FATHER Faced SON AT THE BATTLE MISSIONARY RIDGE

Interesting Incident in the Family of Monroe Man Is Related in the Papers

BOTH WERE COLONELS, BUT WERE ON OPPOSITE SIDES.

They Are Also Said to Have Confronted Each Other at Resaca, Ga.—Shelly Family Has Rendered Distinguished Service to the Country in Many Ways.

The story of a father facing son at the battle of Missionary Ridge during the War Between the States is related in the recent newspaper account of the death of William C. Shelly, an uncle of Mr. Oscar B. Shelly of Monroe. The father, a colonel in the Confederate army, was the great-grandfather of the Monroe member of the Shelly family; the son, a colonel in the Union army, his grand-father.

The obituary of William C. Shelly, in which this interesting, but pathetic, incident of the war is related, reads as follows:

"Washington dispatches announce the death, on September 4th, after a short illness, of W. C. Shelly, at his residence near Alexandria, Va. He was a native of Tennessee, born at Post Oak Springs, Roane county, Aug. 12, 1854, and a resident of Kingston, Va. He was representative in the legislature from Roane county when a very young man. He had resided at Washington some thirty-five years. He was United States pension examiner in Tennessee, Kentucky and Ohio until 1885, when he returned to Kingston for two or three years. During President Harrison's term he was assistant commissioner of Indian affairs at Washington. During this incumbency he became acquainted with several Indian chiefs and their tribes and represented them since about 1892 in their legal and business relations with the government at Washington.

Mr. Shelly was a son of James T. Shelly, colonel of Fifth Tennessee regiment in the Union army during the Civil War. He was a cousin of Gen. Charles M. Shelly, of Alabama, an officer in the Confederate army. They had offices together in the Kellogg building at Washington, in which W. C. Shelly retained since Gen. Shelly's death many years ago. Gen. Shelly was for several years a member of congress from Alabama. During President Cleveland's first term he was first auditor of the treasury. "W. C. Shelly was well known in Tennessee. He was an intimate friend of the late Congressman Walter Brownlow, the late John J. Littleton, Judge Hock, Col. A. M. Hughes and Gen. M. Littleton, of Chattanooga, and Martin Littleton, of New York. He was a Mason of high rank.

"Mr. Shelly's brother, Robert Carver Shelly, was for some forty years in the United States to become the head of an income tax authority bureau of Boston, Mass. W. M. and G. W. Nixon, of this city, are cousins and Mrs. Elmer Rule of this city has more. His son, Talley Shelly, is lieutenant commander in the United States navy. He was a member of Capt. W. E. McDowell, of Rockwood. His wife was a granddaughter of Collin Roberts, a pioneer citizen of Anderson county, Tennessee. She was also a granddaughter of Maj. Thomas A. Brown, at one time a prominent citizen and business man of Chattanooga.

"Mr. Shelly's grandfather, Col. Jacob D. Shelly, of Talladega, Ala., was a soldier in the Indian wars under Gen. Jackson, a captain under Gen. Scott in the war with Mexico, and as an old man was colonel of an Alabama regiment in the Confederate army. His regiment and that of his son are said to have confronted each other at the battle of Missionary Ridge and perhaps at Resaca, Ga."

MONROE WILL GET WATER AT LEE'S UPPER MILL

The city of Monroe will get water at Lee's upper mill. The matter was definitely decided last night in a meeting of the mayor and board of aldermen, when a committee was appointed to confer with the owners of the Lee's mill property in an effort to either secure a lease or to purchase the property, whichever is considered most expedient.

Mayor Vann states that work will probably begin on the pipe line and filtration plant within the next thirty days and that the work will perhaps be completed within six or eight months.

It will be remembered that engineers from the Carolina Engineering Company of Wilmington recently made exhaustive survey of a number of available points in the county and recommended Lee's upper mill as the most practicable and economical source. They also make the statement that this source will furnish all needed supplies for years to come.

Monroe has for some time been greatly handicapped on account of an inadequate supply of water, and it is believed that when the new and beautiful supply is secured it will have a far-reaching effect upon the industrial development of the city.

MONROE DEFEATS ROCKINGHAM 13 TO 7

Team Shows Excellent Coaching—Mack Fairley and "Jada" Williams Star

The Monroe high school football eleven defeated the Rockingham team at Rockingham Friday 13 to 7. It was a clean, hard-fought and interesting game throughout. The Monroe High displayed midseason form, especially on the offensive, and the work of Mack Fairley at halfback and "Jada" Williams at center was outstanding.

