Germany Plans Already For Another War.

Manufacturers Record.
Amid the gigantic struggle of this hour, leaders in Germany are seriously making their plans for what they call "the next war." It is their definite intention if they do not win this war and win everything for which they are fighting, and that means world domination to plan on a still larger scale for "the next war."

This thought is being pressed upon the German people, and they are being told by their leaders that Germany must even now begin to look forward to "the next war."

It is the belief of these people that if they cannot conquer the world this time, they must bring about a peace which will leave Germany in a position, learning by present experience, to prepare on a still larger scale for their next great effort to conquer all mankind.

This is no idle or visionary dream on the part of Germany, for if Germany could bring about a peace which would leave it and its allies unconquered, it would be in immediate shape to concentrate its entire activities, mental and financial, to the building up of a still greater fighting machine for that next war to which Germany is looking forward, as for years it looked forward to the day when it hoped to be able to crush France and England and then to crush America.

A premature peace or a peace with an unbeaten and uncrushed Germany would leave that country in a position to secure control of Russia, with its boundless resources, and with its 9,000,000 square miles of territory or one-sixth of the land area of the world, and with nearly 200,000,000 people, who under good leadership could be made into an army of tremendous fighting power.

With Russia in its possession, Germany would become the greatest financial, industrial and military power in the world, so far surpassing in that respect the combined wealth and power of Great Britain and the United States that it would be able to win the next war.

Moreover, while Germany was getting ready for that war the rest of the world would have to concentrate its entire energy upon a feverish activity in the creation of fighting machines with all the wealth and all the power of these countries given up to the building up of armies, and navies and the making of munitions, so that the entire world would be but one vast military camp.

The complete and overwhelming defeat of Germany in this war and a drastic penalty imposed upon Germany and its allies, a penalty of death for the leaders, and a financial indemnity which would tax those countries for fifty years to meet it, is the only possible salvation for the world from German domination or from a continued concentration of the world's thoughts upon war to the exclusion of everything else, with the strong probability that if Germany could absorb Russia it would then completely overrun the world.

This is the plain, simple, easily understood situation which confronts us, and he who does not see it is as blind to the truth as were those who in 1914 when Germany launched its war upon Belgium, refused to see that it had launched war upon all civilization and that all civilization must unite for the destruction of Germany or else be crushed by Germany.

On to Berlin!

That No Harm Shall Come To The Republic.

Every act of the Republican party in state and nation has been and shall be determined solely by how we can contribute most to the sum total of war good.

The business of the Republican party at this moment is to do its utmost, with its great experience, brains and heart, in everything that goes to the support of the war: to outdo the Democratic party in everything that touches the war.

This we have done. And in this course we shall persist to the end, without waver or shadow of turning. In this, the greatest of all crises in our history, when the Republican party finds the control of the government in other hands, it still sinks deeper into the soul of the nation and, true to its traditions, becomes the dominant war party, we of that party pledging ourselves to give the last of our blood and our treasure to win the war and to win it now; pledging ourselves forever against an inconclusive peace, and at every moment of faltering on the part of those in power we instantly pick up the guerdon of battle and cry, "Carry on! Carry on! Carry on!"

"We challenge the opposition to do more. We dare them to do less." Further, while we fight in France to make certain forever the right of free government throughout the world, we shall not forget that we have a republic to preserve in this country.

We declare that while there is absolutely nothing in this country which should not be taken and used for necessary war purposes, such taking shall be for war purposes only, and that in such action there must and shall not be any eventual ulterior object. The Republican party, from its inception, has stood against undue federalization of industries and activities. We always have endeavored, and still shall endeavor to find the middle ground so well defined as "between the anarchy of unregulated individualism and the deadening formalism of inefficient and widespread state ownership."

Let all well-wishers of good government, regardless of party affiliations, watch well the ancient landmarks.

The Republican party is the party of the future or there is no use for the party. Our past record of fifty years of achievement is the best guarantee to the country of our future fulfillment, but it is only on our future fulfillment that our usefulness will depend.

