AIRPLANE WILL VISIT MONROE IN NEAR FUTURE

Party Here Friday Selected Landing Places For Plane—Pictures of Monroe Will Be Made From the Airship—May Result in Permanent Landing Place.

Some time within the next two weeks an airplane from Pope Field, at Camp Bragg, near Fayetteville, will land on the outskirts of Monroe.

The purpose of the coming of this ship of the air to Monroe is to map air currents, take aerial pictures of our city, select landing places and do other scout work looking to the establishment of landing places for airplanes in government, commercial or pleasure seeking uses.

A party composed of Lieutenants E. R. Shuman and E. N. Pickerrill, air pilots, and H. B. Cox, aerial observer, and Corporal Carter were in Monroe last Friday for the purpose of selecting a landing place for the ship. These men are stationed at Pope Field, Camp Bragg.

Fields which might be converted into landing places for airplanes shown them by Secretary Riddle of the Chamber of Commerce and Mr. J. M. Morrow, Jr. The airman spoke favorably of the field on the western edge of the city, formerly used by carnivals. Several fields on the eastern edge of town received favorable attention. It is understood that with a little work either of these fields might be converted into a first class landing place.

One of the sites investigated by the airman was marked with a large white flag and the scout plane on its trip here will descend at this point if the owner of the field does not object. The flag is placed for the guidance of the pilot in control of the machine.

The scouting party here Friday has visited sites near Raleigh, Greensboro, Durham, Winston-Salem, Lexington, Charlotte, Concord and other cities and it is said that conditions here compare favorably with those at the other points visited.

The plane which will come to Monroe will probably be piloted by either Lieutenant Sherman or Lieutenant Pickerrill. A twenty-four hour stop will be made here and during this time aerial pictures of the city will be made.

Emergency landings along the route followed by the plane in its trip from Camp Bragg will be marked and the air currents mapped. This information will be gathered in an "Airplane Bluebook," and will be available for either government, commercial or military uses.

Secretary Riddle will be notified 24 hours before the ship takes flight for Monroe. An order for a quantity of high grade gasoline for the ship has been placed with one of the local companies.

As soon as the aerial pictures are completed one of them will be sent to the Chamber of Commerce and in this manner the citizens of Monroe will have the opportunity of seeing Monroe as it will look viewed from an airplane a thousand feet high.

It is thought that if sufficient interest is manifested by the citizens of the town that the visit of the scout plane may result in the permanent establishment of a landing place here for commercial or pleasure seeking airplanes, or a way stop on the projected air mail service to the principal cities of the South. That no opportunity may be lost, Secretary Riddle has taken steps to see that proper attention is given the matter. He will appoint committees to have charge of this. These committees, working with Mr. Riddle, will be on the job when the scout plane arrives within the next two weeks.

A Woman's View of Wilson.

(Letter in New York Evening Post.)

Sir: I am only a woman, who has had her political opinions registered for her at the polls by her father and brothers, and, furthermore, I have always been content to have it so; never craved the boon (if it is such) of woman suffrage, and am not overjoyed at its arrival in my own State.

I have, nevertheless, always taken a deep and an abiding interest in the political affairs of my nation, and confess to a preference to the prevalence of the principles represented by the Republican party. But I join with the Republican members of my family and many others in saluting our great President, Woodrow Wilson, Democrat though he be.

As an American I am very proud of him, and very grateful to the Providence which brought him to the "kingdom for such a time as this." I am glad the other nations of the world recognize in him a great leader of a great people, and are willing to be led by him. He speaks with an intelligent foresight and clearness of utterance not matched on the earth today; but that is not all; he has also a heart of love, and an eye of faith to look down the years of the future and see humanity released from the chains of militarism, because our nation, under his leadership, led the way to the League of Nations, which shall be a permanent foundation on which to build the peace of the world.

This league will ever bear, first and foremost the mark of America's hand and heart, not because we thought selfishly, or only for ourselves, but because we are big enough and Christian enough to think most of the great cause of humanity.