Splendid interference won the victory for the local team. Both touchdowns were made by Mack Fairley on a wedge end run.

"Jada" Williams, the "elongated" center, displayed splendid work in the line. His work on the defense was especially commendable, often breaking through the opposing line and throwing the backs for loss.

The team displayed excellent coaching and it is thought by the time for the elimination series Coach Black will have developed a team that will win the championship honors.

The high school squad has displayed the best spirit ever manifested by a local team.

Coach Robert Black has already shown that he knows the game to perfection and has the ability to handle men, which is absolutely essential to a good coach.

Next Friday the local team plays Concord here. Let's everybody go out to Robert's field and root for the team and show that we are loyal supporters.

The following is the probable lineup that Coach Black will start Friday: Right halfback: Laney, fullback: Speer, left halfback: Fairley, M. right halfback: Cable and McRae, ends: Curless and Wiggins, tackles: Correll and Cantano Williams, guards, and "Jada" Williams, center.

The Central Filling Station has provided a service truck equipped with air enough to fill twelve or fifteen tires, boots, pumps, jacks, gas, oil and everything else needed in general service work and charges are made according to distance traveled. The truck is up-to-date in every respect and is in reality a service station on wheels. The purchase of this truck removes the awful ghost that has heretofore confronted ladies when they started out for a drive by themselves.

At the expense of the conference the elder Mr. Gresham, a successful hotel man, will supervise the serving during the conference.

It was learned last night that Mr. Saleeby, on account of moving would be unable to accommodate the number he agreed to take and so the ladies of the Auxiliary with a selected group of ladies from the Methodist church are to serve the one hundred and sixty thus unaccommodated.

The Baptist ladies will serve in the Brotherhood hut, two meals a day between two and three hundred men. The present plans of the Auxiliary is to serve their portion in the basement of the Methodist church. However, a committee is meeting today in regard to arranging some other place, as Dr. Weaver needs all available rooms in the church for the business of the conference.

Mr. Thomas C. Lee, Jr., underwent an operation for appendicitis at the Ellen Fitzgerald hospital Sunday afternoon. The attack became acute at church Sunday morning and he was rushed to the hospital, the operation being performed that afternoon by Dr. Presley of Charlotte. At present, it is getting along nicely.

KILLED ON RETURN FROM SIX THOUSAND MILE TRIP

"Miss Glennie Caudle," as She Was Known Here, Struck By Train 1000 Miles From Home

Marshallville, Oct. 2.—Our town was shocked to hear of the sudden death of Mrs. J. P. McLean and daughter of Montana, who were so recently here on a happy visit to relatives, after years of separation. She, with her daughter and 12-year-old son, had come 6000 miles in an automobile, going through Yellowstone Park and stopping at several points of interest. A young man motored with them to Chicago, but from there they made the trip alone. Owing to so much railroad trouble, they had decided to make the return trip in the car, and were in South Dakota, 1000 miles from their home when the collision with a train occurred.

Mrs. McLean was well known here as "Miss Glennie Caudle," having lived here for some time before her marriage. She was a sweet woman and showed she was brave and courageous. The remains of the two will reach here or Charlotte this week and be interred with Mr. McLean's relatives at Steel Creek. The boy is doing well and will return with his father probably Wednesday.

Mrs. W. J. Seroggs, who has been visiting her sister, Mrs. Irene Marsh, left for her home in Ft. Valley, Ga., last Thursday. Mr. and Mrs. James Marsh and Mrs. Irene Marsh accompanied her to Charlotte.

Capt. and Mrs. J. F. Hallman and daughter, Mrs. Roy Marsh, Mr. Geo. Hallman and Mrs. J. P. Marsh went to Lenoirville Friday to attend the funeral of Mrs. Boyd Massague, who died early Thursday morning at the Charlotte Sanatorium. The deceased was the daughter of Mr. Wall of Lenoirville, a lady of fine qualities and much loved by those who knew her.

Mrs. J. C. Marsh has returned from a visit to her brother in Greenville. Mr. and Mrs. J. N. McDonald and Mrs. Tom Marsh spent Thursday in Charlotte.

