

IT IS A PITY SO FEW WOMEN

Are Entirely Free From Pelvic Catarrh.

Miss Anna Carlson, Clayton, Ill.

Everywhere the people, especially the women, are praising Peruna as a remedy for all forms of catarrhal difficulties. Roxa Tyler, Vice President of the Illinois Woman's Alliance, writes from 918 East Sixtieth street, Chicago, Ill., the following:

"During the past year I gradually lost flesh and strength until I was unable to perform my work properly. I tried different remedies, and finally Peruna was suggested to me. It gave me new life and strength. I cannot speak too highly of it."

The extreme sensitiveness of the mucous lining of every organ of a woman's body is well known to physicians. This explains why, in fact at least, so few women are entirely free from catarrh. Peruna cures catarrh wherever it is located.

Boer Leaders Confer.

The rumor continues in London that General Botha wishes peace, and has advised President Kruger to make the best terms possible. Mrs. Botha is in London and it is true as to the character of her mission then the long talked of peace may come. It is reported that the arbitration court has taken up the case of the Boers. The Boer agents are at the Hague and Kruger will not visit the United States as first reported. It is not true that Germany offered to take steps to stop the war. Count von Buelow, the Imperial Chancellor, says:

"Neither Great Britain, France nor Russia ever approached Germany to participate in any action aiming at ending the South African war. Germany has all along distinguished between offering her good offices and intervention. To render her good offices would be possible if both parties to the war requested it; but it will be remembered that Great Britain joined the Hague conference only on condition that the Boer states were excluded. There is no doubt that Mr. Kruger, who is a serious statesman, came to Europe to obtain the good offices of several of the powers to end the war; but there is also no doubt that Great Britain does not want their good offices."

Recent reports indicate victories for Kitchener. On the 10th he telegraphed from Pretoria that the "killed, imprisoned or surrendered during the last month totaled 2,640. From June 1 to 9, he says, 26 Boers were killed, 4 were wounded, 409 were made prisoners, 33 surrendered and 651 rifles, 115,550 rounds of ammunition, 120 wagons and 4,500 horses were captured."

Hands and Brains.

There used to be a phrase common in rural communities about the wisdom of a man's using his head to save his hands. It means that hard work is not sufficient to accomplish desirable objects, but that the work must be wisely planned; the power must be properly applied. It is remarkable how many people remain completely oblivious to such a simple truth as that. They are industrious and laborious, but they expend their physical resources in hard and wasteful ways. They do not plan their work. They are like a stone mason who, desiring to split a rock, assails it promiscuously with tremendous blows, instead of spending all the time that is needed to discover the line of cleavage, after which a few strokes of the pick will do the work. Some of the most faithful and hard-working people you know fall just here. They put all their strength into their work, and when they leave out their brains they doom themselves to slavery to their tasks. The time that is spent in discovering the line of cleavage is not wasted. The man who is studying that out is working to the best result; but what a strange facility some people have for grasping a poker by the red-hot end.—From The Watchman.

Differs From the Poetical View.

Tears have their functional duty to accomplish life's other fluid of the body, says the Dietic and Hygienic Gazette, and the lachrymal gland is not placed behind the eye to fill space or give expression to emotion.

The chemical properties of tears consist of phosphate of lime and soda making them very salty, but never bitter. Their peculiar action is very beneficial on the eyes, washing thoroughly that sensitive organ, which allows no foreign fluid to do the same work. "Nothing cleanses the eye like a good, salty shower bath, and medical art has followed nature's law in this respect, advocating the invigorating solution for any distressed condition of the optics. Tears do not weaken the sight, but improve it. They act as a tonic on the muscular vision, keeping it the eye soft and limpid; and it will be noticed that women in whose eyes sympathetic tears gather quickly have brighter, tenderer orbs than others. When the pupils are hard and cold the world attributes it to one's disposition, which is a mere figure of speech implying the lack of balmy tears, that are to the cornea what salt is to the skin or nourishment to the blood.

The reason some weep more easily than others and all more readily than the sterner sex has not its difference in the strength of the tear gland, but in the possession of a more delicate nerve system. The nerve fibres about the glands vibrate more easily, causing a downpour from the watery sac. Men are not nearly so sensitive to emotion; their sympathetic nature—that term is used in a medical sense—is less developed, and the eye gland is, therefore, protected from shocks. Consequently a man should think of the formation of his nerve nature when he contemptuously scorns tears as a woman's practice. Between man and monkey there is this essential difference of tears. An ape cannot weep, not so much because its emotional powers are undeveloped as of the fact that the lachrymal gland was omitted in his optical make-up.

Divorcing an Insane Wife.

