

Sore Eyes

The eyes are always in sympathy with the body, and afford an excellent index of its condition. When the eyes become weak, and the lids inflamed and sore, it is an evidence that the system has become disordered by Scrophula, for which Ayer's Sarsaparilla is the best known remedy.

Cured

Scrophula, which produced a painful inflammation in my eyes, caused me much suffering for a number of years. By the advice of a physician I commenced taking Ayer's Sarsaparilla. After using this medicine a short time I was completely cured.

By Taking

three bottles of this medicine I have been entirely cured. My sight has been restored, and there is no sign of inflammation, sore, or ulcer in my eye. — Kendall T. Bowen, Sugar Tree Ridge, Ohio.

A NEGRO EDITOR'S INSULT.

Montgomery People on the Hunt for Him.

A Montgomery Alabama dispatch says: The following resolutions at a largely attended citizens meeting, unanimously adopted, speak for themselves and need no special comment. They are the sentiments of a justly outraged community, who will make it hot for Duke, now absent, should he ever return here, where excitement runs high.

WHEREAS, The Montgomery Herald, a weekly paper published in this city, by a negro named Jesse Duke, in its issue of Saturday, August 13th, had the following language: "Every day or so we read of the lynching of some negro for the outraging of some woman. Why is it that white women attract negro men more than in former days? There was a time when such a thing was unheard of. There is a secret to this thing, and we greatly suspect it is a growing appreciation of the white 'Juliet' for the colored 'Romeo' as he becomes more and more intelligent and refined. If something is not done to break up these lynchings it will be so after a while they will lynch every colored man that looks at a woman with a twinkle in his eye."

"The above does not call for an apology on his part or a promise not to repeat, but stamps him as a scoundrel who has crossed the limit of toleration in this community; that he cannot live in Montgomery; and is hereby given notice to keep away or take the consequences.

"Resolved, That we, the white people of Montgomery, denounce this as an intolerable insult to which we will not submit.

"Resolved, That the editor, Jesse Duke, is a vile and vicious character, who seems bent on inculcating doctrines among his race that are a menace to society and to every white woman in the land.

"Resolved, That the owners of the Herald are warned not to allow such language to occur in its columns again."

A committee was looking for Duke on all in and out going trains to night, but he was "nonest."

About 2 o'clock last night a tall gangling negro youth brought into the Advertiser office the following CARD FROM DUKE:

Editors Advertiser: Please let me say through the columns of your paper that the article copied from the Herald and commented upon by the Dispatch of Sunday, was unfortunate, and that when I published it I had not the remotest idea of reflecting upon or offending any one, and that I am very sorry indeed that it ever appeared in my paper. I will assure you and the good people of Montgomery that I had no intention whatever to do wrong, and that I am sorry for what has happened. I will never do so any more. Please publish this for me. I am a poor man, and have a wife and four small children depending upon me for their bread.

Very respectfully, &c., J. C. DUKE.

Another Editor's Testimony.

Ringworm has broken out on me every summer for four years. Three years ago a large sore formed on the back of my neck that became the size of a silver dollar. It finally spread all around to my nose and would not dry up. Last summer I took several bottles of S. S. S., which soon permanently dried up the sore, and I have had no eruption since.

Mitchell County Items.

Correspondence of The Morganton Star.

ELSIE P. O., MITCHELL Co., N. C., Aug. 15, 1887.—You will please find space in your paper for a few items from this county.

We have had the greatest revival at Pisgah M. E. Church ever known in this section, conducted by the pastor at Bakersville, Bro. Penland, of Buncombe, and Bro. Gillespie, our circuit rider. Many souls have been converted.

Aaron Wiseman, the premium thresher, is on his circuit, giving us clean straw, good measure, heaped up, pressed down and running over.

Wheat and rye are very good; corn crops are looking promising.

There were several fights on Toe River last week. In one of the rows Wm. Greer had his thumb bit nearly off, and Greer took a bite off George Davis's nose. Last Saturday was set aside for the trial, but failed, as they say all the magistrates fled to the mountains for safety. It is said that Esq. Thompson carried a basket of rations with him—perhaps enough to do him a week.