Miss Glegg, one of the high school teachers, spent the week-end at her home in Charlotte. She was accompanied by Miss Mullins, another Marshallville teacher.

Miss Ketchin, the first grade teacher, was called home to Winstboro, S. C. Friday, owing to the serious illness of her father.

Mr. and Mrs. Baucum, Mr. William and Mr. Wilton Sinclair will return this week to Detroit, Mich. They will be accompanied by Messrs. George Haley and Tom Bailey.

Mrs. James Marsh and children spent Saturday in Monroe.

Dr. E. S. Hamilton and — Mallard of Charlotte spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Jas. P. Marsh.

Mrs. Barnes Griffin has returned from Salisbury where she went to attend the funeral of her aunt, Mrs. White.

Mr. Ben Hildreth of Ansonville spent Sunday here visiting his brother, Mr. and Mrs. B. L. Biggers.

Mrs. B. C. Griffin and Miss Virginia and Mrs. Graham attended the exposition in Charlotte pretty well this week.

KILL 1923 WEEVILS NOW

By Destroying Cotton Stalks Early Weevils Starve to Death.

One of the most effective steps in boll weevil control is the early destruction of cotton stalks. Just as soon as the cotton can be harvested, go into the cotton field and either turn under the cotton stalks or rip them up with a plow. The object is to destroy the cotton plants.

Weevils cannot feed on dead cotton stalks. When their food is destroyed they migrate to where they can feed or else go into winter quarters. Whether they are thus driven away from your farm or driven into winter quarters the probabilities of their damaging you again next season are greatly reduced.

Over most of the cotton belt it is possible to gather the cotton early enough to permit of the destruction of the cotton stalks early there would, of course, be an end of the weevil. While one can not expect that cotton will ever be destroyed early and completely enough to accomplish a complete eradication of the weevil, it is true that to the extent that this is done the number of weevils and their damage will be reduced.

Chopping down stalks leaves stubs that sprout new growth which the weevil can feed on, therefore, the only safe way is to uproot the stalks or else, with the aid of a drag chain, to turn them completely under the furrow slice.

Knowing that many cotton farmers do not plow deep enough to cover up cotton stalks, the safest general advice is to uproot the stalks with a plow and to watch that no new growth starts up.

As long as there is green cotton growth left in the field, the weevil will crawl into a lock of cotton or half opened burr to keep warm and come out when the sun shines to feed on the green stuff.

Don't burn the cotton stalks. Let them lay on the ground. When the ground is plowed they can be turned under where they will decay and feed the organic matter which the soils so much need.

Why not organize a community-wide or county-wide movement for the early destruction of cotton stalks? It means less trouble from the weevils next year.

STATE COLLEGE WINS OVER RANDOLPH-MACON

First Football of the Season Gloriously Celebrated in Raleigh Saturday.

North Carolina State College celebrated its first football game Saturday and Saturday night after beating Randolph-Macon with a score of 20 to 2. Previous to the game the Freshmen were called out to yell some for the Sophomores. After the yells were over they called on several for speeches. One started off by saying that he hoped we would win from Randolph-Macon with a score of 200 to 0. They told him that that was too much, so he changed it to 50 to 0. This time it met their approval and they dismissed him. After another song all the Freshmen were allowed to depart until the game, where the yelling was almost continuous.

Randolph-Macon played on the defensive nearly all the time. They were weak on putting the ball, and State did some fumbling that would have been disastrous to State if Randolph-Macon could have taken advantage of it. The "Wolf-pack," as the State's team is called, scored a touchdown in each of the three last quarters, but failed to kick goal the first time, making their score 20. They fumbled the ball on their two inch line, but one of their men fell on the ball for a safety, giving Randolph-Macon 2 points.

Saturday night the Freshmen were lined up for the continuation of the celebration. They marched down Hillsboro street, keeping step by counting as soldiers do when they are marching, and singing the rest of the way. Their route included the Capitol and Meredith College, where they yelled the results of the game to the girls. After stopping long enough for the girls to sing, and themselves singing "Good-night, ladies," they continued their march to Peace Institute. On the way they passed the Governor's mansion where they gave one yell for Governor Morrison.

At Peace, after each yell, the yell leader would ask what they wanted. One man got out of tune and wanted "ice cream" instead of a song. The girls were expecting us and had their songs ready which is the usual custom after our winning a game.

