GRIP TAKES THE CITY IN ITS IRON GRASP.

Government Machinery Almost at a Standstill—Enormous Percentage of Employees Stricken With La Grippe—Capitol at the Mercy of the Plague.

The Grip epidemic is raging in the Capitol City, and fully one-third of the government employees are sick or suffering from the dread disease. Violent headaches, fever and chills, sneezing and running at the eyes and nose together with the bone racking aches and pains and a general exhaustion are the rule rather than the exception. The best way to fight the Grip is to strengthen the nerves and build up the resistive powers so as to throw off the deadly disease germs, and nothing will do this so quickly and surely as Dr. Miles' Nervine. It has restored health to thousands of Grip sufferers after every other remedy had failed.

"When the Grip left me I was a broken down wreck, both mental and physical. My nerves were completely unstrung, my appetite failed, could not sleep and became so despondent that I despaired of ever getting well. I began to im prove with the first bottle of Dr. Miles' Nervine and when I had taken seven bottles I was completely cured. I have been strong and well ever since and weigh more than I ever did before. SAM F. PILBON, Staunton, Va.

All druggists are authorized to sell Dr. Miles' Nervine on a guarantee that first bottle benefits or money refunded. Be sure and get Dr. Miles' Nervine. Booklet on heart and nerves sent free.

Swimming Parties in Hawaii.

One swims in Honolulu as one walks or drives in England, quite as a matter of course. At a luncheon given at a seaside villa, when the lunch frequently fronts the sea, its steps leading down into the water, the first question is—"Would you like to walk about the garden?" but "Will you have a swim?" Frequently riding and swimming parties are combined. Hiding out to Waikiki on a moonlight night on horse-back, the entire party take a dip in the warm lagoon, which is followed by a gay little supper. Balls and swimming parties are also much in favor, and I had the good fortune to be present at one such entertainment. The waiting went on until midnight, then the entire company suddenly dispersed to rooms set apart for them, ball gowns and uniforms were changed for bathing dresses, and after a short interval they returned to the lagoon, thence to a narrow quay jutting far out into the water. The Singing Boys, uniformed in white and wearing ties about their necks, left the veranda where they had stationed themselves, came out upon the quay, and to the sound of their singing and playing, which went on, men and women leaped into the sea and swam to the straits of the music. The moon was full. In the distance rose the mountains. The palms along the beach rustled in the night wind, and with the foam of the surf breaking upon the reef, with the shimmering waves stretching to the horizon, the tropical sky studded with stars that even the full moon could not quench, the wild, melancholy voices of the singers blending with the lap and best of waves, it was all Hawaiian—a characteristic bit of the poetical and fascinating life.—From Mary Krou's "Hawaii and a Revolution."

Puzzling Philippine Names.

A Manila correspondent of the Chicago Record says the fact that the soldiers and sailors out there are struggling with the pronunciation of Philippine names suggests that possibly a few examples will interest Americans who are reading up on our newly acquired possessions in the East Indies.

