Evils of Sham Battle

SADLY ILLUSTRATED AT OUR CAPITAL CITY ONE DAY DURING THE PAST WEEK.

A Member of the Governor's Guard Shot Down at Pullen Park During a "Sham Battle."

At a sham battle of the Governor's Guard at Pullen Park last night Geo. N. Banks, more popularly known as Jack Banks, was killed.

A bullet from the gun of one of the men in the opposing battalion struck him almost in the middle of the forehead, just at the root of the hair and killed him almost instantly.

The ball ranged downward and lodged in the brain. It is not known who is responsible for the deed—there is not even a suspicion, as the dead man was very popular with his comrades and generally well liked by the people of the city who knew him.

The cartridges were all examined thoroughly before being given out to the men, and then examined again by those who received them.

There have been no loaded shells given out to the members of the company in about two years. They were then used for target practice in the armory.

Again, a loaded shell weighs about three times as much as a blank one, and it seems one would have detected it in taking it from his belt and putting it in his gun, even had it escaped the eye of the officers through whose hands it had already gone.

The accident occurred at 9:45 o'clock. The Guard, divided into two platoons, was on the southern side of the Park, near the pavilion, firing at one another. The platoon of which Banks was a member, was nearest the pavilion, in command of First Lieutenant Beavers. They were just about to drop upon their knees and fire when Banks fell—dead.

He was near the center of the platoon. The center man was Moore Parker; to his left was Banks, and on Banks' left was Robert Little. It was against the latter that the dead man fell.

Mr. Little says he distinctly heard the whizz of the bullet and that the noise of it and the concussion almost deafened him. Immediately he realized what had happened. Banks toppled over and he caught him as he fell.

The news spread like wild-fire. The firing had already ceased; a doctor was called for, and Dr. R. J. Price, of Wilmington, who happened to be among the 50 spectators present, stepped forward and rendered most valuable assistance until, sometime after reaching the armory, the dead man was turned over to the Guards' physician, Dr. Rogers.

Banks lived but a few minutes after being shot and was never conscious. He was placed upon two guns, taken to a street car, and carried to the armory in the Bridge building, on Fayetteville street. There the blood was washed from his face and his wound examined.—Raleigh Observer.

The thing which we apprehended has happened in some of the coal fields where the strike is on. In the Danville, Illinois, district, fighting began between the miners at work and the strikers, Monday, and attacks on trains carrying men to the mines to take the place of the strikers. This is but the beginning of the lawlessness. It may be checked, but there are greater probabilities of the lawless spirit spreading as the strikers will become desperate when they see other men brought into the mines to take their places.

The President has sent the following nominations to the Senate: William L. Merry, of California, to be minister to Nicaragua, Costa Rica and Salvador; Horace N. Allen, of Ohio, to be minister resident and consular general to Korea; Perry M. DeLeon, of Georgia, to be consular general at Guayaquil, Equador.

Hon. C. B. Bush, president of the Gilmer County (W. Va.) Court, says that he has had three cases of flux in his family, during the past summer, which he cured in less than a week with Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy.

Dr. Bush also states, that in some instances there were twenty hemorrhages a day.—Glenview, W. Va. Pathfinder. This remedy has been used in nine epidemics of flux and one of cholera, with perfect success. It can always be depended upon for bowel complaint, even in its most severe terms. Every family should keep it at hand. The 25 and 50 cent bottles for sale by I. W. West and J. B. Smith.

Wanted Pie and Attempted to Bribe to Get It. An attempt has been made by an office-seeker to bribe Assistant Secretary of the Treasury Howell, who succeeded to Mr. Hamlin's duties, in order to secure an important customs place in the South, and a letter has been addressed to the man who offered the bribe, in which he is told that Mr. Howell is not in that kind of business. The barefaced brazenness of the would-be briber has surprised the officials, who say that it is the most open affair that has come to their attention in years.

It is said that Dare county, this state, has not a single farm and every house may be reached by boat. Pauline county has neither railroad, doctor nor lawyer.

Abram Davis, colored, and wife were to his wife home in Charlotte Saturday night when they met two white boys. Davis was drunk and he and the boys engaged in a wrangle. Davis stooped to pick up a rock when one of the boys shot and killed him. The boys escaped.

Near Sugar Hill, in McDowell county, last Thursday, I. E. Marlow and W. C. Hogan quarreled over some whiskey and Marlow struck Hogan on the head with a rock, fracturing his skull. One report says that Hogan is dead and another that he is not. Marlow escaped.

The Durham Sun very truthfully says: "Mr. Rockefeller says his $500,000,000 are a gift from God. Just why God should have selected Rockefeller to give this fortune to when he could have divided it up among several thousand deserving people is one of those things no fellow can find out; but we have an idea that God has had very little to do with it."

An old lady down in Rockingham county said the other day that she was sick and tired of people complaining at President McKinley for forgetting to send prosperity to that county. She said she knew money was scarce and prices were low, but there had not been such a crop of blackberries under any administration since she was a little girl.—Winston Journal.