When the time comes for our Senate to ratify this work of ours and our President, may there be no betrayal on the part of a single Senator, but may each remember that they are to be Christians first, and Americans afterward, and partisans not at all.

Whenever I think of the League of Nations, I think at the same time of these lines of Longfellow:

Humanity with all her fears,
With all her hope for future years,
Is hanging breathless on thy fate.

Boy Gets One of Henry's Fords for Remark.

A dispatch from Asheville says: Because a lad in Jackson county made a witty remark when questioned by him on his tour of western North Carolina last summer Henry Ford, the great automobile manufacturer, has ordered that the boy be presented with one of his famous cars. The incident occurred when Ford, John Burroughs, Thomas A. Edison and Firestone, the rubber manufacturer, were in Asheville on an automobile trip from Pittsburg. Ford has placed orders for the car with a local dealer and it will be delivered out of one of the first consignments of the "fivers" received here.

PROPOSITION TO ISSUE SCHOOL BONDS IS ENDORSED

Speakers at Parent-Teacher Meeting Friday Afternoon Stressed Need of New High School Building—Mrs. W. C. Crowell Elected President of Organization.

The proposition to vote $50,000 of bonds to be used in the construction of a modern high school building for Monroe was heartily endorsed at a meeting of the Parent-Teachers Association held Friday afternoon.

The meeting was opened with prayer by Dr. Gurney. In stating the purpose of the meeting Prof. R. W. Allen called attention to the fact that a modern high school building had been a crying need of our city for a number of years.

The following musical program was carried out: The Rosary, piano and violin, Mrs. H. R. Laney and Master Yates Laney; vocal duet, Mrs. J. F. Laney and daughter, Mrs. Heath Lee; piano solo, Miss Rebecca Norwood.

Mrs. R. B. Redwine read a paper, which provided ample food for thought.

Addressing the meeting, Mr. W. B. Love, chairman of the school board, paid special attention to the needs of the school, and of the working in harmony of the parents and teachers.

Dr. H. E. Gurney came out strongly for the erection of a new high school building. He spoke of the numerous improvements which he had witnessed in Monroe since becoming a citizen several years ago. The idea was expressed that if we will continue to improve our city we must have a modern high school where the minds of the future citizens may be improved.

Prof. A. W. White emphasized the necessity of the teacher and the parent fighting together for the up-building of the school. Little can be done where the parent does not cooperate with the teacher.

One of the most interesting talks of the meeting was delivered by Mrs. W. C. Crowell. She made valuable suggestions for the remedying of the present conditions.

Secretary Riddle of the Chamber of Commerce called attention to the approaching bond election for the school and told the wives present to see to it that their husbands did not fail to go to the polls and cast their votes in favor of the new school.

Mrs. W. C. Crowell was elected president of the association and Mrs. Roscoe Phifer secretary. Four vice-presidents will be appointed by Mrs. Crowell to assist her in her work.

The domestic science class, taught by Miss Tate, served fruit.

Strong Role For Enid Bennett In "Partners Three"

One of the best photoplay stories ever furnished, Enid Bennett, the Thos. H. Ince star, as a Paramount picture which will be shown at the Strand Theatre next Wednesday.

The action revolves about Agnes Cuyler, who, at the opening of the picture, is discovered to be a cabaret dancer. Accepting an offer of marriage by a Westerner to escape a distasteful existence, she jumps from the frying pan into the fire.

She finds her husband is a brute, who, in a drunken humor, abandons her on the desert. She is picked up by a prospector, who secures her a position as waitress in a railroad restaurant. Here she falls in love with a sickly youth, and because of her sympathy and care for him, is practically driven back to the desert. The two find a haven in the adobe hut with the prospector.

Her husband, recovering from a sudden illness, fears the consequence for deserting his wife and starts out to find her. He comes upon the trio just as they have struck pay dirt, and plans to fraud them of their claim. He is foiled by the prospector, who recognizes in him an enemy of former days, and takes his revenge, leaving Agnes free to hearken to the pleadings of the youth, who has recovered his health under her care.

