souvenirs. One of the wooden stays had gone almost through Johnstone's body. Before doctors or police could reach the scene, one man had torn this splinter from the body and ran away carrying his trophy with the aviator's blood still dripping from its ends.

Death of Mrs. Nancy Parker.

Mrs. Nancy Parker, widow of Mr. Elijah Parker, died on the 5th, at the home of her son, Mr. S. M. Parker of south Monroe township. Mrs. Parker was nearly 90 years old. Her maiden name was Rogers. She leaves six sons and two daughters. The sons are Messrs. Levi G., Cullen and Burton Parker of Arkansas; Y. R., A. L. and S. M. Parker of this county. The daughters are Mrs. Bettie Beacham of Anson county and Mrs. Joseph Hinson of Lanes Creek township. Mr. D. D. Rogers is a brother of the deceased.

Mrs. Parker was a member of the Baptist church and was a good woman, one who loved to do good and who lived an upright life. Funeral was held at Smyrna church, in Buford township.

In Memoriam.

Inasmuch as the Master, who doeth all things well, has called away from earth our sister in Christ, Mrs. Addie A. Blair, we, the members of the Ladies' Aid Society of the Monroe Presbyterian church, feel that this is the fitting time to give a feeble expression of our appreciation of her beautiful life and character. As an ideal mother to her own children, as a sweet teacher of little Sunday school children, as a gentle woman of the olden type, she has moved among us for many years and won the love and esteem of many hearts. And now that she has come to her grave in a full age, like as a shock of corn cometh in its season, we realize that it is for the best; though each of us feels that she has lost a kind, sunny-hearted friend, who was always glad to help us and encourage us in our feeble efforts in the Master's service.

"Oh! life hath glory and gloom and grace,"

And pleasures blent with pain; But we miss the smile of a gentle face That we shall not see again— That we shall not see, till the Judgment Day Hath beaten the barriers all away."

MRS. FRANCES RAMSAY,
MRS. HETTIE WILLIAMSON,
MRS. FRANK ARMPFIELD,
Committee.

Death of Mrs. Harriett Arant.

Mrs. Harriett Arant died Saturday, the 12th, at the home of her son, Mr. J. A. Arant, in Chesterfield county. Mrs. Arant was 80 years old and had been in failing health for some time. She leaves four sons and one daughter. The sons are Messrs. John A. and Philip Arant of Chesterfield county, Robert Arant of Florida and Hugh Arant of Mississippi.

Mrs. Arant was a good woman, an humble and a devoted christian, a faithful member of the Methodist church. She will be greatly missed in the community in which she lived so long.

Funeral services were conducted at Five Forks church Sunday by Rev. J. A. Graham and Rev. Mr. Mason.

Death of An Infant.

Carrie, the 4-month-old baby of Mr. and Mrs. M. N. Bivens of Monroe, died Sunday morning before last of diphtheria. Funeral services were held Sunday afternoon at Mr. Bivens' residence by Rev. W. T. Albright. The burial was in the Helms cemetery, northeast of town.

Fifty cases Vienna Sausage and P. Hama. Our prices will not be met by anybody. See us. Bruner & Huey.

The quicker a cold is gotten rid of the less the danger from pneumonia and other serious diseases. Mr. B. W. L. Hall, of Waverly, Va., says: "I firmly believe Chamberlain's Cough Remedy to be absolutely the best preparation on the market for colds. I have recommended it to my friends and they all agree with me." For sale by all dealers.

The Piedmont Making Special Jobs.

The Piedmont Buggy Company of Monroe have begun a new line of enterprise that is destined to be a great success. It is the making of all kinds of vehicles—delivery wagons of every description, laundry wagons, United States mail wagons, moving vans, hose reels, and like vehicles. A man is on the road taking orders and all jobs are put up according to specification as desired. This is a line of business not engaged in by many concerns, and the Piedmont has already received orders from a large scope of country. The work is done at the old shop up town.

Big Loads of Seed Cotton.

The largest load of seed cotton ever brought to Monroe was hauled in last Monday to the Crow-Lee Gin Company by Messrs. Barber & Purser of Cabarrus county. The load weighed 4,250 pounds and made three bales weighing 430, 549 and 575 pounds. The cotton brought $217.56 and the seed $40.44, or $258.00 for the whole load.

Messrs. Barber & Purser brought two other loads of seed cotton in, one weighing 1,800 pounds and other 1,860 pounds.

Mr. Parker to Wed Tomorrow.

Mr. J. J. Parker left last night for Wilmington, where, tomorrow evening, he will be married to Miss Maria Moffit, a popular young lady of that city. After the ceremony they will leave for Washington and other points, coming to Monroe next Wednesday night. They will board at Mr. E. C. Williams'. Miss Moffit has visited here and has a number of acquaintances here. Miss Caroline Parker, sister of the groom, is already in Wilmington, and Mr. L. L. Parker of Pageland will go down for the event.

PERCIVAL CAME BACK.

He Shed His Name and Later Haughtily Returned to It.

Percival didn't like his name, and neither did Percival's father, but Percival's mother had a say-so in the matter, and that ended it.

