GOOD CORN FARMERS.

Henderson County Boys Make High Average Yield.

Hendersonville, Dec. 21.—The exhibits of 20 young farmers were adjudged here today at the meeting of the Henderson County Corn Club and prizes aggregating $100 were awarded to five boys. The exhibits showed a yield of an average of 72.4 bushels an acre at an average cost of 47 cents a bushel.

Prof. L. O. Schaub of the co-operative demonstration work was here to assist the judges and gave an interesting talk. He stated that the showing was an excellent one, the yield being 10 bushels in excess of the average made by the State as a whole.

The winners were Allen Osborne, Willie Rusher, Roe Warrick, Barton Johnson and Edwin Burge, the prizes being awarded in the following order, respectively: $45, $25, $15, $10, 5. The highest score was 94.6 bushels to the acre at 35.5 cents a bushel. George Ward made 121.3 bushels at a cost of 39.45 cents, but his exhibit was ruled out on account of irregularities in sending in his report.

Allen Osborne, the winner of the $45 prize is the son of a widow living in the Mills River section. He said that he was going to attend the National Corn Exposition in Columbia next month.

Roy Staton had the best exhibit of corn and will get a free pass to the Columbia exposition.

Choked by Window.

Sanford, Dec. 28.—The funeral was held this morning from Pickett Church, near here, of John B. Cameron, Jr., the 10-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. John B. Cameron, who was accidentally killed Thursday.

Thursday morning Mr. Cameron went over to a neighbor's to do some surveying and left his son at home to look after the feeding of the stock at dinner. The little fellow was to feed up at dinner time, close the house and then go over to another neighbor's, where his mother was spending the day.

Husbands More Valuable.

John Hensler of St. Louis fell into a vat of boiling water and was terribly burned. The employing company settled his suit for damages for $1,500. Then his wife sued the company for damages and the company claimed it had settled with the husband and that ended it. The court has just ruled that the woman can go ahead and sue on her own account for any loss she may have suffered by reason of the accident.

She sets forth that the accident made her husband useless in many ways, that he is now "scarcely dead," cannot take her to theaters and parties, and that whereas before the accident he was blithe, genial and a delightful companion, he is now morose and helpless and a burden to her; also that he looks 20 years older than he is. The court says she can recover for loss of her husband's society and attention.

The decision is important and it is interesting as establishing in a certain sense a wife's property in her husband—a thing heretofore not conceded. The idea of the wife as property has long been accepted. Now, if this case finally triumphs we shall see established in another way the "equality of the sexes."

ADMIRAL DEWEY IS 75

Hero of Battle of Manila in Good Health in Spite of Advanced Years.

Washington, D. C., Dec. 26.—An almost continuous stream of messengers climbed the stone steps of a handsome residence at the corner of Sixteenth and K streets today, while through the portals of the big house there passed at frequent intervals men whose furrowed brows and dignified bearing stamped them as diplomats, judges, senators, high officers of the army or navy.

The house, as described by the megaphone men on the "rubber-neck wagons," is "the home of Admiral George Dewey, hero of the battle of Manila bay." Admiral Dewey reached his seven ty-fifth birthday anniversary today and was the recipient of a flood of congratulations, oral and written, from his many friends official as well as private life. The admiral and his family remained at home the greater part of the day, and gave a cordial welcome to the many friends who called to pay their respects.

Admiral Dewey is in good health, considering his years and arduous service, and is rather proud of the fact that he, seventy-five years old, for few men have retained his age retaining their good looks, the vigor of mental and physical youth, and, last, but not least, the natural outcome of a garrison.

The admiral is a native of Montpelier, Vt. He began his remarkable career early, and could not live his life over again, he says, would not change the course it has taken. After a course at the Norwich Military Academy, supplementing the valuable personal instruction of his father, who was one of the best known physicians of his day, the young sailor entered the naval academy at the age of sixteen. Immediately upon leaving the academy, four years later, in 1858, he was ordered to active service and, lacking only a few months' space of time, he has now been fifty-eight years in the navy. For the admiral is still on the active list of the navy and will remain so until the end of his days. This is in virtue of his act of congress creating him a full admiral, the only officer of his rank in the American navy, and which insures him the full pay of his grade, $13,500 a year, during his lifetime.

Admiral Dewey says that, excepting the too close proximity of the bullets, the most interesting training he received after leaving school was under Admiral Farragut, from 1861 to 1863, in the Mississippi river squadron. He happened to be at his home in Montpelier when Fort Sumter was fired upon. One week later he obtained his commission as Lieutenant and was ordered to the west gulf squadron. Admiral Farragut conceived a great liking for the dash and yet cool headed young officer and distinguished him by making him first lieutenant of one of his gunboats.

The story of how Captain Dewey and his squadron of American warships sailed into Manila bay on that historic Sunday morning in 1898 and wiped out the Spanish fleet there, is familiar to all. A fact less generally known, however, is that of Dewey's "captains" in the Manila bay engagement, who in later years made it a habit to join in a dinner as the admiral's guests on the little anniversary, the only one still living is Rear Admiral Asa Walker, whose home is in Annapolis.

