Rev. T. J. Huggins will preach at Unionville next Sunday at 11 o'clock, Gilboa at 3:30 p. m., and at Oakland school house at 8 p. m.

Honorable Robert N. Page, Democratic candidate for governor, will speak at the court house Tuesday speak in the courthouse in Monroe Tuesday night, May 1.

The action to Mr. G. L. Nisbet, secretary of the chamber of Commerce, in refusing to contest the census returns, has been indorsed by the directors of his organization.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry McDonald attended commencement exercises of the Charlotte High School last week, where their niece, Miss Marguerite McDonald, graduated. Miss McDonald is visiting Mr. and Mrs. McDonald.

During the period between 1900 and 1910, Monroe's population increased 1,659, a gain of 68.2 per cent. This gain, in a measure, offsets the disappointment over the poor showing made during the past ten years.

The Haven Ice Cream Company made its first delivery of cream Saturday morning. The product was pronounced by hundreds of Monroe people to be the best they had ever tasted.

There will be a reunion of the family of Mrs. Lou Richardson at the home of her son, Mr. J. Wesley Richardson in Buford township, June 5th. All friends and relatives are invited to be present.

Haskell Bivens, Marshville's twelve year old prodigy, was in Monroe yesterday for the purpose of claiming the $20 gold piece, which he won for writing the best essay in the school contest.

Does advertising pay? Read the following letter to The Journal from Mr. S. M. Knight, of Monroe, R. F. D. No. 1: "Please stop my ad. I've more orders for potato plants than I can fill in two years."

Just for the novelty of it, Mr. Lee Griffin, the well-known Monroe grocer, gave away ten $1 bills Saturday which he will redeem next Saturday at $1.50 each. In his advertisement in this issue, he gives the numbers of the bills which he will redeem.

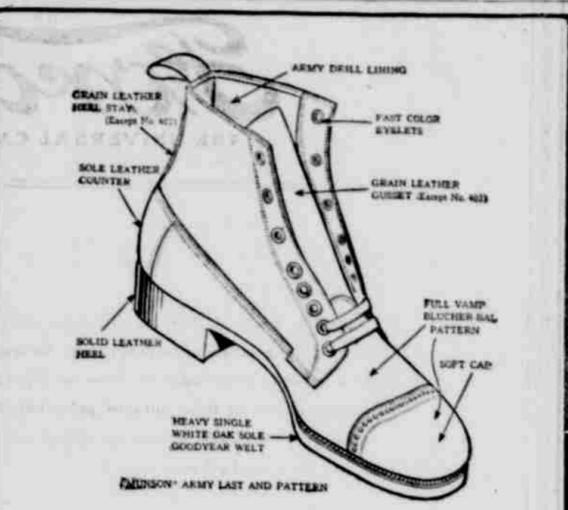

Mr. Zeb McMillan, who is assisting in the management of Mr. J. C. M. Yarn's campaign for Congress, spent Sunday in Hoke county. Though not on a political mission, he found Mr. Yarn had numbers of warm supporters, and from what he heard Union county's candidate will carry Hoke by a comfortable majority.

Mr. O. C. Laney was carried to Charlotte this morning for expert surgical attention in the hope of saving the sight of his left eye, which was impaired when struck by a nail early today. He was attempting to drive the nail in a piece of hardwood at the brick plant at Stouts when it glanced and hit him.

Esq. Henry McWhorter, the famous Democratic war horse of Jackson, filed notice of his candidacy for the Legislature last Saturday afternoon. The primary is now closed to other possible candidates, and the race for the various offices will be between the following: For Sheriff, Raymond C. Griffin, Frank Benton, Clifford Fowler, W. H. Pressley and Russell Rogers; for legislature, Esq. Henry McWhorter, Frank Lumerick, Earl Ezell, and C. J. Brassfield; for Coroner, W. T. DeLaney, and T. B. Davis; and for cotton weigher at Waxhaw, D. F. Short and Will Crow. The candidates for the other offices, inasmuch as they have no opposition, have been declared nominated by the county board of elections.

