

The majority of our customers say they are well paid for paying cash for their groceries to get the benefit of our "Five Minute Delivery System," while others say they get rid of being pestered by collectors at the end of the month. Others say they like to buy their groceries from us because we appreciate their trade. And still another reason, we have one price for all. One other reason is that our stock is so complete that we are able to fill the order, which saves them from going elsewhere. Vann Funderburk.
