HURRAH FOR MARSHVILLE!

She is Getting Down to Business—Road Supervisors Appropriate $1,000 and Citizens Will Raise Like Amount.

Marshville Home. A meeting held over Union Drug Co. last Saturday morning, composed of the Board of Road Supervisors of Marshville township, augmented by a large number of citizens of the township, was fruitful of much result so far as progress in the township is concerned.

Chairman Zeb Little called the meeting to order and a free and full discussion of the highway question was indulged in, by both, citizens of the township and the members of the board. It seemed that all were agreed on the proposition—that of giving $1,000 to the highway in Marshville township—and no serious difficulty was encountered in arriving at a decision to make the donation.

A motion by Mr. T. G. Collins, seconded by Mr. C. S. Brooks was carried unanimously. His motion read as follows: "It is moved and seconded that the Board of Supervisors of Marshville township give $500 immediately to the highway fund, and $500 not later than May 1, 1917; provided the citizens of the township raise and equal amount."

There is no question about the citizens raising an equal amount. Every man within the county will be willing to contribute a reasonable amount to the highway fund. We will get donations ranging from one hundred dollars down. There is a certain crowd of young people in Marshville that can be counted upon to raise not less than $200, if it is necessary for them to do so.

Work will be begun on the highway as soon as it is expedient.

We are sure every citizen of the township feels grateful to the board for their interest in this matter. We as a whole especially thank them for the money thus set apart. It is a wise expenditure and will result in lasting good to the township.

Monroe Route 9, July 4.—Scapegoat, I am sorry that you are gone but hope you have a good job.

The cloud burst last Friday evening did great damage, land is washed considerably. Lightning did some damage around here. People are getting along fine with their crops, almost captured general green, and blackberries are catching it.

A mule belonging to Mr. G. J. Richardson ran away with his son, Bunyan Richardson, last week. The mule was hurt very badly, but the boy was not seriously hurt. No one knows what was the matter with the mule. The boy thinks it was a very bad case of meanness.

Several people from around here attended the children's day exercises at New Hope last Sunday. All report a good time.

As Scapegoat is gone, Wild Rose, you will have to send in your speech. Mr. and Mrs. Zeb Helms and little boy of Unionville spent the week-end with relatives here.

Mrs. R. S. Spittle and little granddaughter have returned from the hospital in Charlotte, where the little girl has been treated from the mule kick. Mrs. Spittle is a teacher in our Sunday school and we were glad to see them back.

Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Melton and children spent the week-end with parents. Mr. and Mrs. J. G. Richardson.

Mrs. Watts of Monroe spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Ben Helms.

Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Helms spent the week-end with friends in Wingate.

The jolly old fourth is over and I hate that too, don't you? But remember it will come again next year.

A family reunion was held at Mr. Joe Gordon's last Saturday. All enjoyed a fine time, also an ice cream supper the following night. The day was spent with enjoyment to all.—Farm Boy.

Militia Ordered to Wilmington.

Morehead City Dispatch, July 7.

Upon urgent request of Judge W. P. Stacy four companies of Coast Artillery have been ordered to Wilmington to reinforce the company already there in preserving peace among striking motormen and conductors of the Tidewater Power Co. The request came to Brig. Gen. Laurence Young this afternoon. Immediately Charlotte, Greensboro, Salisbury and Raleigh companies ordered under arms. Greatest secrecy accompanied the order until the first of the troops, the Charlotte company, were under way at 9:00 o'clock to-night.

Major E. D. Kykendall, of Greensboro, is in command of the four companies about 300 strong. Coast Artillery was ordered out rather than infantry stationed here because the three regiments at Camp Green are under orders from the President of the United States.

The coast artillery is to be used in keeping down possible disorder arising in Wilmington as a result of the strike of motormen and conductors of the street car company there because of the proposed installation of the pay-as-you-enter system and the accompanying reduction of the street car fare to one man to a car.

Dr. Houston's Relics of the Mexican War.

Charlotte Observer.

