VERY REMARKABLE FAMILY HOLDS ENJOYABLE REUNION

Mr. W. G. Long Celebrates Eightieth Birthday and His Eleven Children Lend Enchantment to It

Church Sunday for Services

Mr. W. G. Long celebrated his eightieth birthday Wednesday with a reunion of his large family at the old homestead nine miles north of Monroe, in Goose Creek township. Mr. and Mrs. Long have eleven children living and they were all present at the reunion. They are, Rev. James Long, pastor of the First Baptist church in Honea Path, S. C.; Mr. Mark Long who lives with his father at the old homestead; Prof. Hugh Long, prinspansion of the center of Franklin street when the truck, which was running east on the north side of the street. The completely around and dragged it against the sidewalk on the north side of the street. The car was being driven by Mr. Lee and was occupied by Mrs. McRae, mother of Mr. W. P. McRae of Rockingham, who married Miss Virginia Lee, daughter of Mr.G. S. Lee, Mrs. Stancil of Rockingham, Mrs. Leak of homestead; Prof. Hugh Long, prin-cipal of a graded school in the eastern part of the state; Mrs. Lula Uzzle of Wilson's Mill, N. C.; Mrs. Henry Buf-falo of Garner, N. C; Mrs. Marvin Wilson's Company of the state; Mrs. Lula Uzzle of his left side and it is believed that three ministers are among the best known in the two Carolinas and they hold excellent charges in the great Bantist church.

Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Long are rather they have labored and saved and have the personal injury received by its through their industry and thrift managed to earn a good living for the big family and what is most unthe big family and what is most un-usual they gave college diplomas to ten of the eleven children. When Sam-uel, the last of the ten to graduate, received his diploma at Wake Forest College Dr. Poteat called for the father and mother of the large fam-ily of children and stood them up in front of the large audience and pointed with pride to the parents of ten children that had been given a college education.

Another remarkable thing about this remarkable family is that the forty children, grandchildren and inlaws are all perfect in health and are enjoying life to the fullest extent.

Yielding to the requests of people from various sections of the county, this very unusual family will gather next Sunday at the old home church, Hopewell, in Goose Creek township, and the Long brothers will have charge of the services. A picnic din-ner will be served on the church grounds and services will be held in the morning and afternoon.
Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Long, father and mother of this fine family of children, are aged but strong and healthy and their hosts of friends hope for them many more such happy occasions.

NO SERVICE AFFORDS THE PLEASURE PUBLIC SERVICE

Modern Society Exemplifying Truth Enunciated Centuries Ago That No Man Liveth to Himself

OF COMMUNITY LIFE

With All Their Culture and Devotion Greek Cities Came to Downfall Through Narrow Conception.

(By R. F. Beasley in Goldsboro News) The New York Times is considered the most complete newspaper in the world. Its owner, Mr. Adolph Ochs, said in a speech the other day to an advertising club in his old home should be directed with a view to benefit the community indirectly, as well as the individual. And then Mr. Ochs

"There is no service in the world that gives you the pleasure the pub-lic service does, and doing your duty as a citizen in the town."

Modern society is exemplifying the truth enunciated in the scriptures many, many centuries ago, that no man liveth unto himself.

All serious minded men have a major purpose in life. To the average man his private business, whatever it may be, is necessarily his major purpose. But why should not all men have a minor purpose in some form of public service? Psychologists sometimes a vise very busy men to adopt a hobey as a relaxation. Why should a man's hobby not be some forms of useful community enterprise rather than a purely selfish hobby.

The world is coming to the point of expecting something from men who have the ability and the opportunity to be useful outside their regular busness and professional enterprises. One may recall in this connection the parable of the talents. Has the man of five talents or three talents or two talents done his duty if he fails to do something outside his regular business enterprises conducted for private purposes?

Ancient Picture of Community Life The small cities of ancient Greece have left their imprint upon succeeding generations to a greater extent than any like population of ancient times. The statement might be modified to the extent of excepting the ancient Jews, who through the perpet-uation of their religion and literature in the o'd testament have been more influential in the development of mod-ern times than all other agencies. But the Greeks and the Jews were influential in different fields, the Jews in religion and the Greeks in art, literature and war. There is no great-er portrayal of community spirit, unity and purpose than the report of Thucydides of the speech of Pericles, delivered by the great statesman at the graves of Athenian soldiers who died in battle. Thus it runs: "Of the battles which we and our fathers fought," he said, "whether in the winning of our power abroad in bravely withstanding the warfare of barbarians or Greek at home, I do ot wish to say more; they are too familiar to you all. I wish rather to set forth the spirit in which we faced them and the constitution and man-ners with which we rose to greatness, and to pass from them to the dead; for I think it not unfitting that these things should be called to mind at today's solemnity, and expedient too that the whole gathering of citizens and strangers should listen to them ***

"Our Constitution is named a democracy because it is in the hands not of the few but of the many. But our laws secure equal justice for all in their private disputes, and our public opinion welcomes and honors talent in every branch of achievement, receiving treatment at Broadoaks not for any sectional reason but on Sanatorium in Morganton has com- the grounds of excellence alone. And the grounds of excellence alone. And as we give free play to all our pubncrete of prophetic vision. And I will learn with gladness that he is lic life so we carry the same spirit into our daily relations with one another. We have no black looks or angry words for our neighbor if he enjoys himself in his own way, and we abstain from the little acts of churlishness, which, though they leave no mark, yet cause annoyance to whosoever notes them. Open and friendly in our private intercourse, in our public acts we keep strictly within the control of law. We acknowledge the restraint of reverence; we are obedient to whomsoever is set in au-Wednesday afternoon and is getting along nicely. Mr. James Knight is serving in Mr. Helms place, but Mr. to the oppressed and those unwritten to the oppressed and those unwritten. to the oppressed and those unwritten ordinances whose transgression brings admitted shame. "Yet ours is no workaday city only.

No other provides so many recreations for the spirit-contests and sacrifices all the year round, and beauty in our public build ngs to cheer the heart and delight the eye day by day "We are love s of beauty without extravagance and lovers of wisdom without unmarliness. Wealth to us is not mere ma ral for vainglory but an opportunity for achievement; and poverty we think it no disgrace to acknowledge but a real degradation to make no effort to overcome. Our citizens attend both the public and private duties and do not allow absorption in their own various affairs to interfere with their knowledge of the city's. We differ from other states in regarding the man who holds aloof from public life not as 'quiet' but as useless; we decide our debate, carefully and in person, all matters of policy holding not that words and deeds go ill together but that acts are foredoomed to failure when undertaken undiscussed. For we are noted for being at once most adventurous in action and reflective beforehand ***