We then marched back to the capital where a snake dance was executed about nine o'clock down Fayetteville street to the post office and back, stopping the street cars and traffic along the way. The boys are going down town again Thursday night, as a free show was offered us by a movie theatre.

The main game that the boys want to win this year is the one with the University of North Carolina during fair week. The Wolfpack plays Washington & Lee at Lexington, Va., Saturday.

Among the jokes told on the Freshmen were: (Note)—The Co-Op. has a reputation for charging for everything. One Freshman went into the Co-Op. store and was smelling the sandwiches. As he turned to go out the clerk called him back, saying he owed ten cents. The Freshman wanted to know what it was for, saying he hadn't bought anything or taken anything. The clerk said it was for smelling the sandwiches.

Another was asked why he had come to the State College. He replied that he had come for a change and a rest; the drug store getting his change and the Co-op the rest (of his money).—Roy Cadin.

American Legion Auxiliary News

The local Legion Auxiliary was honored at the recent state convention, which met in Greensboro, by having one of its members, Mrs. Sam H. Lee, elected as a state delegate to the National Auxiliary convention, which will meet in New Orleans October 16-20.

North Carolina is entitled to only four official delegates with four alternates besides the National committee woman, Mrs. E. W. Burt, former state president, and Mrs. Norfleet, present state president. Mrs. Lee is vice president of the Melvin Deese unit and has always been an ardent and enthusiastic worker in all things pertaining to the auxiliary and the Legion.

Melvin Deese Post congratulates itself on having Mrs. Lee to represent it as well as North Carolina at New Orleans. Mrs. Lee will be accompanied by her husband, Sam H. Lee, popular commander of the Melvin Deese Post of the Legion.

The Auxiliary feels deeply grateful to Mrs. Henry Crow for the donation of five dollars to be used for the purchase of a permanent charter for the Melvin Deese unit of the Auxiliary. Immediately after Mrs. Crow's generous offer, made some time ago, the charter was applied for and its arrival is expected in the near future. Mrs. Crow is both a Legion member in her own right and an Auxiliary member by right of the war service of her husband, Henry Crow, who is now vice commander of the Legion, and one of the leading spirits in all its work. Mrs. Crow's gift bespeaks her love and loyalty to all things Legion.

Plans are daily being formulated for the Auxiliary's part in serving the conference. All committees are at work and expect to have everything in readiness to serve the best meals the conference ever had upon the arrival of the delegates on the 16th.

ANNIE LEE, Publicity Officer.

MR. ORTON LEARNS OF CURE FOR SICK POULTRY

Letter From Mr. Knapp Suggests That Remedy for Sore Head and Roup May Be Easily Secured

Mr. C. W. Orton has just received the following letter from Mr. Knapp, Poultry Investigator and Pathologist, of the North Carolina Experiment Station, which he considers of vital interest to every poultry raiser in the county:

Your letter of the 26th to hand and I am pleased to know that you will have some entries in the State Fair, but I am sorry to hear that you have the same trouble that all of us are passing through, that is, sore head and roup.

We have worked out a very fine treatment during our years of investigation of this condition. We have found that the ingredients which go to make these compounds are not kept ordinarily by drug stores. At last we have found a manufacturing chemist who has consented to prepare these drugs and offer them to poultry people who are in need of them. Write to the Zenner Products Company, Detroit, Mich., addressing your letter to Mr. A. H. Zenner, General Manager, and ask him for his Roup-Zen package.

This package contains an excellent oil compound for rubbing on the sores, for the sore eyes, discharge from the nose, and rattling in the throat. There will come with this package a small glass syringe especially made for the purpose of injecting the Roup-Zen into the nasal passage. For the rattling in the throat it is necessary to hold the mouth open and with the syringe allow one or two drops to pass into the windpipe. By opening the mouth the upper part of the windpipe will be noticed to open and close. This bronchial trouble is often very serious.

For the eyes press open the lids and with a piece of cotton remove the white clot-like matter and allow two or three drops of the Roup-Zen oil to go into the eye. Repeat these treatments three times a day.

For the canker of the mouth a canker pencil will be furnished. Scrape off the cheesy-like matter and rub until the surface turns white all over. Examine the mouth in three or four days and repeat if necessary. An antiseptic tablet for the drinking water comes with this package to prevent spread of the disease.

