MORE THAN $2,000,000 PER DAY IN ROAD WORK

Raleigh, Oct. 31.—Over $2,000,000 per month has been spent by the state highway commission during the months of June, July, August and September, according to figures made public here tonight in a review of the general road situation. Of this amount more than $300,000 per month has been paid back into the state treasury through the collection of the gasoline tax of three cents per gallon.

The construction has been divided over the entire state and no effort has been spared to make the roads which have been completed the most modern of their kind and they are built to stand traffic of many years to come, provided proper maintenance is continued.

For every mile in the state road system there are 37.6 automobiles and to each of these cars there are 12.4 persons. That is there are one-eighth as many automobiles in North Carolina as there are people.

Though the license tax in the state varies for each type and model of car, according to the figures of the commission, the average fee for the first 229,400 automobiles registered this year is $14.34.

Over every square mile of territory in the state, if the state were to be apportioned off to its auto owners, there would be four automobiles to operate.

An answer to the employment question in North Carolina has been given by the commission during the past two years when the labor surplus has to a large extent been utilized in road building. At the present time there are 13,000 men engaged in construction throughout North Carolina.

Though the average of road building in the state has been high since the present commission got well under way, it is now operating at a maximum speed of completing roads. During the months of June, July and August, 80 miles of hard surfaced roads were completed each month. In addition to this work there has been an average of two miles of topsoil and sand clay roads completed each day so that the approximate monthly average of completed roads ready for the public to use has been 140 miles a month.

Roads completed are being kept up by the state which has a completely organized maintenance system. The highways are inspected by patrolmen at regular intervals and places which need repairing are cared for at once. The maintenance system, which has been organized from the time the new system of building roads became effective, is counted as one of the most important divisions of the commission and is performing a most valuable work.

MR. HESTER MOVES TO HIS OWN 600 ACRES

How R. F. Hester of Oak Hill Community moved from a small rented farm to the 600 acre place that he now owns is interestingly told by D. W. Roberts, county Agent for the Agricultural Extension Service in Caldwell county. Mr. Roberts says that Mr. Hester has demonstrated in practice how a man must study his soil, location and climatic condition and then follow the kind of farming most likely to give him success under these conditions.

Mr. Hester's experience, as given briefly by county Agent Roberts, follows: "Ten years ago Mr. Hester and family were existing on a small rented farm with practically no house at all in which to live. He went in debt to buy three cows. Having a surplus of milk over and above the home consumption, the family bought a separator and started separating milk and selling cream to the Hickory Creamery. In addition to their cows they also added pigs and poultry to their farm operations. After a few months they saw that by selling cream and feeding warm skim-milk to the calves, pigs and poultry that they were not only making a nice little profit from cream checks, but also from the pigs and poultry. Just as soon as a member of the family became large enough to assist in the work, they would not only add to the farm operations, but they would add five or six more cows to their herd, and this would naturally require more pigs and poultry to consume the additional amount of skim-milk. They continued this type of farming year after year, making a nice profit each and at the same time educating their children. Their oldest daughter is considered a very efficient teacher in the county now. Their next oldest child, a boy, is in his senior year in High School. He has attended for seven years without either missing a day or being tardy. Their next daughter has attended school for six years without missing a day or being tardy. Their baby girl has attended for two years without absent or tardy. They now own a 600-acre farm, live in a nice home, ride in their own car, and say the dairy cow is responsible for it all. Their cream check for last month was $170.00 from our Caldwell County Co-operative Creamery.

Advertisement for English Drug Company. Text: "The Public Knows What You Are". "Honesty is the best policy" used to be considered a good enough principle in business, but it is not good enough for today. Honesty must always be the best policy, so far as that goes, but a business must be more than that to meet the demands of modern times. It must be honest and both EFFICIENT AND SERVICEABLE. Its forty years of history has established the fact in the mind of the public that this business is based upon the Gibraltar of Honesty, and every day we demonstrate anew that upon the old foundation it constantly adds the superstructure of efficiency and service. Always we have handled only the purest drugs and medicines at an honest price, the same to all, without short cuts of any kind, even those that may be taken without the knowledge of the public—for a time. This business has an ideal which every employee strives honestly and faithfully to live up to—it is the desire to serve every individual customer well and always with the customer's interest at heart. And upon this basis we are proud to say that the business continues to grow in keeping with the better times that our county is enjoying. We attribute our continued growth and good business to the fact that our customers find that we are putting every effort into carrying out our business ideals—honesty plus efficiency and service. Respectfully, ENGLISH DRUG COMPANY Humanities Service Station.