The colored excursionists did not get back from Charlotte until 5 o'clock this morning. They report a tramp negro killed, who was beating his way from Charlotte to Salisbury. It is learned that he was riding on the trucks under the coach, and shortly after leaving Charlotte fell off and was run over. The entire train passed over him and his body was terribly mangled.—Winston Journal.

Some of our rice planters report that army worms have made their appearance in the rice fields and it is feared that considerable damage will be done to the growing crop. The rice is now in the joint and at this stage the crop is liable to serious injury. Wherever the army worm enters a field they generally sweep things up as they go. Worms have made their appearance the past few days in Governor Russell's rice fields.—Wilmington Messenger.

IN AN OPEN BOAT.

The Perilous Voyage of Twelve Cubans. Their Arrival in Jamaica.

A correspondent of the Associated Press, writing from Kingston, J., on Tuesday says: "Twelve Cubans, the last survivors of an insurgent camp in the province of Camaguey, reached Rio Nuevo, a little port on the north side of the island a few days ago in an open boat. They were in a terrible condition of exhaustion, as they had been seventy hours in making the passage. The little craft which had been constructed in the camp just before their departure, was found to leak in several places, but, owing to the high winds and the heavy seas, the refugees were compelled to take turns at bailing her in order to keep from being swamped. Again and again they were on the verge of destruction, the waves washing over the boat and filling her to the very thwart. After three days of constant anxiety and struggling they managed to put in at Rio Nuevo, in a pitiable condition."

It is suspected by the authorities here that some of the names given by the men are fictitious and that among the party are several important revolutionary leaders who have business in New York and who are travelling incognito. It will be remembered last year that Carlos Roloff, the leading manager of an expedition to Cuba arrived in Jamaica under the name of George Charles Roberts and described himself as an American journalist. It was not until after his departure for Cuba that the Spanish consul in Kingston became aware of his real character. Whether the suspicions of the government are well founded or not, it is hard to say at present, but in a few days the real facts will probably become known.

Of the twelve men composing the party four are invalids. Dr. Vieta is now lying in Kingston, tenderly cared for by the local Cubans suffering from a sickness induced by months of trials and privations. Another has a bullet wound in the thigh; a third a bygone wound in the shoulder and a fourth is not expected to recover from an internal complaint aggravated by the severe effects of the voyage. But their spirits are not daunted. Gladly they talk of the success of the rebels and of the defeats of the Spaniards. Their privations and sufferings are, they say, as nothing compared with what the Spanish troops are undergoing. In an interview with the Associated Press correspondent they complained bitterly of the actions of the British officials, for the visiting health officer had arbitrarily seized a number of important letters and dispatches designed for the Cuban junta in New York. They had protested against this action, but the officials replied that a breach of the postal regulations set had been committed and that the letters must be forfeited as a penalty. Nearly eighty letters were taken from Dr. Vieta alone and there is no prospect of any of them ever reaching their destination.

Another big lot of blockade corn whiskey was deposited in the storage warehouse under the Jacobs-Lemly building this afternoon. There were twenty nine barrels, and five stills and fixtures besides. The seized goods were shipped from Mocksville and were seized from E. M. Godfrey, of Yadkin. Collector Alspang now has about 100 barrels of "block" in his possession. While to-day's shipment was being unloaded at the storage rooms a leaking barrel caused much excitement among the negroes hanging around. There was a general scramble as to who should suck the leak.—Winston Journal.

The Sultan of Turkey seems to be inexorable. His latest dodge is to address a note to the powers representing that the disturbed condition of Crete renders it necessary for him to send reinforcements there. The powers have replied that it would be as well for him not to do so, and the world looks for the next move of the wily Turk. He does not want to give up Thessaly and what is more he does not propose to do so if he can help it. Russia is the only power that can assist him and even from her it will require a peremptory demand couched in no uncertain terms.

A little daughter of Robert Stone, aged about 9 or 10 years, was killed by her father's horse a few days ago in the Rock Creek section of Wilkes county. It seems that the child had been in the habit of going to pasture where the horse grazed and catching it. When she went after it, the horse refused to let her put the bridle on, and whirled around and kicked her one foot landing on her side and the other on her head. Her parents witnessed the accident, but before they reached her side she was dead.

A man in Virginia, rode forty miles to Fairfax Station, for the express purpose of getting Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, and took home with him, a dozen bottles of the medicine. The druggist who relates the incident, says: "Your remedy seems to be a general favorite wherever known." Its effects are indeed wonderful in all lung and throat troubles. Procure a bottle at I. W. West's and J. B. Smith's drug stores.

Mr. Page's Opinion.

SOME STRONG ARGUMENTS THAT OUR TAX-PAYERS OUGHT TO CONSIDER.

The Importance of the Free School Election Should be Impressed Upon the Minds of All.

The following is an extract from the address by Mr. Walter H. Page at the commencement exercises of the State Normal College.