The commencement of the high school will begin Friday evening at 8:30 when the Class Day exercises will be given in the graded school auditorium. The graduating class is the largest in several years, numbering twenty-one. The class roll is as follows:

Mrs. Gilmor Joyce was a delightful hostess last Friday afternoon to about thirty guests. On the tables arranged for rook were placed bowls containing rackets, robins, sweet peas, sweet Williams and Shasta daisies, the home presenting a beautiful scene. Mrs. Joyce was assisted in serving sandwiches, iced tea, cream and cake by Mesdames Hargrove Bowles and Irving Stack.

Miss Mary English, June bride-elect, was the honor guest at a bride party given last Friday afternoon by Miss Evelyn Smith, Miss Agnes Pratt, of Madison, house guest of Miss English, shared the honors. Other present were Misses Ruth and Jennie Russell, Octavia Houston, Lillian and Rebecca Stack, Ruth and Wilma Green, Virginia Lee, Sarah Welsh, Julia Fitzwater, Mary Griffith, Mollie Iceman, and Jo Neal; Mesdames L. H. Couch of Pontiac, Mich., H. H. Milton, Frank Rose, C. W. Bacon of Mt. Holly and Guy Nelson of Monkton, Md., after several rubbers of bridge were played each guest was given a small heart-shaped box filled with rice and the bride-to-be was showered. Miss English, who is a petite and attractive young woman was charming on this occasion; gowned in pink tricolette combined with georgette, elaborately embroidered in lavender wool and beads, and wearing a large leghorn hat and a corsage of pink roses. The hostess presented the honor guest a beautiful pair of silk hose. A salad course, iced tea and mints was served.

Miss Frances Green, little daughter of Dr. and Mrs. E. S. Greene, entertained a number of little friends at a movie party Saturday afternoon, the occasion being her tenth birthday. The following guests were present: Misses Christine Peake, Johnnie Belk, Celeste Armfield, Elizabeth Miller Caldwell, Frances Shute, Mary Myers Faulkner, Helen and Chattie Cason, Ruby Snyder, Margaret Dixon, Louie, Jane Austin, Betsy and Asha Bennett Sikes. After an hour at the Strand the little folks adjourned to Simpson's tea room where they were served delicious refreshments. The young hostess received a number of attractive birthday gifts.

Mr. and Mrs. A. P. Hill and Miss Rosa Carrier, of Charlotte, spent Sunday the guests of Mr. and Mrs. T. L. Crowell at their home on West Jefferson street.

"Meet is it changes should control Our being, lest we rust in ease, We are all changed by still degrees, All but the bastis of the soul."
 Tennyson must have had the twentieth century woman in mind when he wrote those lines, and the members of Sorosis Club who met with Mrs. W. A. Lane Wednesday afternoon demonstrated by their interest in questions of the hour and their knowledge of politics, that they are not willing to "rust in ease." Sorosis has been studying citizenship for women, the past winter, the subject for Wednesday being "The State Department: Judicial Department." Roll call was answered by very interesting and instructive current events in this and other countries which is always one of the most important features of the club meetings. Mrs. J. Frank Laney read the only paper of the afternoon, "The State Judiciary." This includes municipal, juvenile, supreme, superior, and special courts, judges of various courts, election, tenure, duties, salary, etc. Mrs. Jas. A. Stewart, president of the club, and Mrs. D. A. Houston, who attended the State federation in Charlotte, both gave most interesting accounts of the meeting, and in addition to supporting an Armenian orphan the club is pledged on the two scholarships for social service of the State University. The outstanding feature of the afternoon was the lecture by our brilliant young townsman, Mr. John Parker. His subject was Jurisdiction and Procedure of Our State Courts. He gave a very clear, concise outline of court procedure and gave the women an idea what suffrage will mean to them. Needless to say he had the apt attention of all present, but we fear he lost some votes by running away before refreshments saying he could not face so many "Fair Women" (Tennyson, again, please) alone. A delicious buffet luncheon was served by the hostess assisted by her charming daughter, Miss Mabel Lane. Visitors for the afternoon were Mesdames: Geo. S. Lee, W. C. Crowell, Rosecoe Phifer, J. A. Douglas and J. J. Parker—Reporter.