Many of our boys are struggling with the name "Cavite," although they have been here several weeks. Hundreds pronounce it "Ca-veet," and occasionally a man is found who refers with familiarity to the place as "Ca-vity," while a prominent officer called it "Cavity," as if it were a hole. But the real way—the way the old settlers pronounce it—is "Kav-veety," with the accent on the "veet." "Goregidor," the island at the entrance to the bay, which played a star part in the accounts of the great naval battle of May 1, 1898, is another hard name to pronounce. A good many dodge it by referring to it as "that island out at the end of the bay." Others sail in boldly and call it "Ker-rigidor" or "Kor-rig-a-dor," but the Spanish way is "Kor-reck idor." The Spanish way "Kor-reck idor" is the last syllable were pronounced "peens," but the English call it "pinces." "Mariveles" is pronounced "Marivelles," and "Malacanán" the suburb where the Governor General lived in Manila, should sound like "Malacanyan." "Luzon" is simply "Luzon." "Lingayán" should be pronounced "Linguyan." "Bolinao" is "Bolinow." "Caribao," the water Buffalo, is "Caribow," rhyming with "how." "Cebu," the captured gunboat, whose captain hadn't been reading the "extras" and didn't know war had been declared, sounds as if it were spelled "Cal-yow," and "Cal" rhyming with "sal," and the "yow" rhyming with "how." "Mindanao" belongs to the same class, just as if it was spelled "Mindonow." Following "Mindanao" are several other islands that are queer in the way they spell their names. Take, for instance, "Negros," the great sugar island, which is easy, the one pronouncing it keeping in mind the simple fact that the "ne" is spoken as if it were "nay." "Panay," the home of hard words to pronounce, is called "Pa-nigh," with the accent on the "nigh." "Leyte" is "Lay ty," and "Guimaras" is "Gimmaras." "Batman," in Mindanao, where the gold comes from, is very much disguised, as it is called "Boo-toon-an," with the accent on the "tu." "Iligan" is "Ilegan." "Iloilo" is pronounced "Elo-el-oh." "Camarines" is "Camar-ones," and "Albay" is "Al-bay," the "Al" having the sound as in "Al-tred." "Malate" and "Masbate" are in the same class, the former being "Malatty," and the latter "Masbatty." "Antique" is called "Anticky." "Benguet" is just plain "Benget." "Bayambang" is "By-um bang." "Taguig" and "Visayas," the two great tribes of the Philippines, are "Taguig" and "Viss eye-us." The great volcano of "Taal," in Bantangas, is called "Towel," and the big lake in Luzon is "Lay-goon-a de Bay," although it is correctly written "Laguna de Bay."

Insurrection in Samoa.

Washington advices of recent date state: The situation in the Samoan islands is realized here to be full of gravity. For some time past there has been an exchange of correspondence between the three governments, parties to the treaty of Berlin, respecting the choice of a successor to the late King Malietoa and some strict adherence of the United States government to the terms of the treaty. The statements in the dispatch from Samoa are not regarded here as conclusive for the reason that they are in conflict with the provisions of the treaty.

If, as reported, Raffle, the president of the municipal council at Apia and the German consul have seized the supreme court and pronounced themselves practically dictators, it is said here that they have violated the treaty absolutely. The functions of the president of the municipal council are already defined by the treaty and the last advice received were to the effect that President Raffle had been granted leave of absence and intended to visit New Zealand. It was also understood that his successor had been selected and it was thought was on his way to his post. The chief justice under the treaty is made the court of last resort under any circumstances, and more over, the treaty in terms provides distinctly that in case of any dispute between the natives themselves or between the foreigners in Samoa, that dispute shall be referred to the chief justice and his decision shall be final.

It was known here that the British and American consular officers at Apia have been acting in accord in the present involved political situation there, and although the interests of the United States may not compare with those of Germany, yet their rights under the treaty are equal, and it may be stated they will be maintained.

Work and Life.

Everybody in the world belongs to one of two classes—to those who have joys in hand and troubles to seek, or to those who have troubles in hand and joys to seek. We see it everywhere—folks who have the luxuries of life in a quest for its difficulties, and folks who find difficulties in great store ready-made to their hand in search of its luxuries, aye, in passionate quest even of its necessities. It is all so plain to the observant eye that the philosopher is certainly justified in assuring himself as he lays down his pen or his pick or hisawl on his pillow case, or his law book, that if it is the common lot and the unavoidable condition of contentment to strain after something, it is more interesting and better sport to strain after something that is vitally important than after a thing which is of no particular consequence when you have got it. The struggle for bread finds an immense reward in the bread, if you manage to get it, for bread is truly important, albeit not the only good that life demands. The struggle for the ordinary luxuries of life, for education, solvency, a choice of work, reputation, and satisfactory maintenance, abounds in excellent hazards and chances which keep the mind alert and give a motive for maintaining all the faculties at the point of greatest efficiency. Just as soon as the satisfaction of all reasonable wants is assured, the need of a provision of new difficulties immediately becomes apparent. Nature orders it so. She says that men shall either work or rot. The rot may be dry rot, or it may be the moister form. It may be intellectual or it may be alcoholic. In some form it impends over every idle person, and the fear of it, recognized or instinctive, tends to make the comfortable uncomfortable and good the ought-to-be contented into restlessness. It puts some men on horses and sends them over stiff fences; it sends others far into the woods to live on tea and bacon and to get their brains of business responsibility, and sends it sends into politics or compels to buy themselves with founding colleges and promoting charities or scientific research.—"The Point of View," in the December Scribner's.

