The store and stock of goods of the Wadesboro Dry Goods Company were totally destroyed by fire Wednesday night. For a time other buildings were threatened, but the fire was held to the Ashcraft building.

The Pageland Journal says that sometime after midnight Monday morning the store of G. E. Richardson was entered by thieves who carried off a metal box containing $2.50 in cash and about $2.50 in checks, which were in a desk in the rear of the store, but no goods.

Miss Mattie Jones, daughter of Mr. James Jones of Marshville township, and Mr. Henry Green, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Green of Marshville township, were married here last Sunday afternoon at the home of the officiating minister, Dr. W. R. Burrell.

Mr. J. H. Beckley has received a check of seven dollars for first prize for best Rhode Island Red pullet at the State Fair at Raleigh. Mr. Beckley entered a pen of Rhode Islands and a single pullet. He did not win with the pen but beat the State with his pullet. He expects to have entries at the State Poultry Association which meets in Greensboro in December.

Yesterday Sheriff Fowler and deputy Nivens went out to attend a funeral in Vance township, that of Mr. Tom Ford. While there they got wind of a still and found it in the kitchen of Louis Fink, who moved down from Mecklenburg in the spring and has since had the reputation of doing work. The still was a thirty gallon copper one and was operated in the kitchen with an outlet through the flue. Fink was not at home.

Mr. Hugh W. Taylor, a prominent citizen of Lancaster county, died in the Presbyterian hospital in Charlotte Thursday night, Nov. 1. He had been in failing health for some time but his death was a shock to everyone. The remains were carried to Lancaster Friday and funeral services were conducted Saturday at Tabernacle Methodist church by the Rev. J. A. Bledsoe. He is survived by his wife and eleven children. One son, Mr. Charles W. Taylor, lives in Monroe.

Mr. Henry Myers returned last night from the Meeting of the North Carolina Jersey Cattle Club at Hickory, and reports that the session next year is almost certain to be held in Monroe, Monroe and Mebane were keen bidders for the meeting next year and the matter was left to the later decision of the executive committee. Mr. Myers thinks the committee will certainly favor Monroe. The meeting was a very large one and lasted three days. At the sale the best mature cows brought from four to five hundred dollars at auction. The decision as to the next meeting will be made at an early date.

New and then some fellow thinks he can get away with a dishonest trick in selling cotton. And around the cotton offices they are all the time telling some experiences. Some time ago a man sold five bales and on the way from the platform to the office of the buyer, two four hundred pound bales grew into five hundred pound bales. An Anson buyer tells of having bought a bale and found thirty pounds of iron in the center. And this brought up some old time stories. One man told a fellow who once shipped a bale to a merchant in Charleston and at the same time ordered a cheese. The merchant found a grindstone in the bale and shipped it back as a cheese. A still more ancient story was that about a bale being shipped to Liverpool in slavery times. A negro was found pressed in the bale and the claim against the planter came all the way back. He refused to pay it on the ground that he had lost a good nigger and did not know what he had become of him.

The highest point of the season in the cotton market was reached yesterday when the report of ginning up to Nov. 1 showed only 7,554,587. This was much below last year at the same time and if the proportion holds the crop will be less than ten million bales.

There will be an ingathering and harvest home picnic at Rehobeth Presbyterian church in Jackson township next Wednesday, the 14th. Rev. Mr. F. Daniels of Charlotte will speak and in the afternoon Mr. J. B. Spillman of Charlotte. One feature of the day will be an auction sale of cotton, pigs, poultry, peanuts, etc. The public is invited to be present and enjoy the day.

Belk-Stevens Company of Winston-Salem are opening a large new store in High Point, and Mr. John English of Monroe will move to that place and be in charge. The Belk-Stevens Company have bought the stock of English Brothers of Monroe and are shipping it to High Point today. Mr. Dewey English and Mr. Frank Rose will immediately open a brand new stock at the English Bros. stand in Monroe and both will be connected with the business. Miss Covington will continue her hat shop with the new firm.

On Wednesday Mr. R. B. Redwine, Jr., went to Charlotte and underwent an operation for transfusion in which a quart of blood was taken from his arm and transferred to the veins of Mr. E. W. Crow Like Major Heath, he took no anesthetic during the operation. When it became known that J. J. and R. D. Crow, Maj. Heath and Mr. Redwine volunteered to give their blood, tests were made of the blood of each to determine which co-incided most perfectly with that of Mr. Ed. Crow. Maj. Heath and Mr. Redwine were the two whose blood was found to be most suitable and these will probably furnish any other that may be necessary. Mr. Crow's condition is thought to be favorable.
