

NATURE'S CURE FOR CHRONIC ULCERS

Only by removing the cause can any chronic Ulcer or Old Sore be cured. No one will question the truthfulness of this statement. The cause is always from an inward source, never an outward influence, and therefore the only possible way to get rid of these places is to take internal treatment. Pure blood is the one unfailing cure for chronic ulcers; just as long as the circulation is allowed to remain in an impure condition the place will be kept open from the constant discharge of impurities into it from the blood. But pure blood will change this condition and the flesh tissues will be nourished and made healthy, and then nature will promptly and permanently heal the ulcer. S. S. S. is recognized as the greatest of all blood purifiers and therein lies its power to cure old ulcers and sores. It goes into the circulation, and removes every trace of impurity or infectious matter, and so enriches this vital fluid that it nourishes all flesh tissues instead of irritating them with impurities. When S. S. S. has cleansed the blood and the place has healed over it is not a surface cure, but the entire ulcer is filled in with healthy flesh. Book and medical advice free. S. S. S. is for sale at drug stores.

A Promising Man.

The Saturday Evening Post.

The late Senator Elkins of West Virginia was exceptionally good-natured and spent much of his time trying to redeem promises of jobs and legislation he made when approached by constituents he hated to refuse.

One day Senator Carter said to him: "Steve, why in the thunder do you make all these promises and then stew around trying to make good on them?"

"That reminds me of a trip I once made across Iowa by stage," said Elkins. "I rode on the box with the stage driver and we spent several days getting to Council Bluffs. The driver was acquainted all along the line. He had a dog that usually traveled with him, but one trip the dog wasn't there. He was asked about the dog at every stopping place and he explained that she had just become the mother of a fine litter of pups. Each person to whom he made the explanation asked for one of the pups, and in each case the driver promised one.

"When we got to Council Bluffs I said to him: 'My friend I have heard you promise about forty pups on the way across the State. How many pups did that dog of yours have?'

"Four," he replied.

"Well," I asked, "why did you promise to give away about forty?"

"Mister," he said, "did you ever stop to think it's a mighty mean man who won't promise a friend a pup?"

And some people have too much respect for other people's homes and not enough for their own.

The Case of Leper Early.

Asheville Citizen.

News has been received in the city to the effect that John Early, of Weaverville, who has been confined during the greater part of the past three years on account of the fact that he was deemed a leper is now confined in the Northwest with his wife and small child, a recent examination by the United States examining surgeons and a physician who has spent some time in China as a missionary physician, having shown that he is really a leper. The examination and reports show, however, that the disease is not such a dreaded one as was supposed. Early being in good health, otherwise, and being able to perform a considerable amount of manual labor. It is said that he is in good circumstances, is drawing a pension of $75 a month and appears to be well satisfied with his surroundings. It is not possible to ascertain in just what part of the Northwest he is confined, as it is said that he has been placed in a location where his identity is not known and he is not looked upon as an outcast. For the past three years Early has been examined many times and has been declared a leper on some occasions and a well man on others. The last examination, however, reveals the fact that he is afflicted with leprosy, and will doubtless result in his confinement for years and in all probability the remainder of his life.

Stole a Locomotive.

(From The Memphis Journal.)

Gen. Greenville M. Dodge, president of the Society of the Army of the Tennessee, was talking one Memorial Day in Council Bluffs, about railroading.

"The best piece of railroad work I ever heard of," he said, "was performed in 1864 in Maryland. The Confederates were in great need of a locomotive, and the only hope was to capture one. So a small band of men selected from Lee's army, and placed under the command of a tall Georgian, who had been foreman of a quarry and knew a good deal about derricks, dragging, with the Georgian took his men into Maryland, they tore up a section of the Baltimore & Ohio tracks, flagged the first train, and with nothing but rope, dragged a locomotive 57 miles up hills, across streams, through woods and swamps, till they struck a line built by the Confederacy.

"When the president of the Baltimore & Ohio heard of this feat he would not believe it. He went out and personally inspected the route, and he said on his return that it was the most wonderful piece of engineering that had ever been accomplished. After the war he sent for the tall Georgian, and, on the strength of that exploit, made him roadmaster of the whole Baltimore & Ohio.

"Any man," Mr. Garrett said, who can pick up a locomotive with fishing lines and carry it over a mountain has passed his civil service examination with me."

How to Become an Editor.

Most any one can be an editor. All the editor has to do is to sit at the desk six days out of the week, four weeks of the month and twelve months of the year and "edit" such stuff as this:

"Mrs. Jones of Caecus Creek let a can opener slip last week and cut herself in the pantry."

"A mischievous lad of Picketown threw a stone and struck Mr. Pike in the alley last Tuesday."

"John Doe climbed on the roof of his house last week looking for a leak and fell, striking himself on the back porch."

"While Harold Green was escorting Miss Violet Wise from the church last Saturday night a savage dog attacked them and bit Mr. Green several times on the public square."

"Isiah Trimmer of Running Creek was playing with a cat Friday when it scratched him on the veranda."

"Mr. Long while harnessing a broncho last Saturday was kicked just south of his corn patch."

Yes, it's a wonder they draw any salaries for it.—American Press.

Climb a little higher than the crowd and you will be a target for knoekers.

The Charity That Thinketh No Evil.

Evil.

Of sweet charity, that greatness of all Christian graces, it is written "charity thinketh no evil." In a time when every heart is inclined toward the exercise of charity in its lower form and in the most generally accepted sense of the term, some thinking of it with a view to practicing it, others thinking of it in the hope that it will be practiced upon them, perhaps all of us may overlook the practice of that higher form of charity that lies within the mind.

Charity thinks no evil; true charity is unwilling to impute sinister motives and unworthy purposes; true charity is unwilling to take up a lying reproof against a neighbor, much more unwilling to pass it on. True charity guards well the fountain out of which the stream of moral conduct flows, lest the fountain being contaminated the whole stream of the life be polluted. True charity is unwilling to be a moral leper by entertaining impure imaginations, unchaste desires, selfish and unholy ambitions, and reflecting them in the countenance, the speech and the conduct.

Nothing less than such charity is justice. He that without sufficient evidence imputes sinister motives and wrong purposes to his neighbor, he that his swift to pass judgment before the evidence is all in, he that is willing to prejudice a case, has already perpetrated a slander although he has not spoken a word. He has already robbed his neighbor somewhat of that esteem and confidence which is his due, and which if it be totally lost to him leaves him a poor man indeed. He has slandered him in his own mind, he has taken the preliminary step to defamation of character.

A lustful, cruel, bloodthirsty, blood-shedding, oppressive generation, morally depraved and corrupt, was once washed from the face of the earth in the visitation of a great judgment. The charge against them, and guilt under which the charge brought this destruction upon them is written, "every imagination of the thoughts of their hearts was only evil continually."

Guard well your thoughts. "For as he thinketh in his heart so is he" and "keep thine heart with all diligence for out of it are the issues of life," wrote the wise man of long ago and succeeding generations have not added to or modified in any way his statements.

The Apostle Paul, whose influence upon his own and all succeeding generations has been profound, wrote, "Whatsoever things are true, whatsoever things are honest, whatsoever things are just, whatsoever things are pure, whatsoever things are lovely, whatsoever things are of good report, if there be any virtue and if there be any praise, think on these things." Peace on earth and good will toward men will be greatly promoted by our faithful practice of the charity that thinketh no evil.—Charlotte Observer.