That is an ugly story that comes from Florida of Henry M. Flieger's manouvering to be divorced from his insane wife. If the story which is going the rounds of the press is to be credited, the laws of Florida stood in the way of securing a divorce, and so a lawyer was procured who successfully "railroaded" an "insanity divorce law" through the Legislature. By "railroading" a measure through a legislative body is meant its being rushed through its readings while the members are ignorant of its real provisions and intent. An instance in our State was the railroading of the bill applying to certain lumber interests through the last Legislature. Now, according to the new law, which makes insanity a cause for divorce, Mr. Flieger's intention to secure a divorce from his insane wife, is made public and it is said he intends to marry again soon after he obtains it.

A man's repudiation of the woman he married "for better or for worse," because of the sad affliction of lost reason, is repulsive to contemplate. It is another evidence of the appalling laxity prevalent today in American home life. A beautiful contrast is afforded in the story of the tender and pathetic affection which Thomas H. Benton, of Missouri, lavished upon his wife, whose impaired reason cast a dark shadow over his home during the later years of their married life.—Charlotte Observer.

Drive It Home.

Some men think that by making a great stir for a little time they will gain a permanent advantage. This is far from the truth. How quickly a thing is forgotten if it is not continuously advertised! It is said the public have had memories, but perhaps they try and crowd too much in them. One event usurps another in importance, and the panorama of daily incidents diverts the mind from ceaseless concentration on one particular thing. Day by day the happenings increase in number and importance, and the public mind is ever being conducted to a new channel of thought and consideration. The necessity for continuous advertising was never more pronounced than at the present time. A passing flash catches but a moment's reflection. Permanent drive-home advertising makes an impression that lasts.—The Traveling Partner.

In a work train wreck on the Norfolk and Western Railway near Tazewell, Va., James Pruett and Beverly Kinder, both white, were killed, and five other men badly injured. Nine cars were piled up and burned—some days ago.

Freaks of the Newly Rich.

People who after years of grinding poverty suddenly come into great wealth, sometimes put their new fortunes to peculiar uses. Certainly they should be allowed to do so without harsh criticism, for the strangest things done by the newly rich are done to realize a dream which has cheered the heart when the days were full of trouble scarcely to be borne, and helped to lighten the great load of poverty. What poor man has not found a cheap and certain comfort in the midst of afflictions by imagining what he "would do if he were rich." When wealth comes suddenly and unexpectedly and the dreamer sets out to realize his dream people say, "How eccentric." Eccentric it may be, but it is the gratified ambition of a lifetime, the fairy story turned to reality.

A while ago an Englishman, who all his life had never been able to keep his feet shod properly, suddenly came into a large fortune. The first thing he did was to give an order for shoes to several shoemakers, so arranging it that he could put on a new pair of shoes every day in the year. How often had he said to himself in his years of poverty, when his toes were sticking out of his shoes or the water coming into them, "Oh, if I ever get any money, won't I just blow myself on shoes." The opportunity came, and the first thing he did was to indulge in an orgy of new shoes.

A miner who came into an unexpected fortune gave a great feast to his old workmates. Often when the miners were eating the contents of their dinner pails down in the dim galleries of the mine he had thought of what a feast he would like to see spread for himself and his fellow workers. So when he came into his fortune he had one of the galleries of the mine lighted and decorated and a great and costly feast served there to the miners, at which he presided.

Another man who suddenly became rich bought all his particular friends a complete outfit of clothing, even going so far as to furnish each of them with a gold watch and chain. Then he invited them to a famous feast, at which all sorts of expensive luxuries were served. When the guests reached their homes each found an envelope with $50 in it, and a note saying that the money was to pay for a short vacation. This generous man unfortunately died in want and misery not long after receiving his windfall.

A rather romantic way of spending money was that adopted by the builder of Beggar's Bridge, which spans the River Ek. When poor he had the greatest difficulty in meeting his sweetheart, who lived on the opposite bank of the river, owing to the Ek often being swollen and so impassable, even to a good swimmer. The ardent lover, when distraught one day, registered a vow that if ever he became rich he would take good care that the Ek should never suffer again in the manner he suffered. He became rich, and fulfilled his vow by the erection of the Beggar's Bridge.

But there are persons, too, who, instead of dreaming in their poverty of giving pleasure to their fellows, meditate mischief, and when they acquire sudden wealth proceed to their revenge. Not long ago a London character woman found herself possessed of a large fortune. She immediately bought several fine turnouts and spent most of her time for weeks in driving slowly by the houses of her former employers to "show off." Against one woman who had employed her she had an especial grievance, so she bought the house the hated one lived in and raised the rent.