For the past twelve years Admiral Dewey has held his present position as head of the general board, the highest in the gift of the navy, and has made his headquarters in Washington. Though seeking always to avoid publicity, Admiral Dewey has become a familiar figure in the capital through his daily drives through the parks in an open carriage. While he is not quite so robust as he was before his illness of a year or so ago he may be said to be in good health, and he continues to perform his duties as president of the general board with as keen interest as officers young enough to be his sons. His position keeps him in touch with all that the navy does. It is work that he likes; it keeps his faculties sharpened; it gives him a zest in life.

Political Row Delays Funeral.

Washington, Dec. 26.—Complications growing out of politics interrupted the funeral today of Charles Curtis, a colored messenger, who for two years has been employed at the House of Representatives. As a result there was a general fight, arrests were made and the funeral was delayed for a day.

Mr. Curtis, the deceased was a local Democratic politician being organizer and treasurer of the Patriotic Liberty League, and editor of a local newspaper devoted to the advocacy of the D. C. spring plow.

This morning Geo. Robinson, also colored who is the white barber at the House of Representatives barber shop and a Democrat, called on the widow of the late Charles Curtis to console with her and discuss the funeral arrangements. When he learned that Mrs. Curtis had contracted with a local undertaker, who is a Republican, to officiate at her husband's funeral he demanded compensation, owing to the price which had been agreed on ($100), but as to the politics of the undertaker. He pointed out to the widow that it was entirely out of keeping with the spirit of her late husband to turn business into Republican hands, and asked for authority to employ a Democratic undertaker.

Today the two undertakers appeared at the home of Mr. Curtis about the same hour and there was not only a business clash, but heated political discussion, and finally the rival undertakers repaired to the House of Representatives barber shop to interview Robinson, who was responsible for the complications. Once there, the discussion grew so heated that finally blows were exchanged and a general fight ensued. Capitol police interfered and arrested all the parties in the melee and took them before Captain Marrow, superintendent of the capitol police. The Superintendent was unable to arbitrate the matter and was on the point of referring the combatants to the Police Court when an agreement was reached that the matter involved should be referred to Jerry South, chief clerk of the House of Representatives, as a referee.

Mr. South took the matter under advisement after according a public hearing to the rival undertakers and their friends. Robinson, the head barber, was involved, and he sent out and brought Representative Cox, of Indiana, who has stood political sponsor for him in patronage matters connected with the House before the arbitration tribunal, and the hearing assumed rather an important aspect before it was concluded. But the rival undertakers were hardly prepared for the judgment rendered by Chief Clerk South, who is a Southern Democrat from the State of Arkansas. Mr. South decided that both undertakers had acted in an indecorous manner, and that their prices were rather high, and he awarded the contract to a white undertaker for $125, much to the disgust of the parties litigant. Their disgust was increased somewhat by disclosure tonight that the white undertaker, who will bury the late messenger tomorrow, was conspicuous in the recent campaign as a Bull Moose.

DR. KING'S NEW DISCOVERY
Will Surely Stop That Cough.

A BLOOD MEDICINE WITHOUT ALCOHOL.

Recently it has been definitely proven by experiments on animals that alcohol lowers the germicidal power of the body and that alcohol paralyzes the white corpuscles of the blood and renders them unable to take up and destroy disease germs. Disease germs cause the death of over one-half of the human race.

A blood medicine, a 100% entirely without alcohol, which is a pure glycerin extract of roots, such as Bloodroot, Gaura's root, Golden Seal root, Mandrake and Stone root, has been successfully used by physicians for the past forty years as Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. The refreshing influence of this extract is like Nature's influence—the blood is bathed in the tonic which gives life to the blood—the vital fires of the body burn brighter and their increased activity consumes the tissue rubbish which has accumulated during the winter.

Dr. R. V. Pierce, the founder of the Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute, and a physician of large experience and practice, was the first to make up an ALTERNATIVE EXTRACT OF ROOTS, without a particle of alcohol or narcotic.

"It is with the greatest of pleasure, that I write to let you know the great benefit I received from the use of your medicines and self-treatment at home," writes Mrs. Wm. Heyen, of Ladysmith, B. C. "I suffered for three years from a running sore. Consulted four doctors but they failed to send or give relief. Finally I was told I was in consumption and would have to consult a specialist concerning me, but that doctor said nothing could be done for me. I then consulted Dr. Pierce and advised me to write to Dr. Pierce, which I did, and after six months' use of the treatment the sore is healed, and I enjoy better health than I ever did. I recommend the word with Dr. Pierce's All-Healing Salve and use of the 'Golden Medical Discovery' and 'Pleasant Pellets' for many troubles. I shall always recommend your medicines."

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets regulate liver and bowels.
