THE CHRISTMAS AFTERMATH.

Piles of warrants for docks, afonly two cases were heard.

Marion Blakeney and Bozzy Stockton, both colored, pulled off a "sure enough" Wild West "stunt" about calibre, easily recalls daring scenes committed with both gun and knife by the heroes of the wild and wooly West. But if you'll take down those paper-bound volumes of your childhood, one will venture to say that you'll not fing a scene more thrilling than that which occurred Sunday be-tion. So he called Bozz, to one side and presented him with a draft for the aforesaid sum. To make a de-mand on one for money during the holidays was so ridiculous to Bozzy that he laughed in Marion's face, and proceeded to walk off. Marion said something, or pulled his gun, that raised Bozzy's ire, who drew a big -regular dagger size.

This aggravated Marion, who fired, koncking the knife out of Bozzy's hand without further ceremony. One shot sufficed, but Marion testified that he cracked down the second time before the knife could fall to the ground. Marion then hit for the tall timbers, while Bozzy went in search of a physician.

Marion was caught by Officer Clifford Fowler and Constable Earnhart near the Piedmont Buggy Co. Bozzy was taxed with $10 and the costs for his part of the aff ay, while Marion forked over $25 and the costs.

Another case of the innocent bystander receiving the blow that was intended for one of the participants, or the aggressor. Eenry Lynch, colored, was in Chess High's barber shop, when a Jane came passing by. He hurried to the front and found that one of his best friends was held houted the humiliated Vann, "I'll be ly a few intimate friends were pres-at your house tonight to raise hall." ent at the marriage. Henry pulled out his knife, made a slash at Vann, but unfortunately, one ried last Sunday evening at 7:30 of Walter's legs interfered between the knife and Vann.

Walter walked a little stiff-legged in court this morning, but he did not seem to bear any ill-feelings toward his friend, Henry. Vann was let off with the costs, while Henry paid $10 and the costs. Henry also informed the court that he was going to pay amount to about $5.

Death of Mr. Fred Helms.

Correspondence of The Journal. Fred Helms, son of Mr. and Mrs. Mack Helms, died at his home in Lanes Creek township early last Sunday morning of a complication of diseases, after a severe illness of only a few days. He was a young man with a bright future. He was 26 years old and leaves a father, mother, six brothers, four sisters, a wife and two small children, together with a large host of friends and other relatives to mourn his departure. Rev. R. M. Haigler conducted the funeral ser-vice at Philadelphia Baptist church, of which he was a faithful member. and the enterment was at that place with W. O. W. honors The sorrowing relatives have the sympathy of their host of friends.

The fool-killer has been on his job for quite a while and it is indeed a significant fact that after his many raids vital statistics show that the women out-number the men.

This hint is merely thrown out for the benefit of the man, who in a recent issue of The Journal, would disqualify women on the ground of incompetency.

I wish to say in the immortal words of .ars. Payser, "I'm not denying some women are foolish; God Almighty made them to match the men!" I do protest, however, against this as a just ground for disfranchise-ment until all the men who belong in this category have had a like

Not Much Fighting on Christmas Day The third Christmas of the European war passed without much fighting on the British and French fronts, where virtually only the artillery was active and the men were feasted and entertained as far as was compatible with the sterner business of war.

Rumania's first Christmas as a participant in the war witnessed heavy fighting on the Rumanian front. Ground was yielded by the Rumanians at some points under the pressure of the Germans, and north of the Buzeu-Rimnik roads a height was lost by the Russians.