A Birmingham man who received a small legacy invited every tramp he could find in the city to meet him at a certain public house. The tramps came in large numbers and had a hearty meal, after which they were served with pipes and tobacco. They had plenty to drink, and music and songs followed, as did also police court proceedings owing to a free fight, which ended the remarkable entertainment.—N. Y. Press.

A Loss to the State.

The acceptance by Prof. Jerome Dowd, of Trinity College, of the invitation to become resident lecturer in sociology at the University of Wisconsin, is cause for general regret in North Carolina. He is undoubtedly one of the very ablest of the younger men of the State. As college professor, as public speaker and as contributor to the leading magazines of the country, he has proved himself a thinker, and generally a sound one. North Carolina has not so many men of his type that she can afford to lose any of them. The Observer is genuinely sorry that he is to go away.—Charlotte Observer.

Old-Time Religion.

The long-haired parson who imitates him in charge of the world, which would soon go to ruin without him, is having his "inning" now; but he will not afflict us forever. Think for a moment of Parkhurst and Rainsford and Talmage; and then think for another moment of Hoge and Broadus and Phillips Brooks. The world is weary of pulpit mountebanks and sensationalists. It is even tired of the bad grammar of Sam Jones. The pulpits are filled with numbers of men called to be lecturers. They use their pulpits as soundingboards to send their wise sayings to the ends of the earth. They are eternally meddling in politics, or playing leapfrog in the guise of the "reframer." How long, oh Lord, must these men cut their capers on Sunday mornings? When will those great churches be led by real shepherds? Shepherds who feed the flock rather than fleece them? We are grateful that there are only a few of these religious ranters, but like three frogs in a pond, they make you think they are a million. All through the land there are thousands of noble men of God who still break the bread of life to the people, not the rotten husks of their own opinions. But these reflections came to us from reading a very racy article which we found in the Washington Post of Monday, by Rev. William Henry Sharon, a Roman Catholic priest. He says that "the Sunday sermon in many churches needs to be born again of the Spirit of the Gospel; that the devil of sensationalism should be exercised from every Protestant pulpit; that the Gospel of Jesus Christ is what every devout Christian expects to hear in church, not the latest political, social, or literary fad; that the Gospel alone as preached by a Moody or a Spurgeon—the Word of God unaccompanied by any pyrotechnics—is the highest ideal for any Christian preacher, and is sufficiently attractive for all who are Christians in fact as well as in name." The brother is everlastingly right if he is a Catholic.—Charity and Children.

Teachers for Philippines.

Acting Quartermaster General Bird has telegraphed General Long, in charge of transportation at San Francisco, directing him to fit up the transport Thomas, if the Sherman is not available, so that she may sail on July 25 as a special transport for teachers. The Thomas is to be fitted to carry 170 female teachers and 400 male teachers to the Philippines. The War Department has received from Judge Taft approval of the selection of 250 teachers who will be ready to sail on the Thomas. One hundred and fifty six teachers will sail on the Buford and Logan on July 1 and 16.

The accident to the Ingalls will delay the visit of a number of Congressmen who had made arrangements to go to the Philippines. It was expected that the Ingalls would have been ready to sail about July 10. It is not known now when she will be ready to sail, although it is stated at the War Department that she is in no way seriously injured. Among those who were booked to sail on the Ingalls are Senator Bacon, of Georgia; Representatives Berleson, DeArmond, Smith, Illinois; Driscoll, Greene, Weeks, Mercer and Gaines. A number of army officers also intended to sail upon the Ingalls. General Joseph C. Breckinridge, inspector general, is among the number.

Sad Case of Lunacy.

A very distressing case of lunacy comes from Clear Creek near the Surface Hill mine. One day last week Frances Morgan, a daughter of Mrs. Jane Morgan, went suddenly deranged while working in the field and is now a raving maniac. The girl was apparently in her usual mind when she left the house in the morning. She attracted the attention of those working near her in the field by screaming. Several ran to her, but she was so violent that they could do nothing with her for some time. She was finally overcome and taken back to her home. She seized an axe lying in the yard and attempted to kill one of the neighbors. She is kept tied. An effort will be made to get her in the asylum. No one can account for her sudden derangement.

Question Answered.

Yes, August Flower still has the largest sale of any medicine in the civilized world. Your mothers' and grandmothers' never thought of using anything else for indigestion or Biliousness. Doctors were scarce, and they seldom heard of Appendicitis, Nervous Prostration or Heart failure, etc. They used August Flower to clean out the system and stop fermentation of undigested food, regulate the action of the liver, stimulate the nervous and organic action of the system, and that is all they took, when feeling dull and bad with headaches and other aches. You only need a few doses of Green's August Flower, in liquid form, to make you satisfied there is nothing serious the matter with you. For sale by I. W. West, Druggist, Mount Airy, N. C.