NORTH CAROLINA NEWS ITEMS.

Incidents, Accidents and Other Interesting Happenings in the Old North State.

The Confederate Vets met yesterday in Raleigh.

Jim Booker was executed in Raleigh, Wednesday, 18th.

What will Tom Dixon do next—he says he has given up preaching?

Mr. W. A. Ramsey, of Statesville, died of heart failure on Monday.

A boy, under 14 years of age, is in jail at Raleigh, charged with highway robbery.

Heart failure and pneumonia are reaping a rich harvest in North Carolina this winter.

Rev. Tom Dixon, the noted divine from this State, has resigned as pastor of the Peoples' Church in N. Y. city.

The legislature will hardly take action in regard to the passage of an election law before the 15th or 20th of February.

Rev. J. W. Lee, the evangelist, is after the saloon men with a sharp stick. He gets game sometimes when he shoots.

The directors of the North Carolina Railway met in Raleigh Tuesday and declared a semi-annual dividend of 3 per cent.

Highwaymen are still plying their trade in the vicinity of Chapel Hill. A negro was held up the other day and relieved of $1.75.

The residence of postmaster Mullon, of Charlotte, was destroyed by fire on Tuesday afternoon. Almost the entire contents were destroyed.

The State will publish Judge Walter Clark's "Sketches of North Carolina Regiments in the Civil War." It will make interesting reading.

Samuel Spens and wife, of Forsyth county, have gone to California to get their two boys, who were carried two years ago to California by a sailor named J. C. Brown and Bryant Coram.

The hypnotist "got the bulge on Winston" last week and put lots of the boys to sleep in the Twin City. One lousy slept 48 hours and lost several pounds of flesh in the time of it.

The Legislature has been having some fun at the expense of our "son-in-law," of Forsyth county, but Mr. Lowry had the best of it about the time the other fellow fell into his trap.

J. L. Fitch, of Stanhope, Nash county, has offered to give a building and several acres of land for the establishment of an orphanage for the Methodist church in North Carolina.

Mr. W. R. Tucker, one of the most enterprising young business men of Raleigh, died on the 17th inst. He was married ten years ago to a daughter of the late John C. Winder.

Fayetteville is fussing over the liquor license question. What the result will be we do not know. The bar room advocates have a host of followers in Fayetteville as well as in Mount Airy.

Chinese Street Restaurant.

If you were traveling in China, you would not have to go and hunt a place where a restaurant was kept; one would come to you on the streets. You could order your meal and have it cooked in your presence, for the restaurant man carries fuel as well as food in the queer arrangement strapped to his back. He will "set up shop" at any spot you indicate, getting hot charcoal and pans, and ready to prepare any reasonable meal you may order. You can take your meal sitting or standing, whichever you please, for there is an arrangement to suit either form. These street restaurants are hailed with delight, especially by the children in China, for they know how to make any sweet meals. These are of various bright colors and curious shapes, usually with ground nuts or walnuts on the inside. The street restaurant man is always sure to carry a good supply of barley sugar.—Selected.

From the small island of St. Kilda, off Scotland, 20,000 young gannets and an immense number of eggs are annually collected, and although this bird lays only one egg per annum and is four years in obtaining its maturity its numbers do not diminish. Obviously such birds must reach a great age, or they would long ago have been exterminated.

A Night of Prayer.

Just out of Boston a young girl came to me to say:
"Do you believe that God would save my brother, if my mother and I should pray all the night for him?" I told her I believed that God had put the question in her mind, and that I should advise her to put Him to the test.

