Wood's High-Grade Seeds.

Crimson Clover

The King of Soil Improvers, also makes splendid fall, winter and spring grazing, the earliest green feed, or a good hay crop.

CRIMSON CLOVER will increase the productiveness of the land more than twenty times as much as the same amount spent in commercial fertilizers. Can be sown by itself or at the last working of corn, cotton or other cultivated crops.

We are headquarters for Crimson Clover, Alfalfa, Winter Vetch, and all Farm Seeds,

Write for prices and Descriptive Fall Catalog, giving information about all seeds for fall sowing.

Hazers Not Pardoned.

The University hazers who caused the death of William Rand, a freshman, and who were sentenced to four months on the roads, were refused a pardon by Governor Craig Wednesday. Their sentence ended last Thursday but application for their pardon was made so that the young men would not lose their rights of citizenship. Judge Clark of the Supreme Court, was quoted in Raleigh as having said that though pardoned the young men would have to apply to the Supreme Court for the re-statement of their rights of citizenship. The boys have never served any sentence, simply being hired by their parents for the term of sentence.

Strikers Besiege Governor.

Two hundred Hyde Park Manufacturing Company strikers appeared at the State House in Boston Wednesday and demanded a hearing before the State Arbitration Board. The mill is in the control of Governor Foss, and the strikers after having been refused a hearing by Chairman Rowland, appealed to Gov. Foss to use his influence with the Committee to give them a hearing. Gov. Foss replied that he did not have anything to do with the matter. The strikers then retreated to a near-by hotel. The strike is the outcome of a long and bitter war between the Governor and his employees.

New Parcel Post Rates.

On July 19th, Postmaster General Burleson announced that he had exercised the power conferred on him by the parcel post law to reduce the rates and enlarge the zones in which the rates are to be charged, as well as to raise the limit of weight for packages. The new regulations will go into effect on August 15th. Under them, packages weighing twenty pounds may be mailed two hundred miles at the rate of five cents for the first pound, and one cent for every additional pound. The local rates will be reduced to one half the present rate. The right of the Postmaster-General to change the rates was disputed by some Congressmen, and on July 22nd he was requested to explain to the Senate postoffice committee where he got his authority.

Union County Lady Married at Jonesboro.

Sunday afternoon at the home of Mr. J. R. James, near Jonesboro, Miss Pearl James was given in marriage to Mr. Charles Rosser, Rev. J. G. Johnson, pastor of the Methodist church of Jonesboro, officiating. Mrs. Rosser is the second daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James and is an attractive young woman, who has endeared herself to a large circle of friends. Mr. Rosser is a prosperous farmer of Lee county. The young couple left for their home immediately after the ceremony followed by the good wishes of a host of friends who had gathered to witness the happy event.

Peace in the Balkans.

Peace was concluded between the Balkan States Wednesday night and the preliminary treaty was signed Thursday in Bucharest. The agreement was arrived at only after the demonstration of Bulgaria's inability to face her ring of enemies. The discussion in the peace conference threatened to become interminable but the Premier of Roumania clinched matters by threatening that the Roumanian army would occupy Sofia, the capital of Bulgaria, Saturday, unless peace negotiations were successful. This brought the Bulgarians immediately to terms.

Two more North Carolinians landed jobs last Tuesday when Congressman Gudgeon and Senator Simmons went hunting. They learned that the Indian Commission will appoint Mr. James Henderson, of Canton, as Superintendent of the Indian school at Cherokee at a salary of $1,800 a year. They also secured through Attorney General McReynolds the appointment of J. Scroop Styles of Asheville special attorney in the claims division of the department of Justice at a salary of $2,400 a year.

R. W. LEMMOND, Clerk Superior Court Union County.

The Haunted House.

Selected. James had gone to the country to spend a week with his grandmother. He found there a great deal to interest a little city boy who was not used to country sights and sounds. It was almost night when they got to grandmother's house. They had their tea out on the back porch and then went to bed on another porch all screened in from the flies and mosquitoes. James thought it was lovely to eat out on the porch and then go to bed out under the stars. He was very tired and very happy, and he was soon fast asleep and wandering off into the pleasant land of dreams.