EGZEMA'S ITCH IS TORTURE.

Eczema is caused by an acid humor in the blood coming in contact with the skin and producing great redness and inflammation; little pustular eruptions form and discharge a thin, sticky fluid, which dries and scales off; sometimes the skin is hard, dry and fissured. Eczema in any form is a tormenting, stubborn disease, and the itching and burning at times are almost unbearable; the acid burning humor seems to ooze out and set the skin on fire. Salves, washes and other external applications do any real good, for as long as the poison remains in the blood it will keep the skin irritated.

The Indemnity Question

The news dispatches from Peking convey to the official mind the belief that what is known as the British-American plan of settling the indemnity question, is making headway, and that it will be adopted in the end as the only feasible scheme. The firm attitude of the United States in declining to enter into a joint guarantee of the enormous bond issue is believed to have had its effect in inclining the ministers to accept the British-American proposition. It is certain that any movement toward the settlement of this indemnity question must result in unanimity to be effective.

Although often mentioned, details of the British plan have not heretofore been given. They were learned from an authoritative source to be as follows: The Chinese government is to issue bonds to each of the powers to the amount of the indemnity due each. These bonds are to bear four per cent interest with a clause providing one half per cent for amortization. Certain of the Chinese revenues, not specifically designated in the proposition, are to be earmarked for the liquidation of the bonds. A committee appointed by the foreign powers is to take charge of questions relating to the revenues to be applied on the bonds. In case of default on the bonds, the default is to be to the committee and not to the several powers.

A Mountain Gives Way.

A Keyser, W. Va., dispatch says an avalanche, unparalleled in the West Virginia mountains, occurred Monday night at Hopeville, Grant county, thirty-eight miles from here. Great sections of the mountain side along the Potomac river for two miles rushed down into the beautiful valley. Thousands of tons of forest trees, immense rocks and earth came down, and the home of Mrs. Andrew Ours, a widow, was completely wrecked.

Marriage Laws in Cuba.

The War Department has received copies of an order issued by General Wood, compiling the various orders now in force governing marriages in Cuba. The order sets forth the ceremonies, requirements and formalities to be observed in both civil and religious marriages. The Cuban law contains provision for the old custom of reading the bans, though this may be sometimes dispensed with. The marriage fee is limited to $1 United States currency. The final clause of General Wood's order repeals all sections of former Cuban laws in regard to marriage in conflict with the present order.

Productive Soils. Consumptives are Barred.

In the meeting of Southern business men in Philadelphia last week in speaking of the possibilities of agriculture in the South Colonel Hemphill, of Atlanta, said that he could show where one acre of land in his State had produced 119 bushels of shelled corn, where one acre had produced 800 bushels of sweet potatoes, and where on one acre three bales of cotton and on another five bales had been produced. These were all phenomenal yields, and, of course, were the result of special effort and thorough culture.

According to our recollection the five bales referred to were raised on land not far from Atlanta, and on land, too, which a few years before it fell into the hands of the young man who produced such an astonishing amount of cotton on one acre was considered poor land. He did it, of course, by building up the land by fertilizing and thorough intensive cultivation. We have read of cotton in the acre to the acre, in South Carolina; of three bales of cotton, and of 1,300 bushels of Irish potatoes to the acre in this State, but these were on single acres and special effort was made to attain these results. But the fact that such results have been attained shows what may be done, and that it is not so much in the land as in the man who works it.

There is land in North Carolina which ten years ago would not produce ten bushels of wheat to the acre which will now produce more surely from thirty to forty bushels to the acre than it would then ten bushels. The methods which accomplish so much on one farm will do the same on other farms, if followed. There is no such thing as really "worn out" land, of which we have heard so much.—Will Star.

Immigrants with tuberculosis of the lungs heretofore will be debarred from all parts of the United States regardless of boards of special inquiry, which heretofore have used their discretion in the matter. The order, issued by Superintendent of Immigration Powderly, is mandatory. The Board of Special Inquiry at Ellis Island, after receiving the report on a case of tuberculosis from Dr. G. W. Stoner, chief of the medical division of the immigration service at New York, will merely have to debar the immigrant. The Superintendent of Immigration at Washington has declared that "tuberculosis of the lungs is now considered a dangerous contagious disease."

Immigrants with pronounced cases of consumption often have been deported. There are a few instances where a child ill of the disease has been permitted to land with its parents; hereafter there will be no more of these. The rule will apply also to alien passengers coming in the first and second cabins. The steamship agents say their companies will be affected very little by the new order, as their ships bring over few unhealthy immigrants.—New York Sun.
