OUR MOTTO.

"We will speak out; we will be heard
Though all earth's systems crack;
We will not bate a single word
Nor take a letter back.
We speak the truth and what care we
For hissing and for scorn.
While some faint gleanings we can see
Of freedom's coming morn?
Let liars fear, let cowards shrink,
Let traitors turn away;
Whatever we have dared to think
That dared we also say."

A little nothing is a lot better than a big nothing.

The tax-payers of Davie county are not kicking about where their money has gone.

Strange how some people can get through the world without having to pay for their rations, wood, etc.

During the past week we have added nearly half a hundred new names to our large list of readers. Wise people take and read The Record.

We would earnestly request our subscribers who live in Davidson county and around Advance to see Mr. J. M. Crews, our Record representative in that section, and hand him a life preserver. It will cause him to smile a broad smile and also make you smile.

Ex Governor R. B. Glenn preached to a large crowd in the Charlotte auditorium last Sunday on prohibition. That's all good so far as it goes, but it would sound better if his name did not appear on the whiskey circulars Glenn Williams is sending out recommending the stuff to be pure—Cornelius News.

We understand that the County Commissioners took no action in regard to lighting up the court house clock at night. If the people want the clock lit up their wishes should be carried out. We have the power plant, and the cost of lighting the clock would amount to practically nothing. "Let us have light" will be the cry this fall.

Former Judge Williamson Dead.

Tacoma, Wash., May 1.—Former Superior Court Judge James Alvis Williamson an honored son of North Carolina who has resided in Tacoma for the past twenty-two years, died at his home here this morning after an illness of varying degrees, during the past nine years of asthma. Judge Williamson was born on a plantation in Caswell county February 1, 1846, of distinguished parentage. His schooling was interrupted in 1863 by the call of the civil war and at the age of 17 he shouldered a musket at Windsor, becoming a private in Company B, first battalion North Carolina sharpshooters, and serving until the end of the conflict.

With family and fortune swept away, he was thrown on his own resources at the age of twenty and resolved to become a lawyer. Teaching was resorted to as a means of getting money with which to pursue his law course and in 1871 Judge Williamson was admitted to practice in Winston-Salem. Later he represented Rowan and Davie Counties in the State Senate; came near being nominated for Congress. In 1884 he moved to Raleigh to practice, remaining there till 1888, when he moved to Tacoma. In this city he was associated with several prominent lawyers. In 1894 he was elected a member of the school board and in 1896 judge of the superior court on a fusion ticket of Democrats, silver Republicans and Populists. He was on the bench until 1901, when he retired and became associated with his son, Mr. George C. Williamson in law practice. The judge was a typical Southern gentleman, but was free from all racial bitterness and had a host of friends here. He was twice married and is survived by his second wife, three sons and five daughters.

The Tenderfoot Farmer

It was one of these experimental farmers, who put green spectacles on his cow and fed her shavings. His theory was that it didn't matter what the cow ate so long as she was fed. The questions of digestion and nourishment had not entered into his calculations. It's only a "tenderfoot" farmer that would try such an experiment with a cow. But many a farmer feeds himself regardless of digestion and nutrition. He might almost as well eat shavings for all the good he gets out of his food. The result is that the stomach grows "weak," the action of the organs of digestion and nutrition are impaired and the man suffers the miseries of dyspepsia and the agonies of nervousness.

To strengthen the stomach, restore the activity of the organs of digestion and nutrition and brace up the nerves, use Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It is an unfailing remedy, and has the confidence of physicians as well as the praise of thousands healed by its use.

In the strictest sense "Golden Medical Discovery" is a temperance medicine. It contains neither intoxicants nor narcotics, and is free from alcohol as from opium, cocaine and other dangerous drugs. All ingredients printed on its outside wrapper. Don't let a dealer delude you for his own profit. There is no medicine for stomach, liver and blood "just as good" as "Golden Medical Discovery."

The Davie Record, The Toledo Blade and The Yellow Jacket all three papers one year for only one dollar.
