Like a Whiff of Mignonette and Lavender are the Gentle Thoughts and Humor of Mrs. Knox Hargette

ful Tribute to the "Corra Harris" of No. Carolina

HAILS HER AS A "BLITHE SPIRIT" OF ALL THE AGES

By Mrs. Lina Covington Harrell As fragrant as a whiff of migno-nette and lavender from an old garden come the gentle thoughts and delicate humor of Mrs. Knox Wolfe-Hargette. Crowned with a silver halo, a gift of generous years, her face a clear reflection of the active mind and pure, warm heart within, she stands symbolic of the things we reverence in mature womanhood.

One who mellows with the experience of life, storing a wisdom that cares and understands, never censorious, but kindly and helpfully tolerant of impetuous youth, and enriching all with a delectable sense of humor, proves anew that,

"Age is not all decay; it is the rip-ening, the swelling of fresh life with-in that withers and bursts the husk."

How gladly should youth gather at the feet of such a one, and go with her back thru memory's lanes into the days when life was perhaps not the days when life was perhaps not so hazardous nor exciting as at present, but was, nevertheless, filled to the brim with the things that made characters strong and brave souls lofty. Timidly, yet with eager, compassionate eyes, do the older ones stand amidst the swirl of the present, yearning to raise as a shield the wisdom of their deepest experiences between life and the untutored young; to heaters the heating oil of their symto bestow the healing oil of their sympathies upon the wounds they could not prevent, and coax the smiles to a tearful eye with quaint anecdotes of bygone days. The gifts they bring us are priceless, but so many times are thoughtlessly spurned.

How happy then, for one to rise in our midst, endowed with a profusion of the most desirable virtues of her years, to reconcile the wayfarers of the murdered child of baptism and years, to reconcile the wayfarers of the murdered child of baptism and years, to reconcile the wayfarers of the murdered child of baptism and the murder c years, to reconcile the wayfarers of each age that their days may be richer and fuller for the sweet communion. "Marriage and Birth Control," the second sermon of the series to be preached by the Rev. Father Regi-nald, Catholic missioner, drew an audience of various denominations to the court house last night. Just as The Journal goes to press news comes that there will be no second primary for the nomination of county officers. Mr. C. J. Braswell served notice yesterday that he would not ask for a second primary in the race for the legislature, and the fol-lowing statement from Mr. W. D. Bivens, candidate for county com-missioner and high man in the race, clears the board unless Mr. J. S. Contest Between A. M. Stack and W. E. Brock Close, But Heavy Union Vote Saved Day for County Man

MRS. CROWELL MADE FINE RUN AFTER THE MISUNDERSTANDING

Official counts in all the counties in this judicial district give Hon. A. M. Stack, Union county's candidate, a majority over Judge Walter E. Brock of 286 which makes Mr. Stack the numinee. Mr. Brock's majority in Anson was 1,989, in Scotland 115, in Richmond 361, in Moore 471, in Stanly 185, giving him a majority of 3,121 over Mr. Stack when he came to Union county, but Mr. Stack's home county rolled up a majority of 4,303 which puts him across. The above figures from the other counhowever, been changed by later reports and the vote as canvassed by boards of elections give Mr. Stack a majority in the distriet of 286 as stated above.

For solicitor F. D. Phillips Jacked something less than one thousand votes in the district being nominated over his three opponents, Messrs. Russell, Nash and Tariton, Mr. Philips and Mr. Russell will make the race over unless Mr. Russell withdraws from the contest.

County Vote

W. C. Heath received 3025 against his opponent, W. P. Kendall's 1259, and he therefore becomes the nominee for state renate.

For representative J. F. Milliken lead the ticket and lacked a few hundred votes being nominated. The next highest man, Mr. C. J. Mr. Milliken and his friends feel that Mr. Braswell has done the magnanimous thing and they hold a kindly feeling toward him for taking the broad view of the situation that he has chosen.

For sheriff Clifford Fowler was r nominated over his opponent, Joel H. Myers, by a big majority. Mr. Myers a splendid gentleman and Sheriff Fowler ought to feel complimented to have won over so good a man as Mr. Myers.