Percival wished, now that he was twenty years of age and a rising young bank clerk—or one who wanted to rise, at least—that he had been named George or Henry, these names being far more dignified and substantial as to sound.

Percival's father wished that Percival had been named Alexander junior, but he did not voice this aloud, and nobody at the time Percival had been named seemed to think how appropriate it would have been to name him Percival Alexander, Jr.

Thus things had rocked along for twenty years, during which Percival had been the butt and mockery of his fellows. He had been cured of parting his hair in the middle and of smoking cigarettes, and now, a fairly steady youth, he had almost reached man's estate with this unhappy name hitched to him.

He invariably signed his name P. C. Roberts or P. Clayton Roberts and encouraged people to call him by his middle name or, failing in this, to at least make it "P. C." His mother was wroth at this ingratitude and frankly said so. But Percival stuck to it. He would have no Percival in his. He went further and secretly encouraged intimate friends to call him Sandy.

Then one day he changed. His mother found some new engraved cards in his room reading Percival Clayton Roberts and marveled, even while she was glad. When his father heard of it he was indignant. But Percival enlightened them not.

But Uncle William did. He viewed the situation on all sides and gave it as his opinion as an expert that there was a girl in the case—a girl who liked the name of Percival. And when Percival was asked about it he drew himself up haughtily.

"Is it necessary," he said, with the cold dignity of a man of twenty, "that my private affairs be discussed?"

"Nary a bit, Perce," said Uncle William, "nary a bit. No use to discuss 'em at all that I can see." Then he went outdoors and exploded into laughter, for Uncle William had been there and knew a few things himself.—Galveston News.

Just received—new crop figs, dates, seeded raisins, currants and citron. Bruner & Huey.

Census Report.

Cotton of the growth of 1910 ginned to November 14, according to the census bureau's report, issued at 10 o'clock yesterday morning, amounts to 8,764,153 bales. Last year to November 14 there was ginned 8,112,199 bales, or 80.5 per cent. of the total crop of 10,072,721 bales, and in 1908 the ginning was 9,595,809 bales, or 75.3 per cent. of the total crop of 13,086,005.

The Waxhaw Real Estate and Insurance Company has opened a branch office at Lillington, N. C., which is in charge of Mr. C. D. McNeely of this county.

Mr. Lee Chaney and Miss Ellie Mullis of Wingate will be married tonight at Meadow Branch church. Rev. D. M. Austin will officiate.

Mr. W. H. Phifer, who attended conference at Winston, says that the session was the most pleasant he ever attended, and Bishop Hendrix is an ideal presiding officer.

Dr. J. H. Weaver, the new pastor of Central, is one of the best preachers and pastors in the conference and has held some of the most important charges. He will not be here till Sunday week.

Rev. L. R. Pruett of Charlotte will spend the night with his old classmate, Mr. H. E. Copple.

There will be Thanksgiving services at New Hope Baptist church, in New Salem township, on Thursday.

The friends of Ex-Sheriff A. J. J. Price will be sorry to learn that he suffered a light stroke of paralysis last Friday. However, he is rapidly recovering.

Mr. Willis W. Grady, a native of this county, died at the Morganton Hospital on November 17th. He had been in the hospital many years. The remains were buried at Morganton.

Rev. J. F. Moser and wife are spending two weeks in the county with relatives. Mr. Moser goes back to Forest City, where he labored last year and has done a splendid work. He is one of the most promising young ministers in the conference.

Miss Maud Chears, sister of Mrs. John Parks, died in Waxhaw early yesterday morning of pneumonia. She had been sick several months.

Miss Beth McGinnis, daughter of Mrs. J. L. Osborne of Waxhaw, died Sunday.

Little Davis Armfield, son of Mr. and Mrs. S. H. Hudson, who has been dangerously sick some time, is better.

Miss Mabel Lane, who is in school at Converse College, Spartanburg, will come home tonight to spend Thanksgiving with her parents.

The Lowest Temperature.

It is a curious fact that the lowest atmospheric temperature ever recorded by the thermometer was at a point almost directly over the equator. A balloon equipped with a self registering instrument was sent up from the shore of Victoria Nyanza, in central Africa, and it rose to a height of twelve miles. The temperature at that height was nearly 119 degrees below zero Fahrenheit. It is possible that even greater cold might be found twelve miles above the pole, but the weight of scientific opinion is that the upper air over the torrid zone is generally colder than over the arctic regions.

Tracing a Resemblance.

"Yes," the old farmer was saying, "in some ways a pig is a good deal like a human critter. You may never have heard it before, but a pig sometimes suffers from rheumatism, same as if he was a man."

"But how can you tell when a pig has rheumatism?" asked the visitor.

"Oh, he does a lot of grunting" over it, same as a man does."—Chicago Tribune.

The End of Romance.

She—I haven't seen you for years, fully five years, Mr. Grey. How did that little romance of yours with Miss Lillian end?

He—Miss Lillian is no more.

She—What! Dead?

He—No; married.

She—You don't say so. You are still friends, though?

He—No. She married me.

When you have a cold get a bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. It will soon fix you up all right and will ward off any tendency toward pneumonia. This remedy contains no opium or other narcotic and may be given as confidently to a baby as to an adult. Sold by all dealers.