The Republican party will continue to be the instrument in this country to apply to new conditions and changing conditions the wisdom of experience and the efficacy of honest, zealous service.

The Republican party, guaranteed by its past, underwritten by its present, will measure its future steps forward by the new needs of the nation.

And we shall watch well the ancient landmarks—"all that no harm shall come to the Republic."

WILL H. HAYS.

Sincere Gratitude.

Mrs. William Bell, Logansport, Ind., writes: "I deem it my duty to express my gratitude for the good Chamberlain's Colic and Diarrhoea Remedy did me when I had a severe attack of diarrhoea three years ago. It was the only medicine that relieved me."

The contemplated visit of the Crown Prince to Paris has been postponed indefinitely on account of the impassable conditions of the roads between Soissons and Rheims. The chances are 10 to 1 he may never be able to make the trip, and 50 to 1 he will be shot when he does.

Bronchial Trouble.

Mrs. A. E. Sidenberder, Rockfield, Ind., states: "For an attack of bronchial trouble which usually assails me in the spring I find Chamberlain's Cough Remedy the only thing that gives me relief. After using it for a few days all signs of bronchial trouble disappears."

When a young lady tells you that "mother would object" to your kissing her, it's a perfectly safe bet that she doesn't "take after" the mother in the least.

Some Chronicles.

And it came to pass that when Uncle Sam got into the war game with both feet, he found the cost even greater than the upkeep of a gas chariot.

For he was neither a cheap skate nor a tightwad, and the best was none too good for his defenders.

Wherefore his subjects loved him greatly and when he needed cash he formed not the acquaintance of the salary loan shark;

But rather issued Liberty Bonds and War-Savings Stamps which went like hot dog sandwiches at a harvest picnic.

Now the subjects of Uncle Sam were like unto the old gent, and likewise paid homage to the boys in khaki.

The Red Cross, the Y. M. C. A., the H. A. and the Salvation Army, each had a bit to do, and set about to do it.

And these bits required filthy lucre in abundance, for there were many boys in khaki, and they were some active actors.

He who had contributed generously in the past dug down still deeper for more of the root of all evil.

Yea, he gave until it hurt, then gave until it quit hurting.

But there were profiteers and tightwads who dug not;

The profiteer being a breeder of I. W. W.ism, and the tightwad a wart on the face of the earth.

The profiteer possesseth no conscience, while the tightwad hath one more impenetrable than the toughest armor plate.

But his conscience is finally pierced, though he fighteth valiantly and violently.

Straightway he purchaseth a two-bait jar of Mentholatum to ease his affliction.

But the balm only maketh it to hurt the worse and he returneth the jar to the drug merchant and getteth his money back.

For he discovereth an ailment which even Mentholatum will not heal, and his conscience continueth to trouble him until he looseth up and diggeth down.

Debs Convicted.

At Cleveland, Ohio, Sept. 12th, Eugene V. Debs, four times candidate of the Socialist party for President and famous as a Socialist orator and leader was convicted on two out of ten of the original counts, viz. attempting to incite insubordination, etc., in navy and military circles, and attempting to obstruct recruiting and uttering language tending to excite, provoke and encourage resistance to the United States. He made no defense stating that he denied nothing, repudiated nothing, retracted nothing. The penalty is 20 years in prison and a fine of $1,000. Regarding his conviction Debs said: "It is all right. I have no complaint to make. It will all come out right in God's good time." He made his own defense in a speech of one hour and a half and his main argument was the exposition of the principles and hopes of Socialism, and for the liberty of speech guaranteed by the Constitution. Motion for a new trial was over-ruled. A motion for the arrest of sentence was also over ruled. The court admitted Debs to $10,000 bail with permission to leave the northern district of Ohio only to go and remain at his home.

Can Now Eat And Sleep in Comfort.

