IT WILL PAY YOU TO

You are trying each year to improve your land and grow bigger crops at less cost.

LIME WILL HELP YOU DO THIS

Read the resolutions passed by the representatives of the Experiment Stations of the Southeastern States at their conference at Knoxville, Tenn., April 29-30, 1919.

- LIME NEEDS OF THE SOUTHEASTERN STATES.—The Agreement is unanimous that the soils of the Southeastern States are seriously deficient in lime, so that liming is essential to their most profitable development and permanent improvement.
- FINESS OF GRINDING.—The finer the limestone is ground, the greater is its immediate availability. Limestone ground to pass through a ten mesh screen, all finer particles included, is recommended for the common application of two tons per acre.
- QUANTITY AND FREQUENCY OF APPLICATION.—For general use we recommend an application of one to two tons of ground limestone per acre, or one-half that amount of burnt lime, once in a rotation of not more than five years.
- LIMING AND CROP ROTATION.—Liming is most profitable in those rotations in which legumes are prominent, but, over large areas in these States, especially on the heavier types of soil, liming is profitable for corn, small grains and grasses.
- LIME AND FERTILIZERS.—With soils poor in potash and phosphate, liming gives best results only when supplemented by materials carrying these constituents.