Dr. "Bart" Houston of Monroe has several interesting relics from the battlefields of Mexico brought back to North Carolina by some of our soldiers who enlisted for service against Santa Anna and his armies during those troublesome times back in 1845. One of these relics is an old powder horn presented to J. H. Hodges by Capt. H. A. Area of Company C, North Carolina Regiment. It bears the date May, 8, 1846, burned in the horn and also the names of different battles in which the original owner participated, the final being Monterey. Doctor Houston also has a flint-lock muzzle loading rifle or gun made in 1811 and used during the war with Mexico. While it is not generally known, many of the soldiers in 1845 used flint-locks against the Mexicans.

ANSON HAS HOSPITAL

Great Day in Wadesboro When Institution Was Thrown Open—When Will Monroe Do Likewise?

Wadesboro Ansonian.

The Fourth of July, 1916, will long be remembered by the people of Wadesboro as being the day when the fine new hospital was formally opened to the public and a new declaration of independence against pain and suffering to some extent, at least, made a reality. The institution is to be known as the Anson Sanatorium, and was made possible by the gifts of Senator-elect R. E. Little and the untiring efforts of those who were chosen to build and equip the building. It is one of the prettiest and most attractively situated brick buildings in the town and is modern in every respect. In design and arrangement it is approved by some of the State's most experienced physicians.

The entire day yesterday was consumed with a program arranged by the trustees, Drs. R. D. Ross, J. E. Hart, J. M. Dunlap, and Mr. T. A. Marshall. During the morning and early afternoon clinical demonstrations of surgery were given by the visiting surgeons, among them being the following: Drs. Strong, Pressley, Brenner, Monroe, Crowell, Allen and Peeler of Charlotte; Dr. Long of Statesville; Dr. Rankin of Mount Gilead; Drs. Armfield and Perkins of Marshville; Dr. Teal of Chesterfield; Drs. Webb and Garrett of Rockingham, and practically all of the physicians of Anson county. Six patients received the benefit of these clinics and had the advantage of the skill and knowledge of some of the South's greatest specialists. Later in the afternoon there were discussions of surgery by the home and visiting doctors, and later a moving picture demonstration at the Lyric of a number of valuable slides showing new discoveries relating to the practice of the profession.

In the evening a reception was given the visitors by the ladies of the town, which was in the nature of a linen shower. A great number of valuable gifts were made to the equipment of the hospital and others will be made later as the needs are made known. The following ladies were in charge of the linen: Mesdames Sam Houston, Lura Ingram, H. H. McLendon. The register was presided over by Mrs. T. L. Caudle and Misses Nannie Moore and Virginia Ross. At the stairway was Mrs. J. L. Ingram and at the door Mrs. F. M. Little. The second floor was looked after by Mesdames W. K. Boggart and H. W. Little. In the hall were Mesdames R. L. Hardison, J. G. Boylin, J. E. Hart, J. M. Covington and Miss Johnnie Dunlap. The punch bowl was presided over by Mesdames C. M. Burns, Jr., and J. S. Webb and Misses Alice Caudle, Caroline McLendon, Virginia Via and the Webb children.

The Anson Sanatorium is now fully equipped and ready for service. Besides the various wards, there are four memorial rooms furnished by Messrs. U. B. Blalock, John Dunlap, William, Kenneth and Joe Hardison, and Major William A. Smith of Ansonville, and also a room was furnished by Miss Grace Morgan. Wadesboro's most capable trained nurse. Yesterday a corps of eight special nurses and three regular nurses were in attendance under the superintendence of Miss Trullit, the head nurse and superintendent.

Drs. R. D. Ross, E. S. Ashe, J. E. Hart of Wadesboro, J. M. Dunlap of Ansonville, and Lonnie C. Smith of Polkton, and Messrs. T. A. Marshall and R. L. Hardison, composing the board of trustees, were the recipients of many expressions of praise and congratulations upon the realization of their long and earnest hope of giving this section a convenient and adequate hospital.

We have lost our good old correspondent Scapegoat, who has helped us out so much in the way of encouragement, when we started to writing. I always looked forward for Scapey's piece first. Hope he will come back again. Say some of you fellows step in and take Scapegoat's place in the debate, don't let it die down. I want to hear from both sides for maybe I will learn something in the end.—Brass.

