LOCAL INTELLIGENCE

Latest Happenings In and Around Monroe.

The services at Roanoke church have been changed from the fourth Saturday and Sunday in each month to the first, beginning next Sunday. The pastor, Rev. K. W. Hogan will preach at eleven o'clock a. m. The public is cordially invited.

Mr. John W. McCorkle, who has been in Rockingham for some time, has returned to Monroe to assume local management of the Monroe Market and Dairy Co. Mr. McCorkle has had years of experience in the meat business. He will be glad to have his friends call on him.

Mr. T. L. Crowell returned yesterday from a business trip to West Palm Beach and Tampa, Fla.

Aldermen "Fundy," "Spikes," "McGray," "Hinson," "Sheath," "Lumberneck," and "Baust," will discuss politics in the minstrel staged at the Strand theatre this evening by young Monroe men. Other features are: "What did Deacon Jones do when the Lights Went Out," Nick and Alex Laney; "O Death, Where Is Thy Sting," R. G. Laney; and "Don't Take Away Those Blues," Herndon Hasty. The second scene is "A Busy Night in the Greasy Spoon Restaurant."

Mr. R. C. Griffin requests The Journal to say that he has received a supply of blanks for making application for loans in the Farm Loan Bank.

Mr. Vann Parker has resumed his studies at the University after passing Easter with his father, Esq. B. F. Parker of Lanes Creek township.

The ground is being broken for the erection of a large brick building on the old Dargan lot near the railroad for the occupancy of the Henderson Roller Mills.

A 15-ounce onion, grown on Mr. W. S. Krauss' Florida farm, is on exhibition at the English Drug Co. The former Monroe man says that this big onion is one from a half acre patch of which he has already sold $500 worth.

Major W. C. Heath, organizer and first president of the American cotton manufacturers association, an organization that probably represents more wealth than any other in this country, has been asked to write reminiscences of his administration for the Textile World. This he has agreed to do, and his first article is expected to appear in an early issue of the World.

Mr. B. D. Belk, son of Mr. S. E. Belk of Lanes Creek township, suffered a severe attack of ptomaine poison here Tuesday afternoon, caused from eating fish and pie at a local cafe. For a time it was thought the attack would prove fatal, but the young man rallied, and all danger is said to have passed. He is now convalescing at the home of Mr. and Mrs. T. C. Houston. Mr. Belk is a splendid young man. He saw service in the late war.

Margaret Thompson, Dorris Braswell and Fred Brunson made the honor roll in Mrs. R. W. Lemmond's kindergarten school last month.

A large still with a capacity of about seventy gallons was captured at a place about four miles from Monroe yesterday by Constable C. L. Gullidge. Later in the day Chief of Police J. W. Spoon and Mr. Gullidge found two barrels of beer in the same vicinity.

Arnsfield's stable, an ancient landmark, is being torn down, and the old court house is slated to soon follow.

Rev. C. S. Evans of Columbia Seminary will preach at Beulah Presbyterian church next Sunday at 11 a. m.; at Salem at 3 p. m., and Pageland at 7:30 p. m.

The chamber of commerce presented good arguments for the hard-surfacing of Union county's link of the Wilmington to Charlotte highway, and those who went to lay the matter before Mr. Wood, the highway commissioner from this district, have reason to believe that we will get one of the first contracts let under the state's road administration charged with the expenditure of the $50,000,000 worth of road bonds voted by the last legislature. When construction work is started farmers along the highway will find a veritable bonanza in their midst. Thousands and thousands of dollars will be spent for rock alone, it is reported, and the contractors will also probably be in the market for local corn and forage.

A court with no lawyers, no cases and no witnesses was held here Wednesday afternoon when Clerk of Court R. W. Lemmond and Sheriff Clifford Fowler, in compliance with an old statute opened and then closed court, with Mr. Lemmond sitting in the Judge's swivel chair. When a term of court is set, and the Judge does not appear, the law requires the Sheriff to open and adjourn court for four days unless the Judge arrives before this time. Judge Ray, it will be remembered, postponed this court until Thursday to permit Monroe lawyers to complete a case in Charlotte.

Rev. Mr. Underwood will preach at Siler Sunday at 3 p. m. All officers of the church are requested to be present. The Sunday school hour for that day has been changed to 2 p. m.