Mr. Page is one of the profound thinkers of our country, and has come nearer expressing the truth in regard to our situation than any speaker before the public. Read it carefully:

"In my judgment there has been no other event in North Carolina since the formation of the American Union, that is comparable in importance to this new educational progress. The movement now has such momentum, that nothing can hinder the complete development of the public school system till every child is reached. When every inhabitant township votes a local tax to supplement the State tax, the taxes you now levy will seem small and will be increased. According to the last published reports of the Commissioner of Education, the total sum spent per year per pupil in the public schools was still lower in North Carolina than in any State except South Carolina. It was only $3.40. In Georgia it was nearly $4.50, in Virginia it was nearly $5, in Indiana it was $20, in Michigan nearly $20, in Wisconsin $21, in Minnesota nearly $30, in the new State of North Dakota it was nearly $33.50—nearly ten times the expenditure per pupil that was made in North Carolina. None of these States is richer than our own in possibilities. The ability to maintain schools is in proportion rather than to the amount of wealth. We pay for schools not so much out of our purses as out of our state of mind. For example, there is a man in Moore County who had two children at school at the expense of somebody else. Although he did not pay their bills, he took them from school the other day because, he said, the charge for tuition was too high. He is the frankest and most faithful disciple of our old time economic creed that I have ever known."

"As the movement to establish public schools everywhere gathers force, men of wealth will find that they can do no public service with their money, so sure to bring lasting results as to build school houses, as they are already beginning to do. The history of philanthropy shows that no public benefaction brings the same sure and permanent results as provision for the free education of the masses."

"The battle is practically won when the whole State stands secure on this platform. That a public school system generously supported by public sentiment, and generously maintained by both State and local taxation, is the only effective means to develop the forgotten man, and even more surely the only means to develop the forgotten woman. Even ten years ago, many men in North Carolina did not stand on this platform. Now I hear that few oppose such a programme, and those few you will soon educate, for sheer pity."

"Standing in this institution today, it seems incredible that I myself can recall the opposition both of political leaders and of ecclesiastical leaders to free public schools. Nothing else ever made me so nearly helpless. Thank heaven, that opposition is passed. Or if it be not wholly passed, and if any duple of an old political fallacy say that we are too poor to increase our taxes for education, remember that the average amount paid now by every taxpayer is only $2.13; the average amount paid by each taxpayer in the poor State of Maine is $3.23, in Virginia $4.72, in Florida $5.93; in Iowa it is $15."

"Too poor to maintain schools! The man who says it is the perpetrator of poverty. It is the perpetrator that has kept us poor. It smells of the alms-house and the hovel. It has driven more men and more wealth from the State and kept more away than any other political doctrine ever cost us more even than the doctrine of secession. Such a man is the victim of an ancient and harmful falsehood."

"If any beggar for a church school oppose a local tax for schools or a higher school tax, take him to the huts of the forgotten women and children, and in their hopeless prayers remind him that the church system of education has not touched tens of thousands of these lives, and ask him there whether he thinks it wrong that the commonwealth should educate them. If he think it wrong, ask him and ask the people plainly, whether he be a worthy proscriber of the gospel that declares one man equal to another in the sight of God! Is not one man equal to another also in the sight of the commonwealth! In all reasonableness, it is impossible to understand how any man can regard it as a Christian act to stand in the way of the State's elevating the neglected masses. Can any church afford to put itself in such a position? or, if it do, has it any right to complain if good men declare it an unchristian attitude. Even if you could respect the religion of the man who objects to the elevation of the forgotten through public education, it is hard to respect his common sense; for does his church not profit by the greater enlightenment and prosperity that every educated community enjoys? The truth is he does not see a condition, but he is a victim of a theory—a theory as inhuman as the theory that maintained the inquisition. His doctrine, too, smells of poverty—poverty in living, poverty in thinking, poverty in spiritual life."

"The most sacred thing in the commonwealth and to the commonwealth is the child, whether it be your child or the child of the dull-faced mother of the hovel. The child of the dull-faced mother may, for all you know, be the most capable child in the State. At its worst, it is capable of good citizenship and a useful life, if its intelligence be quickened and trained. Several of the strongest personalities that were ever born in North Carolina were men whose very fathers were unknown. We have all known two such, who held high places in church and state. President Eliot said a little while ago that the ablest man that he ever had known in his forty years' connection with the Harvard University was the son of a brick mason. The child, whether it have poor parents or rich parents, is the most valuable undeveloped resource of the State."

While a gang of workmen were excavating on the line of the street railway at Lexington, Ky., one of them struck what appeared to be a piece of pipe, but which proved to be a 64 pound dynamite cartridge. A fearful explosion followed, and five of the six negroes in the gang were blown to atoms. The other was so badly injured that he cannot recover.

A Butcher's Experience. Mr. J. W. Herring, a butcher of Phoenix City, Ala., says, May 14th, 1895: "For five years I had indigestion, which continued to get worse till my suffering was intense. I spent hundreds of dollars trying to get relief, but grew worse until the fall of 1895, when I commenced to use King's Royal Gernetuer. I took only three bottles, but began to improve from the first use of it. I bought it of Dr. D. E. Morgan, and he can tell about my case. I cheerfully recommend Gernetuer as the best medicine for Indigestion and Dyspepsia." New package, large bottle, 108 doses, $1. For sale by Taylor & Banner.