Miss Bennett is supported by a well-chosen cast. The picture was directed by Fred Niblo under the supervision of Thomas H. Ince.

FIRST GAME OF CITY LEAGUE BE PLAYED THURSDAY WEEK

Schedule For Opening Games—Railroaders Will Lock Horns With the Town Team—Mr. C. N. Bruner Appointed Ground Manager.

The opening game of the lately formed Amateur Baseball League of Monroe will be played Thursday, May 29, it was decided at a meeting of the executive committee of the league yesterday afternoon.

The game will be called at 5:30 at Roberts field. The regular days selected for the playing of games are Tuesdays and Fridays but in view of the fact that the good roads convention will be in session here on the 29th it was decided that the opening game should be played on this day. No admission will be charged but the hat will be passed.

At the meeting yesterday the committee decided that the Railroaders and the Town Team should lock horns in the opening game. Each team has had considerable practice and is showing good form. They are about evenly matched as to players and at least five hundred fans should turn out on the opening day. Those who attend are assured of seeing a fast, snappy game.

It was decided by the committee in session yesterday to arrange for three opening games and to perfect a complete schedule later. The schedule to be arranged will announce games until about July 19 when other teams will probably be admitted and the schedule extended.

The temporary program arranged yesterday provides for the opening game between the railroaders and town team on Thursday, May 29. Then on Tuesday, June 3rd, the town team will contest with the high school team for honors. On Friday, June 6, the Railroaders will clash with the high school team.

Mr. C. N. Bruner was appointed ground manager with full authority regarding work on the field and ground rules. A list of the prospective players of each team must be filed with the president of the organization, Rev. S. L. Rotter. In case a team desires to take on a new man his name must be filed with the president a week before he can take part in a game.

The committee will meet in the wholesale department of the Monroe Hardware Company Thursday afternoon at 4 o'clock for the purpose of completing the program and adopting bylaws. The managers and captains of the three teams who compose the league are expected to attend this meeting.

Marriage of Miss Summerlin and Mr. Scales.

One of the season's prettiest home weddings was solemnized last Saturday evening at the handsome home of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Lee, when Miss Jennie Summerlin became the bride of Mr. Charles Wriston Scales. Rev. John A. Wray performed the ceremony, using the ring service.

Simplicity was the keynote of the occasion and only the close friends and relatives were present. The Lee home was unusually beautiful, cut flowers being used as decorations.

Miss Nora Lee, the maid of honor, gowned in white Taffeta and carrying pink sweet peas, entered with little Miss Burdette Scales, a niece of the groom, who carried the ring in a lily. The bride was beautiful in a gown of white georgette and a large Battenberg hat and carried a bouquet of bride's roses.

Miss Jean Ashcraft played the wedding march and Mrs. G. F. Rutzler, Jr., of Charlotte sang "Because" just before the ceremony.

Mr. and Mrs. Scales have many friends who presented them with a number of beautiful presents. Since the death of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. M. P. Summerlin, Mrs. Scales has made her home with her aunt, Mrs. J. H. Lee. She has a friendly disposition that has endeared her to a wide circle of friends. She graduated from the Monroe High School several years ago and has since taught in the county schools. In this work she was quite successful.

Mr. Scales, who was recently discharged from the navy after eighteen months service as a wireless operator, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Scales of Charlotte. Most of his boyhood was spent in Monroe and he has many friends here. He now holds a responsible position with the American Telephone and Telegraph Company. Mr. and Mrs. Scales left immediately after the ceremony for Charlotte where they will make their future home.

Why Pershing Is "Black Jack."

(George MacAdam in World's Work)

There has been a good deal of mystery as to when and why Pershing got the nickname "Black Jack." He is a pronounced blond. What suggested to his foster-Christeners the label "Black"?