A well-known citizen of Stanly has a very wonderful dog, says the Albemarle News-Herald. The pup shows to be less than a year old, is a common yellow mongrel, yet when it comes to locating a moonshine plant, he has the wisest officer of the law beaten to a frazzle. It came about in this way: The pup came to the man's house, a few weeks ago, a homeless waif, and the man being of a very compassionate nature, decided he could stay so long as he remained harmless. No sooner had the pup begun to feel at home with his new master than the call of the wild began to assert itself once more, and he went back to his old habit of rambling at night but always returned about nine o'clock in the morning. The master noticed that he always came home as full as a tick and entirely lacking in the appetite which had heretofore been ravenous. However, but little attention was paid until once when the pup came home, full, as usual, and began to attack the man's hens, apparently just for the love of destruction, the master decided that it was time to administer a sound whipping to his dogship, but on catching the pup for that purpose, on his breath was detected the fragrance of the night's quest. The pup was then confined for a few days and let go, and sure enough after sniffing the air a bit, he struck a bee line for the nearest moonshine plant. The truth was out, that the pup while homeless had imbibed the alcoholic habit from eating of the slop where it was being prepared for use, or after it had been used and the waste poured out.

SOCIAL

Mrs. Frank Reeder entertained at a "spend-the-day" party Wednesday in honor of Mrs. H. G. Doster, the occasion being her birthday. After luncheon the guests played games and did fancy work. Mrs. Doster was presented with a dainty package by the guests. Those present were: Mesdames Holmes Morris, L. T. Winchester, W. P. Hinson, R. G. Hinson, J. G. Jewell, H. G. Doster, Mrs. W. M. Plyler, and Miss Nora Lee Price of Siler.

The following teachers of the city schools spent the Easter holidays at their respective homes: Miss Dunn at Albemarle, Miss King at Wilmington, Miss Ratlife at Wadesboro, Miss McIntyre at Troy and Miss Mundy at Denver.

Mrs. Sumpter Lawton of Charleston and Miss Hannah Blair, who is at home for the spring holidays from a New York school, were joint honorees at a delightful bridge party Tuesday afternoon given by Mrs. B. C. Ashcraft. Mrs. John Blair and Mrs. S. O. Blair presided over the punch bowl about which were arranged masses of white iris and bridal wreaths. Huge baskets of purple iris were also used as decorations. Miss Mabel Shannon assisted the hostess in serving delicious fruit salad, sandwiches, tea, wafers and candies. The guests were: Mesdames Lawton, John Blair, S. O. Blair, E. S. Greene, V. D. Sikes, Loula Shannon, J. B. Simpson, Ben Wolfe, F. G. Henderson, R. L. Payne, V. H. Wood, Victor Hamilton, J. D. Warren, Gilliam Craig, J. A. Stewart, Misses Octavia Houston, Adeline Crow and Mabel Shannon.

Mrs. B. C. Ashcraft was again a charming hostess at bridge Wednesday morning. Delightful refreshments were served to the following guests: Mesdames Charles Leeman, Ella Houston, Frank Lander, J. J. Parker, Hargrove Bowles, W. S. Baskerville, G. B. Caldwell, Frank Rose, Dunham Bundy, W. E. Cason, Misses Jean Ashcraft and Mary Griffith. Mrs. J. A. Stewart assisted the hostess.

Mrs. John Fairley was a gracious hostess to the Tuesday afternoon club this week. Rook was the game of the afternoon. Special guests adding to the afternoon's pleasure were Mesdames H. M. Barrier, Bowie, A. M. Secrest, R. L. Payne, Frank Fairley, G. B. Caldwell, Wriston Lee, C. C. Stokes and E. S. Greene. The hostess served a tempting luncheon consisting of chicken salad, sandwiches, wafers, pickles, coffee and delicious home made candy.

Mrs. Will Plyler and Miss Nora Lee Price of the Siler community are spending the week with Mrs. Holmes Morris.

Oklahoma's Governor Under Number of Charges.

Gross neglect of duty and corruption in office are charged against Governor J. B. A. Robertson, of Oklahoma, in the report of an investigating committee submitted to the legislature Wednesday at Oklahoma City. Impeachment proceedings are recommended.

The report charges the governor also with "unwarranted use of his executive power" in regard to reprieves, pardons and paroles, declaring the present administration has extended clemency to 1,900 persons. The charge also is made in the report that the governor evaded payment of his state income tax.

The report further charges there were "rumors of evidence that the governor's method of clemency resulted in the efforts on the part of certain attorneys to receive good fees in pressing cases for clemency."

The man who can referee a football game and please both sides can figure on a reserved seat in the front row of the heavenly orchestra.