Mr. G. Franklin, of Toe River, took four bottles of laudanum, supposed for the purpose of killing himself. But medical aid reached him in time to save his life. He is now in his right mind.

Mr. A. D. Childs, of Three Mile Creek, has the largest and best crop of corn know in this neighborhood.

THE STAR is the best paper published for the money.

Yours respectfully, J. B.

The Gaston Case.

Shelby Aurora.

The Davenport-McKee case from Gaston, in which Gaston county through its (then) Treasure Davenport sues Sheriff McKee for $1700 is the big and costly suit that attracts 130 witnesses and has cost to date $3,000. Gaston claims McKee is indebted $1,700 on taxes. McKee denied this and produced a $1700 receipt signed, it is claimed by Davenport and witnessed by one man. The plaintiff alleges this a forgery. The trial evinces that both Davenport and McKee are popular officers, ignorant of book keeping and business methods. It has been a cause of contention among friends and among Democrats and Republicans, yet is only a question of debt and honesty. As it is now on trial before the jury and the Aurora last year published two column synopsis of this famous lawsuit, we can not and will not express an opinion or say ought to influence the public. It opened on Monday and will terminate about Friday or Saturday, as 130 witnesses and a dozen lawyers require many days. We are not skilled in law but we think Gaston county is responsible as plaintiff if McKee wins, and vice versa McKee and his bondsmen are responsible for costs. It only costs $1000 a week, besides lawyers' fees, an unknown quantity. Messrs. Sandifer, Bynum, Hoke & Hoke, also Gidney & Webb are the able defendants of McKee, while Messrs. Jones, Bason, Cobb, Osborne and McBryner ably represent Gaston. Among the many witnesses, some of whom are splendid specimens of Gaston humanity, we find both colors and both sexes. This lawsuit is a costly warning against careless and inefficient sheriffs and treasurers ignorant of business methods. The $2500 fine for failure to settle with the county is a legal question which the law must decide.

Married at Lenoir, N. C., on the morning of August 18, 1887, Mr. Thomas M. Vance, son of Hon. Z. B. Vance, to Miss Gertrude Wheeler, daughter of the late Col. J. B. Wheeler, of Lenoir, by Rev. C. A. Munroe.

Don't eat sweet potatoes yet awhile. They are full of sap, and are a very unhealthy diet. The writer hereof knows, because a too free indulgence in the delusive pie last Sunday came near sending him up the golden flume.—Rockingham Rocket.

A negro man, aged about 18 years, was caught in the act of assaulting the daughter of G. B. Hodges, near Dunn, last Thursday, by the father of the girl. The father told some of the citizens what had happened, and they immediately took the negro off to Black River and baited a fish hole with him. The negro has since been found dead in Black River.—Wilson Advance.

It is a remarkable and significant fact that in all parts of the State there are men of all sorts at work in the fields in search of minerals. It seems that this industry is attracting more attention, and that there is a background of stubborn fact in the disposition of minerals in this State which inspires confidence and leads men to delve with a reasonably fair prospect of success of finding something that will prove a remunerative business.—Salisbury Watchman.

The meanest man in North Carolina lives near Snow Creek Church in Stokes county. Last week's Danbury Reporter-Post gives an account of him. His name is not given. He has a poor widowed sister with six children. The children went on the old skinflint's land to pick some berries that were growing wild. He ordered them off. They reported to their mother and she returned with them, when he went at them with a big stick, using obscene and threatening language. His sister refused to go, claiming that the land was their mother's and not his. He left, got out a warrant for forcible trespass and obtained judgment against her. The case will go to the Superior Court. His name should have been given.—State Chronicle.

A white gal in upper New Jersey has married a negro man. The girl is said to be pretty, and that is about all that can be said of her. Some of the white Northern brethren are getting paid in their own coin—their teachings are coming home to roost. The parties were married by an Episcopal clergyman, who excused his meanness by saying that he thought the man and woman were both colored. Let Northern fanatics continue to advocate negro boys and white girls, and white boys and negro girls going to the same school, and they will soon have a mongrel mixed race of beings unfit for respect.—Charlotte Home-Democrat.

My liver was so fearfully disordered and I felt so feeble and languid that I scarcely took interest in anything. Tried all the so-called remedies without relief until I used Parker's Tonic, which effected a permanent cure.—David Bash, Little Rock, Ark.

