

A GREAT MONEY SAVING SALE

In our unguarded purpose to purchase a stock commensurate with the demands of trade we overreached the mark, and have in stock, about three times as much goods, as we should

BUSINESS REASONS

Demands that we shall convert them in to money, and in order to do so we have cut prices to a startling figure. Values, or cost are not considered, they must go, if a price equivalent almost to a give away will attempt you to purchase. We have not the space here to name figures, but the way goods are going tells the story.

THERE IS NO RESERVATION

Everything marked down to a limit, at the lowest figure all made plain so you can see them. Its a big sale, of a big stock, of nice goods, and it will pay you to attend it at once.

Spotted the Man
A clerical-looking gentleman, in the hope of obtaining a contribution, entered the office of a newspaper, and, finding the editor in, began: "I am soliciting aid for a gentleman of refinement and intelligence who is in need of a little ready money, but is too proud to make known his sufferings."

"Why!" exclaimed the editor, "I'm the only man in town answering that description. What's the gentleman's name?"

"I'm sorry to say I am at not liberty to disclose it."

"It must be me, parson. Heaven prosper you in your good work," said the editor, wiping away a tear.—Exchange.

A Charmed Life.

Assassins have tried eight times in ten years to kill King Alphonso of Spain. He lives a charmed life. Their bombs and bullets have not touched him, and the last attempt made in the streets of Madrid by Rafael Sanchez Alegre, said to be an anarchist, was as fruitless as the others.

We hope the King will be spared to live his allotted life. From reports relating to him we have all ways had the impression that he was a first-class fellow, broad, and liberal, all most to a fault.

The Income Tax
(Indianapolis News.)
The greatest virtue of an income tax is to be found in the fact that it is a direct tax. If that is so—as it undoubtedly is—the only way in which the virtues of the tax can be brought home to the people is by making practically all of them pay it. What we need to learn is that the government at Washington is supported out of taxes. Many of us do not realize this. Under this indirect system of taxation there are thousands of people who do not understand that they pay any taxes at all. Hence, the wild extravagance of our government. If its whole cost were apportioned on a per capita basis—which would not be a bad idea—we should soon see an end of the river and harbor, the public building and the pension graft. There could be no greater reform than one that would make the people feel the cost of their government.
