GRANDMOTHER SPEAKS WISELY TO THE YOUNG

To the Editor of The Journal:—The two words, gratitude and reverence mean a great deal, yet are not understood or observed or felt, it seems, by the present generation. How sad to think that parents after suffering, sacrificing and doing all they can for their children should be treated by those children with disrespect and disobedience.

Is it caused by indulgence to children, by waiting on them, humoring their whims, and not requiring of them duties which they should perform? I think it is often so.

A boy or girl should be trained to be helpful in the home, to reverence father and mother, and to obey them. They should also be taught to respect the advice of older persons who have experience in the ways of the world.

I have thought seriously on this subject and I sometimes think it is innate in some persons to be rude and uncouth in their manners. They have no wish to be otherwise, and what causes it? I think, pure selfishness and a want of tact. I once heard a lady say she had two children; one was apt to learn, the other she could not beat language into. She had no desire to improve her manner. When such is the case it is perplexing and annoying to say the least. When we see a young person whom a mother requested to perform a little task ignore that request and not obey, I think it indeed shocking and very selfish and ungrateful to treat a tired mother so.

There is a future for all and those who try to do their duty and show their gratitude to their parents will have a sweet content.

"Honor thy father and thy mother that thy days may be long upon the land which the lord thy God giveth thee," is the fifth commandment, and I believe it, and I also believe there is a punishment even on this earth for those who do wrong.

Teach children to be polite and thoughtful of the comfort of others. Where should we teach them these things; at home? Yes, at home. The home is the proper place. If they are not taught to respect the wishes of others, if they are not taught to be polite and kind at home, to be self-sacrificing, to not want the best for themselves, they will always be selfish.

To wait on children, to humor their whims, let them have the best of everything, makes them selfish and makes them think they should be first.

Oh! what a mistake to indulge children until they have no respect for their parents or elderly people, but think they are the ones who should have all the privileges and every one be subservient to them.

Girls should be taught, when they are old enough, to relieve their mothers of some work in the home. They should be taught to be self-reliant. Boys should also be taught to respect their fathers and help them every way they can to lighten their burdens. How shocking it is to hear a girl or boy speak disrespectfully to father or mother. Children should be taught to speak pleasantly. They should be taught it by example.

We should be careful to speak in a pleasant voice in answering a question. The habit of speaking rudely is very unpleasant to the listener and has a bad influence on the young boys and girls.

Those who have been trained right will have respect for the feelings of others and will answer a question in a pleasant voice. They will be polite and kind to all, thoughtful of others' comfort, will want to do something for the poor, the afflicted and all who need consolation and help. They will be thoughtful and kind to their elders, show them respect, listen to their advice and remember that if they live long, they will be rewarded and have the consolation that they helped them all they could. What a consolation is a clear conscience!—GRAND MA.

SAMPSON EDITOR HAS SEEN LIVE CATHOLICS

(Sampson Democrat)

Clinton and Sampson folks in general have known Catholics for a generation or two and seem never to have discovered any horns and forked tails upon them. So unconscious, indeed, were the voters of the fact that Catholics are a dangerous element that five years ago the Democrats of this county nominated one of them, Mr. M. F. Troublefield, for sheriff, and only last fall a full convention of South Clinton township Republicans nominated, by individual ballot of those present, Mr. Thomas Hargrove for justice of the peace and the Republicans of that township actually elected him and never one word was heard from a soul in criticism of the nomination of a Catholic and a Knight of Columbus. But what a shame! Ku Klux propaganda against Catholics have flooded the community and now many a man thinks the Catholics very devils—those away off yonder, of course, and what a shame it is for an old man, who should be as innocent as he is ignorant, to come into this community as agent for these firebrand sheets and fan the spirit of hostility that has already been generated! The poor ignoramus referred to actually had the hardhood to tell a leading citizen of this town that a Catholic cannot look you straight in the face. Said citizen responded to the effect that he was a fool if he expected him to believe any such tommyrot, that he had just been talking to a Catholic whom he considered one of his best friends and one of the best citizens of the county. But—but—our Catholics are not like—etc., etc. That is the way it goes. Away off yonder somewhere Catholics are very devils. But as said before, the writer of the Democrat lived for years in Louisiana and he found Catholics down there good citizens, as are the Troublefields, the Hargroves, and the large congregation of Catholics in the Newton Grove section. But we grant that the unassimilated foreign element, whether Catholics, Russian Jews, Syrian and Greek members of the Greek church, or anything else are more or less a menace until they become assimilated to American ideas and ideals, but it is not because of their religious notions and affiliations so much as because of their political and economic ideas, and the Irish Catholics, everytime, will become assimilated just as early and readily, we believe, as will the German Lutheran or the Scotch Presbyterian, especially if you give them the same environment. Racial stock and old home environment, and not religion, determines the desirability of the immigrant. The Jap is not wanted, and he comes about as near as anybody as having no religion at all. The Italians of the South of Italy are not nearly so desirable as those from upper Italy, yet they are all Catholics. Let people have sense enough to ascribe to the proper cause the effects noted and the dangers of the present propaganda may be allayed.