Re-Union of Non-Resident Natives.

Over eight hundred names have been sent in to Mr. William G. Upchurch, President, and John Nichols, Esq., Secretary, of the North Carolina Agricultural Society, to be invited to join in the grand re-union next October during State Fair week. Those having friends out of the State who they wish invited should send in their names at once. This promises to be the biggest gathering of any kind ever held in the State.—Raleigh Observer.

That is a good move. Let North Carolinians who have moved away be induced to come back, even on a visit, and they will see a better State and a better people than any other on the face of the earth. We verily believe that there is no place in the world as good as North Carolina, taking everything into consideration.—Charlotte Home Democrat.

Girls Be Cautious.

Girls, beware of transient young men. Never suffer the address of strangers. Recollect one good steady farmer's boy or industrious mechanic is worth more than all the floating trash in the world. The allurements of a dandy Jack, with a gold chain about his neck, a walnut stick in his paw, and a brainless though fancy skull, can never make up the loss of a kind father's home, a mother's counsel and the society of brothers and sisters. These affections last, while that of such a man is lost in the wane of the honeymoon. Girls, beware! take heed lest ye fall into the "snare of the fowler." Too many have already been taken from a kind father's home and a good mother's counsel, brought to shame and disgrace and then thrown upon their own resources, to spend their few remaining days in grief and sorrow, while the brainless skull is making its circuit around the world bringing to its ignoble will all that may be allured by his deceitful snares, and many a fair one of the shame of his artful villainy.—Ee.

How many of us know the history of "Dixie," that most famous of songs which has found an echo in the heart of every soldier of the Confederacy? We are certain that many of our readers will be surprised to learn that it was not Southern at all, so far as the authorship was concerned. "Dixie" was composed in 1859 by Dan Emmett, as a "walk around" for Bryant's minstrels, then performing in New York. Now for the origin. Mr. Emmett had been a circus man, and had heard the men wish, in the winter time, that they were in Dixie; that is in the South. So he thought this was a good theme for a topical song. In 1860 Mrs. John Wood sang it in New Orleans, in one of John Brougham's burlesques, and a New Orleans publisher had the air harmonized and arranged. Gen. Albert Pike, of Arkansas, who was a Vermont, has the credit of writing the best set of verses for "Dixie," and yet, by a strange coincidence, the gallant and stirring song, with changes of course, was used as a campaign song, by the Republicans, in 1860.—Century.

Consumption, Wasting Disease, and General Debility. Doctors disagree as to the relative value of Cod Liver Oil and Hypophosphites—the one supplying strength and blood, the other giving nerve power, and acting as a tonic to the digestive and excretory system. But in Scott's Emulsion of Cod Liver Oil with Hypophosphites, the two are combined, and the effect is wonderful. Thousands who have never had permanent benefit from other preparations have been cured by its use. This is not an assumption, but facts that are substantiated by the experience of the past years, and the endorsements of thousands of the best Physicians throughout the Country.

The Verdict Unanimous. W. D. Sutt, Druggist, Bippus, Ind., testifies: "I can recommend Electric Bitters as the very best remedy. Every bottle sold has given relief in every case. One man took six bottles, and was cured of Rheumatism of 15 years' standing." Abraham Hare, druggist, Belleville, Ohio, writes: "The best selling medicine I have ever handled in my 20 years' experience, is Electric Bitters. Thousands of others have attested their testimony, so that the verdict is unanimous that Electric Bitters do cure all diseases of the Liver, Kidney or Bladder. Only a half dollar a bottle at Tull's Drug Store."

SIMMONS LIVER REGULATOR. MANUFACTURED BY J. H. ZEILUN & CO., Philadelphia, Pa.

I was afflicted for several years with disordered liver, which resulted in a severe attack of jaundice. I had no good medical attendance as our section affords, who failed utterly to restore me to the enjoyment of my former good health. I then tried the favorite prescription of one of the most renowned physicians of Louisville, Ky., but to no purpose; whereupon I was induced to try Simmons' Liver Regulator. I found immediate benefit from its use, and it ultimately restored me to the full enjoyment of health.