I have talked with army officers, old friends of Pershing, who have expressed the belief that the name was simply invented by some newspaper man who believed that a man with a picturesque career should have a picturesque handle to his name; ever since Pershing's military achievements in the Philippines put his name in the newspapers chroniclers of his doings have presented him to the public as "Black Jack" Pershing. The use of this sobriquet has always sounded a certain note of admiration, as though Pershing, the soldier, were possessed of the same deadly wallop as is that deadly little weapon whose name he shares.

To the Editor of The Journal:—Last Friday night, Monroe lodge of Masons gave a banquet to its members and to members of other Masonic lodges in Union county, in Masonic hall in Monroe.

The banquet was an annual affair and was largely attended by Masons from all parts of the county, and was highly enjoyed by all present.

Helms, and Mrs. A. L. Monroe, all of the Eastern Star, a flourishing branch of the Masonic order in Monroe.

As stated above, the banquet was highly enjoyed by all and one heard the heartiest praise and commendation from those present. The hat of every Mason is tipped to the ladies of the Eastern Star of Monroe, and especially to those who prepared and served the supper.

This meeting of the Masons of the county was the most enjoyable and successful of any of the kind ever held in the county, and Mr. C. D. Roberts, Master of Monroe lodge, is due a vote of thanks for his efforts in launching the movement, and in directing the efforts of the committees who had it in charge.—One Present.

AMERICAN SEAPLANES SAFE

N. C. 4 Landed Without Mishap—Ad Horta While the N. C. 1 Was Badly Damaged and Towed In—N. C. 3 Missing For Sixty Hours Arrived at Ponta Delgada Last Night.

The crews of the American seaplanes attempting the trans-Atlantic flight are safe but two of the machines are badly damaged and extensive repairs must be made before the next leg of the journey is begun. The N. C. 4 landed without mishap on the Island of Horta and is now groomed and waiting for favorable weather to take flight again. The N. C. 1 was forced to the open sea by a fog when a few miles of the objective point. The crew was picked up by the cruiser Columbia and the machine being badly damaged and entirely out of the race.

After weathering a 60-mile gale and heavy seas, the missing seaplane NC-3, flagship of the American naval trans-atlantic flight squadron, entered Ponta Delgada harbor Monday under her own power nearly 60 hours from the time she was forced down by fog when almost in sight of the Azores on the record-breaking flight from New Foundland for Lisbon and Plymouth, England.

Searching battleships and destroyers were scouring the seas and naval officials had all but abandoned hope for the safety of the flying ship and her crew of five when warships at Ponta Delgada saw the plane taxiing across the water headed for the flight objective in the Azores.

The story of the plucky fight the flight commander and his men were forced to make for two days and nights was not expected at navy officials realized that the aviators must have been almost exhausted when they reached their haven.

With the crew safe the matter of greatest moment was the condition of the plane and whether it would be able to continue the flight to Lisbon.

As news of Commander Tower's safety spread through the navy department, a feeling of relief followed it, for it meant that not only had 17 officers of the American army flung themselves through more than 1,200 sea miles of space in mid-ocean, but that American seaplane construction had stood the test of storm on the surface as well as having conquered the air.

It had been a saying of the service that the planes were built to ride any seas in which they could land. The NC 3 did more than that. She rode out a gale that is said to have approached a 90-mile rate at times and came serenely taxing into port having kept steadily on her general under guidance of her skilful crew.

Mishaps Worse Than War

The casualty list of men, women and children who met death by accident in the United States in the 19 months this country was at war with the Central Empires was more than twice as large as the list of American soldiers who were reported killed or missing on the battlefields, according to Frank E. Morris, field secretary of the National Safety Council.

The latest authentic figures to be obtained show that 56,227 American soldiers were killed or reported missing and more than 200,000 were injured," said Morris. Appalling as those figures are, statistics on accidents here in peaceful America, during these months show 126,564 men, women and children were killed by accidents in the home, on the streets and in the industries, while more than 2,000 so seriously injured that they lost four weeks of time or were permanently maimed.