A Picturesque Party

By Faye Niles

Stallings, August 9.—The crops of this community are growing rapidly since the nice rains came last week and revived them.

Mrs. L. L. Harris and little grand daughter, Evelyn Prather Harris, of Monroe, and Mr. Dan Fauster Laney, of Bishopville, S. C., were short but pleasant visitors in the home of Mrs. S. A. Niles last Saturday afternoon.

Mr. Jessie Hartis, who is working in Charlotte, spent last week end with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Z. A. Hartis.

There will not be any Sunday school at Stallings Sunday morning on account of the camp meeting which will begin at Antioch. Do not forget to come Sunday week at the usual hour.

Mr. and Mrs. R. D. Dean, Katherine Cogwell and Hubert Ross, all of Charlotte spent last Saturday evening with Miss Lillian Niles.

Mrs. J. W. Hargett and little daughter, Fetney Elizabeth, spent last Thursday and Friday in Charlotte with Mr. and Mrs. V. L. Owens.

We are sorry to report that our friend, Mrs. S. T. Hunneycutt is on the sick list this week, she is unable to be out at all at this writing but we hope that it will not be long until Mrs. Hunneycutt can be among her friends again.

Misses Helen Hall, Bonner Suttare and Messrs Bruce Thompson and Gilmer Taylor, all of Charlotte, spent last Sunday afternoon with Miss R. A. Drye.

On Saturday night, August 4, Mr. and Mrs. Arch McLoud gave a chicken stew at the old spring in honor of Misses Ruby and Lura Harkey, of Sanford, Florida. The meadow around the spring looked like Fairy land. It was beautifully decorated in Japanese lanterns. Near the old spring hung the big old pot full of chicken, over a blazing fire. The young people played the victrola, which sat under an oak tree nearby. They all enjoyed the music as well as the many funny jokes and tales that were told. Then came supper time. Chicken, rice and bread was served. Then a wonderful thing happened. One of the young men who had driven off, rode up with nice watermelons, and every one present was served all the watermelon he could eat. Those present were: Misses Ruby and Lura Harkey, Maude and Myrtle Stallings, Pattie Smith, Eva Lee Beard, Josie Mae Laney, Mary Hall of Charlotte, Blanche Walden and Beulah Wolfe of Monroe, and Odessa Lemmond of Indian Trail. Mrs. Neal McGinnis of Providence, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Biggers, Mr. and Mrs. Ach McLoud and Messrs. Earnest Austin, Cleburn and Otto Stallings, Thad Biggers, Paul Hunneycutt, Dolph and Eugene Fincher, Henry McLoud, Chester Hood of Mint Hill, Bub Rice, Vern Harkey, Marsh Moore and Fred Brown of Monroe. Earnest Clark and Stacy Orr of Charlotte.

Bring Back Those Books

To those who borrowed song books from Corinth Baptist church: Please return them by Sunday or before as our big meeting starts Sunday and we need the books.

Yours Respectfully,
W. E. HELMS,
Leader of the Music.

To the gentleman that wrote last week that he was desirous of obtaining a sample and more of the wines we advertised a couple of weeks ago—we are compelled to refer him to the head life of the column—Fifty Years Ago. We can neither grant his request nor turn back the universe, but we do trust that the gentleman will be able to conquer his disappointment at the inability to furnish said wines.—Talbotton New Era.

YOU CAN GET MORE THAN YOU SAVE

The man who can save a thousand dollars is not only that amount better off than when he started, but he is a better man in other ways.

In the process of saving one forms habits of thrift and learns lessons in economy that may mean the difference between success and failure later in life. Making yourself save is fine self-discipline.

MONEY - MONEY - MONEY
"Yes it is a fine idea, but it takes MONEY to do that"

How many times have you heard that remark? It marks an important line between success and failure. Many honest lives have been wasted in a will-o'-the-wisp chase, jumping from idea to idea until life was spent and nothing achieved.

One idea successfully put across is worth a half dozen better ideas which fall by the wayside through lack of vision. Usually, the lack of vision is in failure to establish a reserve fund in cash or credit to finance the idea to a materialization.

Your success is going to be built upon ideas—ideas in one form or another in proportion to your ability to carry through those ideas will be your success.

Start today to establish that reserve fund. A Bank Account is the first step.