By and by he heard a knocking, "Rat - tat, tat - a - tat, tat - a - tat, tat - a - tat." He sat up in bed and looked around and listened. It was morning and quite light, though the sun was just climbing up over the distant hills. The light from the sun was just touching the trees and had not yet reached the grass and flowers. It looked very queer to James to see the sun so far away and yet so close to the earth. It looked queer, too, to see the woods and hills all around you instead of long city streets bound by rows and rows of houses. While he was thinking all of this and waking up quite wide awake, the knocking kept up.

James remembered that last night when a neighbor had come over to visit she had knocked on the door instead of ringing a bell. He waited and listened again. Grandmother was asleep, grandfather was asleep, and mother was asleep. He was a little boy, but he understood not to disturb other people when they might want to sleep; so he slipped quietly out of bed and down stairs to the front door. The knocking had seemed to come from there, but when he got there all was quiet, and he went around to all of the outside doors that he could find but no one was there; so he crept back to bed, and was just drifting away to Sleepy Town to finish his morning nap when there came that knocking again as plain as could be, "Rat-tat-tat, tat-tat, tat-tat," longer and louder and louder and louder. He jumped out of bed again and crept down stairs and around to all of the door again, but still no one was there.

Just as he started up stairs he met old Aunt Chloe, the cook, in the hall. "Is this house haunted, Aunt Chloe?" he asked. "I keep hearing somebody knock and knock like they wanted to get in; and when I get there, there is nobody at all." Aunt Chloe put her hands on her hips and threw back her head and laughed and laughed. "Law sakes, honey!" she said. "Is you done been to de front door to answer dat knocking. Dat ain't nobody, honey, but ole sassy Mr. Woodpecker an' his family what done got der nest up over de front door transome. Dey jes' knocks all de time, an' we all done got used to it."

James was very glad to know that the house was only haunted by birds, and not by people trying to play jokes on you.

Had Spent 27 Years in Bed in One Position.

Wellington, Mo., Aug. 6.—Thomas F. Lockhart, after spending 27 years in bed, virtually in one position, today met the death he for years had prayed for. Lockhart's joints were ossified so that the only movements of the body he could make were a shrugging of the right shoulder and the middle joints of two fingers on the right hand. With this shoulder and finger movement, Lockhart had written an autobiographical book which brought him funds sufficient to purchase the home here in which he died and to pay for a nurse to care for him constantly.

He had published several other writings, mostly of a biographical nature and emphasizing precepts of patience.

Lockhart took to his bed Christmas night, 1886, following a long ride through a cold rain. He never left it. He was 43 years old.

The Newton-McArthur Lumber Co. of Elizabethton, one of the largest lumber companies in the State, was adjudged bankrupt last Tuesday on the application of several creditors and a temporary Receiver was appointed. The assets of the company are not yet learned. From facts at hand the Company owns about 25,000,000 to 30,000,000 feet of standing timber, nine miles of railroad, 4,000 acres of land and an up-to-date plant. The liabilities are about $150,000. The principal owner is Mr. J. Sprunt Newton of Fayetteville.

The removal of the Mexican soldiers confined at Fort Bliss, Tex., to Fort Rosecrans, Cal., has stopped the habeas corpus proceedings against the commander, Brigadier General Bliss, by attorneys of the soldiers. They were arrested for crossing the international boundary line.

Hon. John Hill Sprunt of Durham, who was appointed one of the commissioners from North Carolina to study Rural Credit systems in Europe by President Wilson, returned home Wednesday.

Zeb Vance's Cane.

Wednesday, Senator Overman received as a gift from Willis B. Dowed of New York, a walking cane that Ex-Governor Zeb Vance used in the Civil War. The cane is a large one with a crooked handle and it shows signs of wear. Senator Overman says that he will prize this gift most of all his possessions. He has an intense and abiding devotion for Gov. Vance which grew of his long association with Gov. Vance as his private secretary.

Gaiety at Two County Seats.

Wilmington Star. On trial this week in two counties of the State are a couple of cases that should furnish sufficient human interest to alleviate the burden of hot weather stories, tariff speeches, Mexican dispatches and lobby yarns. One is being tried in Bladen county—that of the Bladen man who made an unwilling trip by balloon at the Cumberland county fair last Fall. The other is that of Dr. E. A. Hennessee, the iron-clad feudist of Burke county.

Mr. Smith, it will be recalled, was an innocent bystander at a balloon ascension. Suddenly without warning, the gas bag dashed upward and took with it Mr. Smith, around whose leg a rope had wrapped itself. It was a thrilling affair. Dangling head downward, the Bladen man was hurled through
