

The Most Extraordinary Moving Picture
Production of the Times

The Trey O' Hearts

If you've got a drop of red blood in your veins—if your heart beats one bit faster to the tune of romance—adventure—love and mystery—then you've something in store so far ahead of anything you've ever seen that you will never forget.

The Pictures The Universal Film Manufacturing Co., pronounced THE TREY O' HEARTS the best action story for film purposes they had seen in three years. They backed up their judgment by putting the punch and $200,000 cash into a set of pictures that are more than remarkable—they're simply extraordinary.

Won't Cost You One Red Penny You attend the movies—regularly. Instead of an ordinary film, you'll see graphically pictured by the best emotional actors and actresses in America—THE TREY O' HEARTS—a pace maker in pictures. So it won't cost you a nickle more to see it.

Mental Back Somersaults No matter how clever, you can't fathom the plot of THE TREY O' HEARTS one inch ahead of the scene you're viewing. It keeps you turning mental back somersaults all the way.

Full Reel Action in Every Foot The Universal Film Manufacturing Co., who are producing these films tell us that there is more action in every foot of THE TREY O' HEARTS than in a full reel of the ordinary scenario. And they should know. Thousands of scenarios go through their hands every year and they're investing $200,000 in putting THE TREY O' HEARTS on the screen. That's backing judgment. And their success in the moving picture business tells whether or not they know a good thing when they see it.

"The Trey O' Hearts" Is the Moving Picture Play You Want to See. Produced in Weekly Installments at

THE REX THEATRE BEGINNING NEXT WEEK. Don't Fail to see it!

AN ENTHUSIASTIC GERMAN.

Says That His Countrymen are Preparing to Make a Tremendous Attack Upon Great Britain.
Charlotte Observer.

The feature of the war news the past week has been in the development of German strategy and preparedness, and the feature of this has been the bringing into use of the big guns before whose fire forts of steel and concrete have crumbled as sand banks. Coupled with the big gun as a factor in the plans of the Germans is the use of the war Zeppelin and the proposed, or rather anticipated, use of the combination in the invasion of England. Louis Fisher, a German-American, reached New York a few days ago and told what he knows, or thinks he knows, about German intentions. Due allowance must be made for Mr. Fisher's enthusiasm, which may be a little too high pitched, yet, given this due allowance, what he says makes interesting reading for speculation, if for no other purpose. Fisher presented his credentials to The New York Times before proceeding with his story. He predicts that for the next three months the American people will have cause to marvel at the German military preparedness and power. The fighting Zeppelins are not of the kind the people have been reading of and they will be heard from after Calais falls, when a combined movement will be made on England. Fantastical, indeed, sounds Fisher's idea of what is going to be accomplished. The fighting Zeppelin will make its appearance over a battlefield for the first time. And for the first time the new big gun, with a bore 52 centimeter wide, manned by special crews from the Krupp factory, will be used in firing across the English Channel. Fisher admits that the idea of bombarding the British coast from the French coast at Dover sounds ridiculous, but he affirms that this is exactly what he is going to be done. "Watch the German siege guns after Calais falls," he urges. "And then watch the Zeppelin fleet that will appear overhead to keep the Channel clear of war-ships while the German army of invasion gets under way." Fisher says 80 of these war Zeppelins are ready and others are being turned out, so that the skies over London may be dotted as by a countless flock of vultures. That was not his language, but it was what he meant. One part of Fisher's story may be taken as the truth. Germany is making determined preparations for an invasion of Great Britain.

GROWING OLD.

A little more tired at the close of day,
A little less anxious to have our way;
A little less anxious to scold and blame,
A little more care for a brother's name;
And so we are nearing the journey's end,
Where time and eternity meet and blend.

A little less care for bonds of gold,
A little more zest for the days of old,
A broader view and a saner mind,
A little more love for all mankind;
And so we are faring down the way,
That leads to the gates of a better day.

A little more love for the friends of youth,
A little more zeal for established truth;
A little more charity in our views,
A little less thirst for the daily news;
And so we are folding our tents away,
And passing in silence at close of day.

A little more leisure to sit and dream,
A little more real the things unseen;
A little nearer to those ahead,
With visions of those long loved and dead;
And so we are going where all must go,
To the place the living may never know.

A little more laughter, a few more tears,
And we shall have told our increasing years,
The book is closed, and the prayers are said,
And we are part of the countless dead.

Thrice happy then, if some soul can say,
"I live because he has passed my way."
—A. V. Barnes in Christian Advocate.