She told me afterwards, that they returned from the meeting about 10 o'clock, and that they began their prayer at that hour. They continued in prayer until midnight, and until 2 o'clock, and almost 3. Then, believing that God had heard and would answer, they went to sleep.

To my certain knowledge that young man had not before that been within about four miles of the place of meeting; but the next night, he was in the meeting, and at the first opportunity he arose to say, "I wish you would pray for me. I have been deeply convicted of sin, and all last night I felt the greatest desire to be a Christian." That young man was converted that night, and has ever since been a consistent member of the church.

Such illustrations might be multiplied without limit, and they all prove this: "God only waits for us to prove Him, and He is more willing to give than we are to receive."

Superintendent Day's theory that the penitentiary can never be made a paying institution who it includes some half a dozen diverse and far separated farms in all parts of the state is based on sound reasoning. The expense of freights, guards, etc., could be reduced to a minimum were the convicts all worked on one large farm, if the state is to stay in the farming business. The Virginia penitentiary, it is pointed out, supports one large farm and pays the state $40,000 annually.—Charlotte Observer.

DYSPEPSIA

For six years I was a victim of dyspepsia in its worst form. I could eat nothing but milk toast, and at times my stomach would not retain and digest even that. Last March I began taking CASCARETS, and since then I have steadily improved, until I am as well as I ever was in my life.

S. S. S. Cures Sores and Ulcers

It Matters Not How Obsolete, or What Other Remedies Have Failed.

Obstinate sores and ulcers, which refuse to heal under ordinary treatment, soon become chronic and deep-seated, and lead to conditions most serious. They are caused in different ways, but in every case the blood is involved, and no amount of local treatment can have any effect. The poison is eliminated from the blood as a cure can be had.

DOWN FROM A HORSE.

John, of Madison, Kansas, writes: "I was thrown from a horse, and my leg was broken. I was in the hospital for several months, and the doctors did nothing for me. I was so weak and thin that I could not get up. I was told that S. S. S. would cure me, and I bought a bottle. I took it as directed, and in a few days I was able to get up. I took it for a month, and my leg was healed. I am now as well as I ever was, and I can thank S. S. S. for what it has done for me."

Items from Collinstown.

We need a postoffice here and we need it bad.

Mr. Jas. Overby is finishing his house. What next?

Mr. Ed. Hutchens is rebuilding his home destroyed by fire on Dec. 25th.

Mr. Thos. Collins, Sr., is suffering much from a wound received in the civil war.

There has been less tobacco sold from this section than ever known at this season before.

There is much sickness in this section, but no very serious cases—mostly the result of bad weather.

Mrs. Edmund Waller, of the Peeters Creek section, died rather suddenly last week, aged about seventy years.

The excellent public school, Mr. P. P. Pearce, teacher, closes in a few weeks. We wish Mr. Pearce the same success elsewhere that he had while with us.

With best wishes, R. R. C. Collinstown, Jan. 21.

How to Prevent Pneumonia.

You are perhaps aware that pneumonia always results from a cold or from an attack of la grippe. During the epidemic of la grippe a few years ago when so many cases resulted in pneumonia, it was observed that the attack was never followed by that disease when Chamberlain's Cough Remedy was used. It counteracts any tendency of a cold or la grippe to result in that dangerous disease. It is the best remedy in the world for bad colds and la grippe. Every bottle warranted. For sale by Taylor & Banner, Druggists.

Millions for Our Havana.

A late Havana special says Havana citizens will not recognize their favorite square in a few weeks. In and about the public square about $10,000,000 of American money is being invested. Already the Plant system shows plans of a magnificent hotel, to cost $2,000,000, exclusive of the site, for which it paid $500,000. It will face the Hotel Inglaterra. Alongside the Hotel Inglaterra, in the bullet-riddled office of the Cuban paper, Discussion, the Bank of Cuba has started, with well known Cubans and New Yorkers backing it. On the opposite corners and at right angles to the hotels mentioned, the North American Trust Company has secured a valuable option. It offered $500,000 for the corner, now held by Ernest L. Desverriere, who intends to erect forthwith an arcade. Above the arcade an elaborate apartment house on the newest American designs is planned. Opposite the Havana fire station the American Indies Company has secured a site and promises a $1,000,000 hotel.

