Garah, the young son of Mr. G. B. Caldwell, while cranking a car yesterday, broke both bones in his right arm.

There will be a singing at Benton Hill school house the first Sunday at 2 o'clock. The Sacred Harp will be used. The public is invited, especially those who have books. We expect Mr. James Rogers to be the leader.

Admiral Von Smith, promoter of the Little River Fishing Club, calls a meeting of all the club members at the Jackson club tonight. The members have bought a tract of land at Little River and expect to make a fishing preserve.

Mr. George Reader, who was so badly crushed at Lee's Mill Saturday before last, is improving and his condition is such that hopes of his entire recovery are felt by the physicians. It is not known when he will be able to leave the hospital.

Messrs. R. W. and W. O. Lemmond will discuss the issues of the campaign at Olive Branch, New Salem township, on Friday, October 20th, at 7:30 p. m., and at Union Grove school house, North Monroe township, on Saturday, October 21st, at 7:30 p. m.

"Take it from me," said Mr. A. L. Parker, "Times have changed. Once I sold a 518 pound bale of cotton for twenty-three of twenty-four dollars. Today I sold a 556 pound bale for $97.50." And Mr. Parker felt good—so good that he paid a year in advance for The Journal and never said one word about the $1.50 price.

Messrs. T. J. W. Broom, E. J. Ezzell, J. S. Howie and C. E. Parks went to Newton last Friday to see the Shuford dairy farm and other sights of Catawba county. Two cars of Anson farmers went with them. Mr. Broom says that the farmers up there are making and selling great quantities of sweet potatoes. They are shipped to Northern markets, well prepared for market, and bring fancy prices.

"Please urge the people to register and be ready to vote," said Squire B. F. Parker Saturday. Every man who is entitled to vote should certainly take the trouble to prepare himself by registering. If the privilege of voting were withheld from people they would fight for it, but since it is a matter of course they forget that it is a duty. Any American citizen ought to think enough of his country to vote.

The possum hunters are becoming so thick in the woods that they are driving the game right into town. Mr. Laney tells about one possum that he encountered on the street and Mr. J. C. Hill has one which he caught in the act of raiding his chicken house Saturday night. Mr. Hill lives on Main street not far from Shute's gin. At midnight he heard a terrible outcry from the chicken house and went out and found a big possum which had killed a pullet and was eating it. Mr. Hill recovered the pullet and had it for dinner Sunday and now he is saving the possum to serve for another dinner.

Did you work the apple problem that Mr. Lee Griffin gave in The Journal? The paper had not been out long before Mr. Griffin began to get answers. From near and far the answers came, and all of them were right. But all the parties overlooked the important fact that Mr. Griffin did not ask for an answer only, but for a proper solution of the problem, promising a pint of cream to the one who would give, not the answer, but the demonstration. Mr. Billie McCauley was the only one who came up with the goods, and he gave it to a gnat's heel. He gets the cream. His solution will be published in The Journal.

The Sandy Ridge township Sunday school rally, held at Siler church Sunday was a success and enjoyed by all present. As all the speakers for the morning service failed to arrive, short talks were made by Rev. B. B. Shankle and the various superintendents of the Sunday schools in the township. The dinner served on the ground, which proved to be one of the largest features of the day, was thoroughly enjoyed by all. Short talks were made by different ones in the audience followed by the superintendents who had not made reports. They were followed by Rev. Lee McB. White of First Baptist church of Monroe, with a fine address on "Reasons for the study of the Bible." After this address came the organization of the township Sunday School Union. Mr. J. N. Price was elected president, Prof. Mendenhall vice-president, and Mr. E. H. Morris secretary and treasurer. The superintendents and pastors of the several churches were appointed a program committee.

Born to Mr. and Mrs. Grady Nash, a son, October 14th.

Belk Brothers are opening another branch store, this one at Greenville, S. C. Mr. J. W. Kirkpatrick of York will be the manager.

Mr. Robert Gibson will make a Sunday school address at Waxhaw old Baptist church on the first Sunday in November at 10 o'clock.

Wholesale prices of shoes have gone up 50 to 75 per cent in the past few days, says the newspaper. Other things than cotton are "tangoing with the stars," as Mr. Bickett says.

Elma Williams, colored, escaped convict from the Barnsville, South Carolina chain gang, was arrested here last night by Officer Clifford Fowler and is now in jail. He was serving time for murder.

Infuriated with jealousy, Nancy Crawford, colored, attacked Cull Alexander, colored, with an axe at "Mag's Inn," last Sunday evening, but Cull evaded the blows by cracking her over the head with a small box. The wound was not serious.

The social department of the Epworth League of Indian Trail will give a box supper next Friday night at 7:30. The proceeds will go to the aid of needy children of the community. Everybody is invited to be present with baskets.

A new corporation, Armfield Bros. & Co., has been chartered. Messrs. Rufus and Frank Armfield and J. W. Laney being the stockholders. They will begin a general livestock business at the Armfield old stand November first.

