Anybody Going to Take a Hint?

Marshallville Home.
Not in recent years has such a thing occurred in this wise. Men everywhere are highly indignant, and are employing every conceivable means to ascertain the cause therefor. The danger of every publisher in the country is aroused once a month when he receives invoices covering his month's purchases of white paper. His eyes nearly bulge from their sockets when he sees the advance in prices over the preceding month, or his heart melts within him when he thinks of the cash necessary to pay therefor, and is reminded that perhaps he has one, two or five hundred subscribers in arrears on his list. Yes, the paper market is all shot to pieces. Paper that a couple of months ago cost the publisher $50.00 a ton now sells him down about $85.00 a ton. The Home has seen its paper bill increase about five to seven dollars per month since the first of the year. Then do you wonder that we are reminding those in the extreme rear about their subscriptions. We consider that we have done our duty toward everyone. We have supplied you with the paper, thinking of course that it was your desire, since you have continued to accept its weekly visits without protest—and we naturally expected you to pay for it some time.

Now, in view of the rapidly increasing paper market, it would seem that the time to pay has come. You certainly cannot expect us to send you a paper free that costs three times to publish what the subscription rate stands at. The arrearages amount to a considerable thing in dollars. Every man knows or can figure out what he is due by referring to his label. We appeal to the manhood of every subscriber—we want him to think about the matter first—then we want him to treat us exactly as he would have us treat him under exactly the same circumstances. Were you in the place of the editor and we were the subscriber, would you have us pay or would you not?

As much as we hate to lose a subscriber, and as unpleasant as it will be, we will be forced to discontinue all subscriptions that are so badly in arrear, unless some satisfactory adjustment is soon made. We cannot afford to buy paper at the present increasing cost and send it out without receiving the price of the subscription, which is indeed small.

If you think it is right, honest, it is your duty as a man to pay us or make satisfactory adjustment of your subscription. If you thing otherwise, there is only one other course to pursue. Let us hope that there are none of the latter class on our list.

Hughes and T. R. in Full Accord.
New York Dispatch, June 28.

Charles E. Hughes, Republican presidential nominee, announced tonight at the end of an interview with Theodore Roosevelt, which lasted for more than two and a half hours, that he and the former President were in "complete accord."

Mr. Hughes issued the following statement:
"I was very much pleased with Colonel Roosevelt's letter of endorsement, and he has expressed himself in a very kindly way with respect to my telegram to the Progressive Committee. I wanted to talk with Colonel Roosevelt fully with respect to the issues of the campaign and asked him to dine with me so that we might have that opportunity. He dined with me tonight and we had a very delightful interview. We talked very fully over all matters and are in complete accord. The evening has been a very pleasant one."

It is understood that Colonel Roosevelt told Mr. Hughes that he would co-operate heartily with him in any of his plans, even to the extent of making a speaking tour if Mr. Hughes so desired.

Colonel Roosevelt called upon Mr. Hughes at the nominee's invitation and they remained together for more than two and a half hours.

THE SHERIFF A SUICIDE.

Second Death as the Result of the Murder of Judge Lawler of Alabama.
Sheriff Robert Phillips of Madison county, Ala., shot and killed himself at the county jail at Huntsville, Ala., Friday, the second suicide growing out of the recent murder of Probate Judge Lawler.

The sheriff was not confined in jail but lived there as sheriff and jailer. He had been known as a political friend to D. D. Overton, for whom a warrant had been issued in connection with the Lawler murder, and it is said by the sheriff's friends that worthy over criticism because he had not arrested Overton had caused the suicide. That the sheriff should have thought himself suspected of the Lawler murder, however, was as great a surprise to many as that caused a few days before, when S. L. Pleasant was found shot to death in his office, leaving a note saying he killed himself because he was suspected of murdering Judge Lawler. The prosecution declared that no suspicion had been directed against Pleasant.

Sheriff Phillips recently issued a statement replying to criticism because Overton had not been arrested, saying he was doing all in his power to apprehend him. Later when a $1,000 reward was offered for Overton the sheriff asserted neither he nor his deputies would share in it if they arrested Overton, which he reiterated they were making every effort to do. The sheriff's dead body was found in a cell in the jail. A note, addressed to his wife, said he and his son, Marcus, went to serve a summons in the vicinity of the place where Judge Lawler's body was found and that this had caused him to be suspected of the murder. "It is more than I can stand to live under this," the note continued. "The man I thought a gentleman has fooled me. I don't want the stain on my children. I can't stand to be accused of such a crime."

The note did not name the man who "fooled" the sheriff, but added: "I liked Judge Lawler, even though I worked against him, and I was fooled."

The note then referred to business matters and to the rearing of the young children, and added: "I can't afford to live here and be looked on as a murderer, when God knows, I am as innocent as the angels in heaven."

Southern States Nearly All Have Their Troops in Concentration Camp

New York Dispatch, June 28.
Mobilization of the National Guard of the Southern States, called out for Mexican service, virtually was complete tonight, according to information at headquarters of the Department of the East, United States army, here. All the units called in Virginia, South Carolina, Tennessee, Alabama, Florida, Mississippi and Louisiana were in camp, while the last of the Georgia troops were expected at Macan tomorrow and the North Carolina troops at Morehead City Saturday. Approximately 20,000 soldiers, including infantry, cavalry, field artillery and signal and hospital corps, were under canvas at the nine State camps and several thousand of these were about ready to move to the border, part of the Virginia and Florida troops being expected to get away within a day or two. Plans were for all the others to move as soon as they were ready and troop trains were being assembled at several of the camps.

Recruiting stations have been opened in all of the States and the work of filling in the various units to war strength was proceeding rapidly. In several States the Governors have issued calls for volunteers and recruits were being moved to the mobilization camps almost daily. It was expected that when the troops got away for the border most units would be near the maximum strength in spite of the number of guardsmen rejected for inability to pass the medical examination.

A Lady Appointed Governor's Private Secretary

Raleigh News and Observer.
Miss Mary F. Jones, who has served so efficiently as executive secretary to Governor Craig since he became Governor, was on yesterday appointed his private secretary by the Governor. The Governor also announced that he had appointed Mr. Joseph J. Mackay, Jr., his executive secretary.

Miss Jones is the first woman in North Carolina to hold this position. She occupies a unique distinction as possibly no other Governor in the United States has a woman for private secretary. The only similar case that can be recalled is that of Governor West of Oregon, who at one time had a woman for his private secretary.

The Governor said that Miss Jones deserved the appointment on account of her long and efficient service in the office, and her peculiar knowledge of the business of the office. "I have examined the statute," said the Governor, "and I am satisfied that this appointment is strictly in accordance with the law of North Carolina as interpreted by the Supreme Court. The Assistant Attorney General concurs with me in this opinion."

Monroe's Community Spirit.

Our community spirit will ever prevail. With feelings of good will or when troubles assail. We've been seized with that feeling that will never end. And it's hovering around each neighbor and friend.

We bid you all welcome from all the county side. Each mother and kid, each father or bride. Our town is your town, our home is your home. The streets and the square are yours to roam.

'Tis a day of pleasure we want to give you here. A day of happiness and genuine cheer. A day to be remembered mingled of glee. With our fellowmen, 'neath the frayed flag free.

Come tarry with us, and do as you please. Spend hours of pleasure and living at ease. And if you should grow lonely, causing tears or a sigh. Remember Monroe and the Fourth of July.

We are all one family, we're all one kind. We should live for each other, never changing our mind. Do away with all malice in this land of the free. And hurrah for our flag and liberty.
