Marriage of Miss Long to Mr. Judd.

Written for The Journal.

New Salem Baptist church was the scene of a pretty wedding last Thursday evening when Miss Ethel Long became the bride of Mr. Wallace Judd of Bridgeport, Conn.

The church was elaborately decorated for the occasion. The green and white color scheme was carried out beautifully, and potted plants and daisies were used profusely. When the notes of the bridal chorus from Lohengrin, played by Miss Mary Hamilton, sounded the wedding party entered. First to pass down the aisle was Mrs. Margaret Haywood Helms, dame of honor, dressed in dainty white organdie trimmed with ruffles, and carrying an arm bouquet of daisies tied with tulle. The bridesmaids, Misses Guyness Rape, Blanche Helms, Edna Secrest and Meade Helms, wore white organdie dresses and carried daisies. They were met at the altar by Messrs. Lawrence Long, Roy Secrest, Bertie Long and Carl Helms. The bride entered on the arm of her father, Mr. J. M. Long, and was met at the pulpit by the bridegroom, Mr. Wallace Lee Judd, who was accompanied by Mr. John N. Helms as best man, Little Miss Ave Mauro Helms, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John N. Helms, carried the ring in a single white rose, and Little Miss Fay Long, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Vera Long, carried a basket of daisies and ferns. The bride was beautiful in a snowy white dress of georgette crepe and carried a bouquet of brides roses. Her flowing veil was caught with sprays of lily of the valley. Rev. J. W. Little of Charlotte performed the ceremony. Mendelssohn's March was played at the conclusion of the service.

Mr. Judd is an attractive young lady of winning personality and is popular throughout the state. She graduated at Highsmith's Hospital, Fayetteville, in 1914 and since has been a successful nurse.

Mr. Judd is the youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Judd and is a young man of excellent character. His short stay in North Carolina has won him a host of friends who wish the couple much happiness.

After refreshments were served at the bride's home, the bridal party motored to Monroe, where Mr. and Mrs. Judd boarded the 10:20 train for northern points. After ten days they will be at their home in Bridgeport, Conn.—M. H.

North Carolina will get the national and regimental colors of the 316th Field Artillery of the 81st or "Wild Cat" Division, it was announced Friday from the Governor's office when final arrangements were made for the presentation of the colors to the state today by Col. Russell P. Reader.

Gov. T. W. Bickett Friday pardoned Ralph Charles, 20-year-old Forsyth county boy, who escaped from prison serving half of a 16 month's sentence for larceny of an automobile home after having been wounded in battle and held prisoner by the Germans until the armistice was signed.

WAREHOUSE RULES

State Board of Agriculture Adopts Measures of Governing the Act—500,000 Bushels of Wheat Exported from N. C. Last Year.

The State board of Agriculture met last week in Raleigh and adopted the following rules governing the warehouse act:

The licenses shall be issued for all period of not more than one year; the State superintendent on approval of the board of agriculture may revoke these for cause; the local manager shall give bond in the sum of $5 a bale for the maximum storage capacity of the warehouse, $1,000 being minimum and $10,000 maximum; the State warehouse superintendent shall furnish the form of receipt and 100 bale will be the maximum under this act and one man; coupons attached to cancellation receipts shall be used and coupons in excess of the capacity of the warehouse shall not be issued to the local manager; the local manager shall so arrange the cotton in the warehouses as to make visible and readily accessible the inspection and examination of bales; the records shall be kept in metal fireproof, safe, vault, or compartment, the warehouse charges must be open covenants openly arrived at and kept conspicuously displayed; if the manager handles anything except cotton it must not endanger cotton; the warehouse must be kept reasonably free from loose cotton; wet cotton must not be stored with the dry and cotton damaged by fire must not be stored until the risk of fire has been passed and the damaged cotton has been removed from the bale.

Each warehouseman shall be assessed $2 and for the actual storage of a bale of cotton there will be a charge of 5 cents a month. A commission of 5 cents will be charged for selling or disposing of cotton and a commission of one-eighth of one per cent will be charged on the gross amount of any loan negotiated with holders of receipts.

By this plan it is possible for the State to lease at a nominal sum, say of $1.00, the private property of the individual, who may in turn conduct a State system of warehousing. The State system permits a big reduction in fire insurance rates, fully 25 per cent, and furnishes advantages which more than balance the fees charged.

In North Carolina last year, Major Graham says there were 500,000 bushels of wheat for exportation, the result of agitation for food. The housewives practiced a measure of economy and ingenuity hitherto unknown.

Virgil A. Lawrence, aged 23 years, a soldier returning from France, took his own life by cutting his throat from ear to ear with a razor about midnight Friday night while a passenger on a troop train near Lexington, and his body was taken in charge by an undertaker. It is said Lawrence was in a state room at the time and was alone. His dead body was found some minutes later by comrades who reported to the officers in charge of the train.