The dry weather has been hard on Crimmon clover. Many people report that they had fine stands but the lack of moisture has hurt bad. Mr. J. H. Helms of Sandy Ridge had a fine stand on eleven acres—sown with seed grown in this county—and now there is not more than enough on the whole field to make a good stand for two acres.

"I have seen fifty machines running at night without lights in the last few months," said Mr. J. I. Braswell of Goose Creek. "This is against the law and should be stopped. I was nearly run over last night by a man running without lights. I don't see why people should not respect the law as much on the country roads as well as in town. People are complaining about it."

Cap Clontz has eaten his cake. It is said that you can't eat your cake and still have it, therefore he has none left. Mr. Clontz had never seen a big circus. He went to see Ringling Bros. yesterday and therefore can not ever again look forward to seeing something that he has never before seen. But maybe Mr. Clontz was so well pleased that he will be like Mr. N. G. Russell—keep a standing engagement for every circus that comes to Charlotte.

"What's the news?" Mr. L. M. Liner of Jackson was asked by The Journal this morning. "Why," said he, "we had one of the finest sessions of the Association it ever had. Among the good things was a fine Sunday school address by Mr. John C. Sikes, our splendid president officer. And the other news is that the last issue of The Journal was the finest I ever saw. People are talking about it. There were reports of three sermons in the paper and the articles on simple funerals put people to thinking. And the editorial 'Walking With God,' is simply fine. We have all been guessing who it is that was referred to."

Messrs. Ray and Karl Krauss were found guilty yesterday afternoon of an assault on Professor O. V. Hamrick committed last Thursday. The Krauss boys alleged that Professor Hamrick insulted their mother by refusing to see her on the school grounds in regard to the expulsion of a younger son from the school and by not raising his hat to her. Professor Hamrick stated that he was called across the street on the afternoon of the assault by Mr. Karl Krauss, who led him to the rear of his garage while his brother shut and locked the door behind him. Mr. Hamrick further stated that he did not return the attack, but warded off their blows to the best of his ability. The defendants were taxed $12.50 each and the costs. They were also required to give a $50 peace bond.

A mass meeting of all members of the Chamber of Commerce and citizens of Monroe who have the interest of the city at heart will be held at the Jackson Club Rooms tonight, the 17th, at eight o'clock. This will be a very important meeting and it is hoped that every one who possibly can will attend for plans will be laid to boost the city, and everyone will be at liberty to suggest what in his opinion Monroe needs first and most. Mr. Scott has had printed a "Suggestion Slip" which he has enclosed in a letter and mailed to every member of the Association and he would appreciate it very much if each member would fill it in and hand it to him tonight, and if for any reason they cannot be present at the meeting to mail it to him, and he will present same at the next meeting of the Board of Directors and some action will be taken at once to boost Monroe.

Appreciated the Things Sent From Monroe.

The following letter has been received by several of the ladies of Monroe who sent a box of clothing sometime ago to be distributed in one neighborhood of the mountains where the people were made destitute by the flood in the summer:

"I received the boxes of clothes and was surprised when I opened them and saw so many and so nice. Some of them looked almost like new. I spread them out and called in my neighbors to see them. Our pastor was passing by and I called him in. He said you all must have given till you felt it. He said he had never seen so many nice things given. We were all so proud and delighted with the nice things that we had a little prayer meeting and asked God to bless the ladies of Monroe for being so kind to send so many nice things. I distributed the clothes among thirteen families. They were all so proud and thankful to get them and sent many thanks. I wish you could have been with me when distributing them. I saw several little children wrapped in tow-sacks to keep them warm. One old lady had a hole cut through the quilt and her head through it to keep her warm. Some of them would break down and cry and ask the prayers of the people of Monroe."

Owning Property as Stewards.
Rev. Walter N. Johnson, Secretary of the State Mission Board of the Baptist State Convention, delivered a masterly address at the First Baptist church last Sunday evening. The subject of this address was the "Second Revival," as recorded in the fourth chapter of Acts: "Neither said any of them that ought of the things which he possessed was his own."

Mr. Johnson said that when a revival is spoken of we usually think of the revival recorded in the second chapter of Acts where three thousand were added to the church. "The revival recorded here," said the speaker, "was not a revival for increasing the church membership, but for bettering the quality of that membership, and it was so successful that at least two were excluded from the membership."

The great point that Mr. Johnson made in this address was that Christian people do not "own" their property, but hold it as God's stewards, as the managers whom God has placed over His property, and as such Christians must give an account of their stewardship to God. Mr. Johnson said in part:

"We are afraid to speak of socialism, afraid that some one will call us a socialist. What is socialism? Socialism is that the individual should own his property for the interest of society. What is capitalism? Capitalism is that the individual owns his property for the benefit of the individual. But this idea expressed here in this chapter is neither, but that the individual does not 'own' property, but it is God's and we are his stewards."
