WINGATE SCHOOL MASTER RETURNS TO FIRST LOVE

HE REVIVES COLONEL AMOS OWEN'S FAMOUS OLD PAPER

Investigator of the Cherry Tree Scheme Received a Sentence of 99 Years in Federal Prison.

Cherry Mountain, Oct. 23, 1920. To the Editor of The Journal:—As you will perceive, I have abandoned the wielding of birch limbs, barrel staves, harness tugs and other educational helps and returned to journalism, my first love.

Twenty-five years ago, Col. Amos Owens and I launched a journalistic enterprise, known as "The Cherry Mountain Meataxe." The redoubtable colonel was a unique figure who had helped make history as a brave Confederate soldier, as a leader in the "Ku Klux Klan," and surrounded his undying fame with a halo of martial glory as a boozing artist that defied Uncle Sam with his minions known as red-legged grasshoppers. For making odious negroes and undesirable white people with "red string" predilections feel the stringing lash of the avenger, he was sentenced to Albany Federal prison for ninety-nine years, and, besides, drew five of six thousand dollars. Through the intercession of the gifted Plato Durham, in a personal interview with President U. S. Grant, the fine was remitted and the term of imprisonment reduced to eighteen months. He came home as much of an unreconstructed rebel as Bob Toombs of Georgia, and consigned the "Government," with all its minions, to the infernal and cloven-footed gods with all the rancor of the conspirator Cataline. He made whiskey standard-proof but not tax-paid; until he served two more terms at Albany. Besides this, he and I together have been in every jail in two Carolinas. I was in Shelby jail twice as foreman of the grand jury, and Amos has been in all the rest. He had nine stills destroyed, but, phoenix-like, another worm of the still, out-xenomed all the worms of the Nile,—would emerge from the ashes,—and when the first fiery shots poured from the spiral receptacle the bibulous sang, "Come thou fount of every blessing." Being on staff of a leading daily, I made many peripatations to his Cherry Mountain Hotel, where the famous black heart cherry attained its perfection in size and flavor; and its juice mixed with proof whiskey formed a very militant beverage.

Pilgrims from the Carolinas, Georgia and Virginia made this their shrine, and when under influence of "Bounce," like the colored troops at a Shelby circus; fought nobly. My seeking local color gave the place and management considerable notoriety, which first caused the doughty colonel to cuss a series of blue streaks. But when Charlotte, Greensboro, Raleigh and Wilmington sent delegates to those scenes of revelry, coin of the realm bulged his coffers, men called him "Colonel Amos," and deposited that I had spread his fame throughout their borders. Then a change came over the vision of his dreams. First, he desired that I write his life and adventures, prison and otherwise, into a book, which I did. This was published, and he peddled them to the people who desired a copy. Having a taste of fame, he wanted to launch a semi-weekly journal. He could not read and write; but had views, strictly in keeping with the democratic party and with tenets and traditions of the Methodist, Baptist and Presbyterian churches. He had made forty-eight professions of religion and had repeatedly joined all these denominations; but exercised the Methodist prerogative of falling from grace. He furnished the capital and I the experience but we changed stock in a few months, he having plenty of experience.

At that time cash was not very plentiful, but we took cord wood, honey, tar, beeswax, dried fruit, chickens, eggs; and made change in corn whiskey and cherry bounce.

We favored good roads, good schools, game laws, woman suffrage and a dog tax. Politically, our democracy was orthodox. At the untimely age of eighty-eight, Colonel Amos Owens crossed the great divide, and we had, as assets, fifty barrels of dried apples, seventy-five cords of tan bark, a carload of ancient butter, two hogheads of honey, a hundred and fifty pairs of home-knit socks, four carloads of mica and monazite, and no demand for anything but corn whiskey, which had come where the woodbine twineth. Recently, this paper has been revived as a militant organ of democracy. We have registered every white woman between the ages of eighteen and ninety-eight, and all are for Jim Cox and Cam Morrison. All swear by reevaluation, and subscribe to creed that Woodrow Wilson stands next to Washington. While none of us figured on militant spellbinders when the throbbing drum and stirring bugle were heard in 1917; and then slunk out, stayed at home and ran for office; all our boys helped smash the Hindenburg line, drove kaiser Wilhelm into exile; and now, by the eternal, we mean to put the League of Nations over the top and proclaim the year of "Jubilo."

As editor of this militant democratic journal, who reads papers from several states; I wish somebody would break the news to the office-seeking contingent of Shelby that I am aware that we have an election on November 2nd, 1920, that all our "wimpering" have registered, and that we are "still-a-rollin'" for Cam Morrison and Jim Cox. Every day or two some wild-eyed elector tells me, by mail, in pathetic verbiage, that the election transpires on Tuesday, November 2nd, 1920; and for God's sake get the "wimpering" registered. I was for woman suffrage when my censors were puking and pulling in the superstitions of the dark ages, and consigning woman to the customs of China, Korea and Turkey. Besides, I have not quite such a family as King Solomon, Brigham Young and the sultan of Morocco.

Is more worthy of confidence. Than one you know nothing about. Endorsed by unknown people. Mrs. E. P. Garland, 504 Altafa St She says: "The first symptom of kidney trouble I noticed was a dull, bearing-down pain through my back. It made me feel tired out and run down. When I tried to bend over and straighten, a sharp pain would shoot through my back. I got dizzy and everything would turn black before me. Often I got nervous and had such severe headaches, I could hardly stand them. My ankles swelled, too. Mornings I felt all tired out, sore and lame. My kidneys didn't act properly, either. Doan's Kidney Pills are what cured me of this suffering and I only had to use a few, too. I haven't had to take this remedy since."

Price 60c, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mrs. Garland had. Foster-Milburn Co., Mfrs., Buffalo, N. Y.