OPENING PERFORMANCE OF CHAUTAUQUA THIS AFTERNOON

Lecture By Englishwoman—J. F. Chambers Is Superintendent In Charge.

Everything is now in readiness for the opening of the Redpath Seven Day Chautauqua this afternoon at 3:30 o'clock in the Chautauqua tent on the lot just north of the public square.

The program this year is replete with timely lectures and music of an enjoyable character. There will be addresses on such themes as "The League of Nations," "Capital and Labor," "Government Ownership of Railroads," "Freedom of the Seas," etc. Kryn and his band, Mme. Lenska, prima donna contralto, Orchestral Sextette, the Metropolitan Quartet, will be some of the musical features.

The Orchestral Sextette will be the attraction this afternoon. This company will give a diversified program, including saxophone, accordion, marimbaphone, violin and piano selections. Miss Irene Stolofsky is the director of the sextette. Miss Stolofsky is a violinist who has attained a high place among the younger artists of the country. Beatrice Arthur is another artist who features in the afternoon program. Miss Arthur is a pianist of the company but she also plays the accordion. With her brother, Edward Arthur, she appears in a marimbaphone duet.

Tonight, beginning at 8:15 o'clock, the Sextette will give a thirty minute prelude and then Miss Ada Ward will give her great lecture, "Getting Together." This lecture points out the way to a close understanding between the United States and our allies besides setting forth a story of present day conditions in France and Germany. Miss Ward came to this country from France and Germany just before the opening of her Chautauqua tour.

Miss Ward, who is an Englishwoman, spent some time in the United States during the war and her addresses at that time on her work of entertaining the soldiers at the front in France, were almost a sensation. She has the reputation of being a dynamic, magnetic speaker of great dramatic power.

The Chautauqua will be in charge of Mr. J. F. Chambers, superintendent.

NORTH CAROLINA MOST LOYAL STATE IN UNION

Has Less Than One Per Cent Foreign Born and Almost No Treasonable Propaganda During the War.

(Emerson Hough in Saturday Evening Post—Extracts.)

There is only one state on the map, North Carolina, with less than one per cent of foreign born. You would call North Carolina low in that threefold profile of immigration and prosperity last above mentioned to you, call her a backward state, True, she would be. But the records of the American Protective league would show you beyond a peradventure that North Carolina was the most loyal state in the union during the last war. She had next to nothing of treasonable propaganda of any sort. It is just a question of whether you are after so-called industrial prosperity or after real Americanism. x x x x x What have we left to give our sons? It is no more than half a loaf now. Shall we divide it continually? Have we the clear American courage to refuse longer to be the easy mark? Have we the courage to stand out for any sort of Monroe doctrine? Is this America any more? Can it again be America?

"Ah, such a country as it was! Are its remnants ours or theirs? Who are you? Are you American? With whom is your son to compete over this parte patrimony? Is it possible that you still will be content to listen to the old lulling assurances, based not on facts of today but on suppositions drawn from an outlived day?"

"It must be the fair men of America who will constitute the ultimate court to determine the treatment of the foreign element in America. All of those who retain their sympathy for Germany are enemies of this country after the war as much as they were during the war. They share in the defeat of Germany and must pay the losses of the loser. The victor decides. We are the victors. Let that foreign element reflect on that—we are the victors, not they, in this fight which they elected. It is only the man who makes the dollar his god and Ten Commandments, who will feel toward Germany in America after the war as he did before.

"In our country a few of us for many months have seen treason weighed and bought like soap or sugar. The price was ready in German gold, no matter how high. Through our colleges, our schools, our churches, Germany always intended eventually to undermine America and break down her patriotism. German speaking ministers of the gospel were uncovered in numberless A. P. L. reports as the worst enemies we had, because they preached open treason, hundreds of them."

He had eleven million dollars,
So they merged their sentiments,
Now they'd raised a son who's value
Is exactly thirty cents.