If troubled with indigestion or sleeplessness you should read what Miss Agnes Turner Chicago, Ill., has to say: Overwork, irregular meals and carelessness regarding the ordinary rules of health, gradually undermined it until last fall I became a wreck of my former self. I suffered from continual headache, was unable to digest my food, which seemed to lay as a dead weight on my stomach. I was very constipated and my complexion became dark, yellow and muddy as I felt. Sleeplessness was added to my misery, and I would awake as tired as when I went to sleep. I heard of Chamberlain's Tablets and found such relief after taking them that I kept up the treatment for nearly two months. They cleaned my stomach, invigorated my system, and since that time I can eat and sleep in comfort. I am today entirely well.

The Task Ahead.

The Republican Publicity Association, through its President, Hon. Jonathan Bourne, Jr., says, and with much truth:

"We must not get the notion that the winning of the war is the only problem before this country. That is the most important problem—the one to which all others must be subordinated. But there are numerous other tasks before us and to which we must apply ourselves if we are to continue a prosperous, free and progressive people. In our efforts not to irritate the Bolsheviki of Russia, we must not set aside law and order in America. In our passion for government control of everything we must not stifle individual initiative. In our desire to suppress traitors, we must not put a gag in the mouths of patriots. In our zeal to win the war, we must not send porous raincoats to the soldiers in the trenches or let men of actual or pretended influence in high places get unconscionable fees for securing government contracts for their clients. In our willingness to pay large taxes for the support of the war, we must not tax legitimate industry to death. Nor must we neglect our very important agricultural interests by lessening instead of increasing the production of food. "Win the war" is our first but not our only slogan. The man who sets out on one undertaking and turns a blind eye and a deaf ear to everything else is doomed to meet misfortune."

The Newspapers.

Just to ascertain with a reasonable degree of certainty how much free space the Government is asking newspapers to give it, we carefully measured such requests received through the mails in one day during the past week. The result was astonishing, as follows: From the United States Railroad Administration, 5 columns; Federal Reserve Bank 1 1-4 columns; Department of Agriculture, 3 columns; Treasury Department (bond issues) 2 columns; War Savings; 5 columns. Total, 16 1-4 columns.

And yet the Government demands that all newspapers diminish their use of print paper 15 per cent. And the same Government is placing upon newspapers the heaviest burdens they have ever been called upon to bear in the matter of postage rates.

When the Government wants a thousand feet of lumber, it buys and pays for it. And so on with all commodities, other than newspaper space. When that is desired—though it be needed to enable the Government to raise money to pay for other things—then the newspapers are asked to contribute their capital—their newspaper columns—without stint and without reward.

Comment is unnecessary—the facts speak forcible for themselves. —Forest City Courier.

Fuel administration reports the coal output 15,000,000 tons behind schedule, so next winter—oh, well, finish it yourself.

Grove's Tasteless chill Tonic

Thrift In Raleigh.

Who is that thrifty resident of Raleigh, he who is "on the State's payroll," that is trying to hold up Uncle Sam for $27,500 for a piece of land that cost its owner $2,300? The prospect of a war camp in Raleigh has the same effect upon some deicides of the capital City as upon certain residents of other camp towns—they simply cast honor and honesty to the winds and go after "the stuff in whatever manner seems to promise the richest loot.

Don't blame the war, nor even the hellish Hun who brought on the strife, for there's plenty of traitorous dishonesty under the skin of some of our prominent Americans—Tar Heels included—and all that is needed to reveal it is the opportunity to acquire wealth quickly and without a semblance of adequate return.

Out with his name, Jim Pugh; and publish it in blackface type, Tom. Let's purge "the State's payroll" of one grafter at least.

There is no reason for protecting such a disloyalist from public scorn. The dividing line between those citizens who are self denigratingly supporting the Government and those who are profiteering at the Government's expense should be so plainly marked that all mankind may know their fellow citizens for what they are—honest men on one side rogues on the other. —Forest City Courier.

No Worms in a Healthy Child

All children troubled with worms have an unhealthy color, which indicates poor blood, and as a rule, there is more or less stomach disturbance. GROVE'S TASTELESS CHILL TONIC given regularly for two or three weeks will enrich the blood, improve the digestion, and act as a General Strengthening Tonic to the whole system. Nature will then throw off or dispel the worms, and the Child will be in perfect health. Pleasant to take. 60c per bottle.