WOMEN GIVE OUT.

Housework is hard enough when healthy. Monroe women who are having backache, blue and nervous spells, dizzy headaches and kidney or bladder troubles, should be glad to heed this Monroe woman's experience:

Mrs. M. J. Sikes, Monroe, says: "I suffered from disordered kidneys and inflammation of the bladder. My back ached like a toothache night and day and I could hardly do my housework. At night, I couldn't turn over in bed, my back was so weak and painful. The kidney secretions were unnatural. This trouble tore my health to pieces and I thought I would die. As soon as I began taking Doan's Kidney Pills, I felt better. They regulated the action of my kidneys and relieved the awful misery in my back. Doan's Kidney Pills soon had me feeling like a different person."

Price 50c. at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mrs. Sikes had. Foster-Milburn Co., Props., Buffalo, N. Y.

FODDER FOR MACHINE GUNS

Washington Post.

If the honor of the United States can be maintained by peaceful methods, who shall say that the nation should go to war?

Those who want war must be willing to sacrifice their lives upon the altar of national devotion.

None but a patriot and coward would fail to make the sacrifice if the honor of the country were at stake, but only those who are in full possession of all the facts in the Mexican situation can decide what the national interest demands.

What man in public life, what official or orator in the market places, can say that he is more jealous of the national honor than are the people themselves? The honor of the nation is safe in the hands of American people.

And what are the people saying? What are they thinking as they walk through the streets? What are they saying about their own supper table after they have returned from their daily work? In one of his speeches President Wilson said:

"I would a great deal rather know what the men on the trains and by the wayside and in the shops and on the farms are thinking about and yearning for than hear any of the vociferous proclamations of policy, which it is so easy to read by picking up any scrap of printed paper."

Those who are expected to sacrifice their lives upon the battlefield, the fathers and mothers who yield their sons and who yield them willingly when the honor of the nation is at stake, should have something to say about the question of war.

Two million of the men of Europe lie in their graves as a result of the mad war that is still in progress and yet the honor of the nations involved has not yet been satisfied.

At Verdun 300,000 of the finest men of France, Germany and England lie dead. The toll demanded by European statesmanship steadily is mounting, and the end is not yet in sight.

Of the 2,500,000 men who were in the civil war on the Northern side, more than 1,000,000 were below the age of 21 years, and the fathers and mothers, sisters and sweethearts were left behind to agonize and mourn.

It is not the corporations, the landowners or the captains of industry who have the vital interest in the question of war or peace. It is not the politicians or orators, the organizations of public preparationists or public pacifists that have the most at stake. It is the average citizen—the citizen who earns his bread by the sweat of his brow, the citizen who loves his family and wants to continue giving that family his support and protection who has the most at stake.

Those orators who cry out for a given course of action in the name of the national honor without having before them all the facts that affect the national interest in a crisis merely demonstrate their lack of responsibility and their callous selfishness.

It speaks well for the wisdom of the American people that they have never elected a President who has been stamped into war by false advisers or critics.

Great as has been the horror of the European war, strong as is the desire to preserve the strength of the United States for the more civilized purposes of humanity, the American people as a unit will be ready to fight and die if it should be necessary to preserve the national honor.

On the one side, in the nation today, as in all crises of the past, there are those who, without knowing all the facts on which the great decision must be made, argue for immediate action against Mexico, regardless of the consequences. On the other side are those who are praying that peaceful means of protecting the nation's honor shall be completely exhausted before there is recourse to arms and to the sacrifice of the blood of American soldiers.

President Wilson, with all the facts before him, was able to win a diplomatic victory in the submarine controversy, satisfying this nation's honor or without the frightful toll of war.

The President of the United States alone knows the facts in the Mexican situation. He alone can make the decision that will conserve the national interests. While orators are making the arguments in public places, the people, by wire and letter, are telling the President that they, who must make the sacrifices and who will not ask some other mother's son make it for them, want peace so long as it is compatible with the nation's honor.