Mr. Henry Crow attended the commencement exercises of the State College in Raleigh this week.

Misses Hessie Boger, Bonnie Hagler, Ona and Eula Whitley of Unionville have returned home from Queens College. Miss Ona Whitley was one of the sixteen to graduate there this year.

Miss Evelyn Price, who has been in school at Queens College, has returned home.

Mrs. Mike Hudson and little son returned to their home in Denver, Colorado, this morning. Miss Mabel Belk accompanied them and will spend some time in the West.

Mrs. Dora Sanders, Mrs. W. E. Cason, Misses Caroline Cason and Beatrice Fairley will attend the commencement exercises at Porter Military Academy in Charleston. Messrs. Sikes Sanders and Worth Redwine are members of the graduating class at that institution. Miss Fairley is sponsor to Company A. of the Porter battalion.

Mrs. J. C. Daughtridge of Rocky Mount is visiting her father, Dr. J. M. Belk. Mr. Daughtridge spent Sunday in Monroe.

Elder O. J. Denny will preach at Union Grove Primitive Baptist church next Sunday at 11 o'clock.

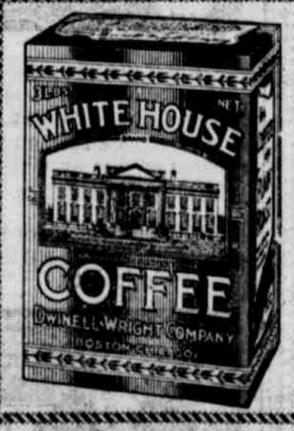

The engagement of Miss Maude S. Hoyle to Rev. N. S. Ogburn was announced Saturday afternoon at a delightful party given by Mrs. W. F. Rucker at her home in Charlotte. The wedding will take place about the middle of June and after a trip to northern cities and Canada Mr. Ogburn and bride will sail for Japan. The party, which was unusual and unique in every detail, is described as follows by the Charlotte Observer:

"The living room was arranged with a profusion of red roses. Progressive rook was played and Miss Fannie Flenning won the top score. After the game the guests were invited into the dining room, which was elaborately decorated with roses, smilax and English ivy. The sun parlor adjoining the dining room was arranged with quantities of red roses and hanging baskets of ferns and bright-colored flowers. Misses Lucille Manning, Mary Edwards and Helen Barnett, dressed in Japanese costume, sat on the floor in a corner of the room under a large Japanese parasol and sang Japanese songs with ukulele accompaniment. The table was set with hand-painted mats brought from Japan by Mr. Ogburn. A Japanese parasol was suspended from the chandelier over the table and from it hung bright-colored ribbons and at each end was attached small Japanese lanterns bearing the following inscription: "M. S. H. - N. S. O., June." These were given as favors. Standing in the center of the table beneath the parasol was a miniature bride and bridegroom. The little girls in Japanese costume assisted in serving ice cream, cake and confections. After toasting the bride-elect in happy fashion Mrs. J. L. Hoyle sang "The Sweetest Story Ever Told." She was accompanied by Miss Carson Yates, niece of Mr. Ogburn. Mrs. Tucker received her guests in a gown of white crepe de chine and corsage of white roses and ferns. Miss Hoyle, the bride-elect, was handsome in a gown of blue georgette elaborately beaded and picture hat to match. She wore a corsage of Russell roses and ferns.

"The bride-elect is the youngest daughter of the late Rev. M. H. Hoyle and Mrs. Hoyle. She was graduated from the North Carolina College for Women and is a young woman of bright mentality. She has the distinction of having been matron of the chapter of the Order of the Eastern Star and grand matron of North Carolina. For the past several years Miss Hoyle has been a director of the Masonic and Eastern Star home at Greensboro. She is widely known in the state and is admired by a host of friends.

"Mr. Ogburn is a son of Mr. and Mrs. N. S. Ogburn of Monroe. He was graduated from Trinity College and Vanderbilt university and the Moody Bible institute. For the past seven years he has been missionary to Japan, where he has accomplished a great work."