There is considerable discussion of the question of tax equalization in the state, with a view to more equitably distributing the burden of taxation among the people. The valuation of property for taxation is not fair—some sections being much less in proportion to real value than others. It would be well, if possible, to devise some plan to have property valued for taxation at its real value all over the state, and at the same time reduce the rate of taxation in proportion.—Kinston Free Press.

Young Woman Weds a Convict.

A dispatch of recent date from Mobile, Ala., says: Miss Maudie Loy, of Montgomery, a young woman of excellent family, was yesterday married at Dullville, a convict camp, a few miles north of here, to Dr. W. S. Baldwin, a convict. Baldwin is a member of one of the most influential families in the state. He killed a young man named Edison in Bullock county two years ago, and was sentenced for ten years. He is a highly educated and polished fellow, and has since his incarceration been serving the state as a convict physician.

The Same as Cuba.

A Washington dispatch states that the Democratic Senators in conference had agreed to insist on an amendment to the treaty with Spain, placing the Philippines on the same footing with Cuba, which means that when a stable Government shall be established in the islands this Government shall retire and turn the government of the islands over to their people.

Is Again the Deadly Grip

Is again the full of the grippe. It is the most dangerous of all diseases, and will open the door to Pneumonia and Consumption and invite death. Its sure signs are chills with fever, headache, dull, heavy pains, mucous discharges from the nose, sore throat and never let go enough. Don't waste precious time treating this cough with troches, tablets, or poor, cheap syrups. Care it at once with Dr. King's New Discovery, the infallible remedy for bronchial troubles. It kills the disease germs, heals the lungs and prevents the dreaded after effects from the malady. Price 50 cents, and 1.00. Money back if not cured. Hidden Beauty

In Egypt the custom is for Princesses to hide their beauty by covering the lower part of the face with a veil. In America the beauty of many of our women is hidden because of the weakness and sickness peculiar to the sex. If the Egyptian custom prevailed in this country, many sufferers would be glad to cover their premature wrinkles, their sunken cheeks, their unhealthy complexion, from the eyes of the world with the veil of the Orient.

Chinese Street Restaurant.

If you were traveling in China, you would not have to go and hunt a place where a restaurant was kept; one would come to you on the streets. You could order your meal and have it cooked in your presence, for the restaurant man carries fuel as well as food in the queer arrangement strapped to his back. He will "set up shop" at any spot you indicate, getting hot charcoal and pans, and ready to prepare any reasonable meal you may order. You can take your meal sitting or standing, whichever you please, for there is an arrangement to suit either form. These street restaurants are hailed with delight, especially by the children in China, for they know how to make any sweet meals. These are of various bright colors and curious shapes, usually with ground nuts or walnuts on the inside. The street restaurant man is always sure to carry a good supply of barley sugar.—Selected.

Hidden Beauty

In Egypt the custom is for Princesses to hide their beauty by covering the lower part of the face with a veil. In America the beauty of many of our women is hidden because of the weakness and sickness peculiar to the sex. If the Egyptian custom prevailed in this country, many sufferers would be glad to cover their premature wrinkles, their sunken cheeks, their unhealthy complexion, from the eyes of the world with the veil of the Orient.

Bradfield's Female Regulator brings out a woman's true beauty. It makes her strong and well in those organs upon which her whole general health depends. It corrects all menstrual disorders. It stops the drains of Leucorrhoea. It restores the womb to its proper place. It removes the causes of headache, backache and nervousness. It takes the poor, debilitated, weak, haggard, fading woman and puts her on her feet again, making her face beautiful by making her body well.

Bradfield's Female Regulator is sold in a bottle. Send for our free illustrated book for women. The Bradfield Regulator Co., Atlanta, Ga.
