THANK GOD FOR THE RIGHT TO STRIKE, SAYS J. L. LEWIS

This is the Acting President of the Coal Workers Answer to the Statement of President Wilson.

President Wilson, on the eve of a great coal strike, said that the proposed action of the miner's strike, called for Nov. 1, is unjustifiable and unlawful, and in reply, John L. Lewis, acting president of the United Mine Workers, issued the following: "I am an American, free born, with all the pride of my heritage. I love my country with its institutions and traditions. With Abraham Lincoln, I thank God that we have a country where men may strike. May the power of the government never be used to throttle and crush the efforts of the toilers to improve their material welfare and elevate the standard of their citizenship."

MISSING AIRMEN MURDERED BY TWO MEXICAN FISHERMEN

Connolly and Waterhouse Went Nineteen Days Without Food—Story Too Horrible for Publication Withheld.

It was officially announced at San Diego Cal., Sunday night that Lieutenants Cecil H. Connolly of San Diego and F. P. Waterhouse of Weiser, Idaho, army aviators, missing since August 21, were slain in lower California by two Mexican fishermen. The announcement was made upon arrival in San Diego of the destroyer Aaron Ward, bringing the bodies of the two aviators from Bahia Los Angeles, on the Gulf of Lower California, to which point they had flown after losing their way in a border patrol flight from Yuma, Ariz., to San Diego.

The destroyer also brought a part of a story of the suffering endured by the young aviators, in the form of notes scrawled in part on the wings and fuselage of the DeHaviland airplane in which Connolly and Waterhouse made their last flight. Some of these messages, evidently written when the aviators had almost lost hope of being found, were of such a tragic nature that Major Bratton asked the newspaper reporters to refrain from using them, out of consideration for the officers' families.

Major Bratton said that the two aviators had gone 19 days without food, or at least without much to sustain them. The fate that drew them far from their air path remained with them until the very last. Major Theodore MacAuley, in one of his flights to find them, flew with sixty miles of the spot where they stood guarding their plane. Later, on the afternoon of September 6, they were landed from a canoe on the shore of Bahia Los Angeles by the same fishermen who are accused of having killed them five days later, and at that time were only 12 miles from Los Flores Silver mine where they might have received protection and food.

ALBERT PLACES WREATH ON ROOSEVELT'S GRAVE

Under Leadon Skies Belgian Monarch Pays Tribute to Memory of Great American.

King Albert of the Belgians placed a wreath upon the grave of Roosevelt Sunday. There were few to see the simple ceremony for the skies were leaden and his majesty passed through Long Island almost unrecognized.

The king and the little party who accompanied him were met at the gates of Young's Memorial cemetery in Oyster Bay by Lieutenant Colonel Theodore Roosevelt, who escorted the Belgian monarch to the plot where lies the former president. Albert strode up the slope carrying on his right arm a huge wreath in the colors of his country—yellow chrysanthemums and dark red asters—tied with a wide black ribbon.

The king and eldest son of the great American went alone inside the iron gate which bars the way against intruders. The monarch stooped and laid the flowers reverently upon the grave. Then he stood for a few moments, cap in hand, gazing at the simple granite slab which bears the name of Theodore Roosevelt, bowed deeply and stepped backward outside the fence. The little procession led by the king, which included Rear Admiral Andrew T. Long and Major General William W. Wright, walked slowly down the hillside and entered motor cars which carried them to S. Samore Hill. There they were ushered into the famous trophy rooms, where Albert was welcomed by the widow of Colonel Roosevelt who chatted with him in his own tongue.

SAYS HIS WIFE CALLED HIM AN "OLD GRAY HAIR LIAR"

Major Graham Tells of Being Locked Out of Home After He Had Gone Away Seeking Peace.

Major W. A. Graham, North Carolina's commissioner of agriculture has just filed his answer in the suit by his wife, who was Miss Sallie Clark, sister of Chief Justice Walter Clark, in which she charges abandonment and demands an alimony allowance of $150 per month, which Commissioner Graham pleads is out of proportion to his income from salary and plantation near Charlotte.

The answer is filed through his counsel, Attorney General J. S. Manning and Armistead Jones and son. It is a lengthy document, setting out a most unhappy matrimonial state in which he pleads that he has striven by every possible concession to conciliate.

Answering her charge that he abandoned her he writes that he endured harsh treatment and abuses, including charges that he was an "old gray-haired liar," and only left their home on an evening specified for the relief of a much needed night's rest and on returning the next day found his suitcase with clothing and personal effects on the front porch. Attempting to let himself in with his night latch key, he found the door locked against him; from the inside with Mrs. Graham at home. He therefore emphatically denies the charge of abandonment and pleads that her demands as to an allowance are more than his financial condition would justify.

It is understood that there will be a superior court hearing in chambers first as to any temporary allowance for Mrs. Graham pending the jury trial of the main suit to be had later.

Common sense extracts more solid comfort from life than genius does. All men are good—good for something or good for nothing. Girls dress fashionably rather than sensibly.