The sick birds should be removed from the flock and given comfortable quarters and cleaned up and disinfected. Of course this infection is hard on the young susceptible birds but when the weather conditions are right the attack is usually mild. However, some years, possibly due to peculiar weather conditions, we have quite severe attacks.

We shall be glad to give you any assistance at any time with your sick birds. Remember that we have a research laboratory and are prepared to make examination of sick birds and suggest means of treatment.

Mr. Washington Parnell of Buford township died last Thursday night after having been in declining health for some months. He was about 75 years of age. Mr. Parnell was a good man, an excellent neighbor and friend. The Parnells came to this county many years ago from Burke, a sister marrying the late Mr. Thomas Parnell, and she is now very old. The funeral was held Friday afternoon and interment was at Prospect Methodist church.

Promotion Day exercises at Central Methodist church last Sunday were well attended and quite a bit of interest was manifested. The school was perhaps the largest in the history of the church, there being over six hundred in attendance.

"Cappy Ricks," Great Comedy, Will Be Here on October 11th

"Cappy Ricks," the delightful comedy, will be given in the high school auditorium on October 11th, by a New York cast. This is the first of the Redpath Lyceum attractions to be given in Monroe during the winter and is said to be one of the best sent out by the Redpath people, being even better than "Turn to the Right" and "Nothing but the Truth." Season tickets are now being sold by the high school students at the following prices: Adults, $2.00; children under 12, $1.00; two adult tickets in same family, $3.50; family tickets, $5.00. The reduction in price is made in order that these entertainments may be given before as many people as possible. The entire profits will go to the Monroe High School Athletic Association to pay off indebtedness and buy equipment for the foot ball team. Coach Black is in charge of the tickets and the high school teachers as assistants. A handsome picture will be given to the grade selling the most tickets and the individual in each grade selling the largest number of tickets will receive a season ticket. Season tickets will not be sold after October 11. Single admission for the first three entertainments will be $1 each, for the last two, 75 cents each.

Confessed Murderer Returns to Robeson County

Lumberton, Oct. 1.—Sheriff R. E. Lewis arrived here late last night with J. D. Kemps, who was arrested in St. Augustine, Fla., Wednesday of last week on the charge of killing D. E. McNeill near Red Springs, Robeson county, on August 15, 1878, 44 years ago.

Kemps admits killing McNeill and talked freely about the affair. He is now about 64 years old and though he is married and has four married children he never breathed a word to his wife or any other person about the killing until after his arrest. He

Interest in Estimate of Union Cotton Crop This Year Continues to Grow

ABOUT ONE THOUSAND ESTIMATE BE PLACED

Range of Opinions Runs From Fourteen to Twenty-Five Thousand Bales—Cotton Occupying Large Place in the People's Interest—Conclusion So Far Is That Crop Will Be Fairly Good

At this season of the year in this section of the state cotton occupies a larger place in the minds of the people than any other crop. This is evidenced by the fact that the movement to ascertain the opinion of Union county people as to the size of the present crop is gaining momentum daily, and before the first of November doubtless one thousand people will have placed their estimate of the Union county crop this year.

Another interesting feature to the present situation is the unusually heavy selling. Last week 2,500 bales were bought on the Monroe market, to say nothing of the amount placed in the warehouses under the care of the Cooperative Marketing Association.

The wide range of opinions as to the amount of the 1922 crop is still in evidence, as will be seen by the list of estimates given below, in which one person, Mr. Jas. B. Gill, goes as high as 25,000 bales, while Mr. M. A. Helms drops to 11,000. A glance of the estimates will disclose the fact that the average is around 20,000 bales. One thing is plainly seen, that there is some cotton being produced in Union county this year.

Big Preparations for Great Methodist Conference Here

Big preparations are being made for entertaining the Western North Carolina Conference of the Methodist church when it meets here on Wednesday, Oct. 18th, in annual session which will continue through Sunday and probably over into Monday, before the appointments are read and preachers given their marching orders for another year.

Mr. J. B. Ivey, chairman of the entertainment committee, in company with Mr. Gresham, manager of Mr. Ivey's cafeterias at Charlotte and Ke Junaluska, spent yesterday in conference conferring with ladies of the Society of the Baptist church and of the Auxiliary of the American Legion in regard to the entertainment members of the Conference.

Mr. Gresham went into details of the entertainment program and gave advice as to buying, preparing and serving dinner and supper to the
