It is interesting to note that two of the leading milling companies of this county have gone in the mixing of a good laying mash for hens. Believing in the old maxim of keeping the money at home these mills are following a well known feeding formula of the best poultrymen of the country, and using home grown feeds produced in this county. Instead of having expensive meat meal shipped in from the north they are using fish meal produced in this state. The only ingredient in the mash which is not produced in the state is salt. The Granite City Mill, Mount Airy, is selling about 1,000 a day having started this mixing only a short time ago. The Elkin Roller Mill, Elkin, is expecting to be able to furnish their own mixed feed in a few days.

MASSACHUSETTS' NEW AUTO LAW IS EFFECTIVE

Insurance is Made Compulsory Before Car Can Be Operated in Bay State.

Boston, Jan. 2.—With mingled high hopes and misgivings Massachusetts put into effect yesterday the first compulsory automobile insurance law in the United States. Every automobile owner in the state, and there were 450,000 last year, before he can obtain a registration license for 1927 must post a bond to cover accident liabilities or show an insurance policy covering the same risk.

Under the power of the legislative act, Insurance Commissioner Wesley E. Monk promulgated some months ago rates for the various classes of motor vehicles. The state was divided into three territories with metropolitan Boston paying the highest premium.

These rates have already drawn fire. Some residents have protested that the districting of the state constitutes discrimination, which is forbidden by law. Companies operating taxicabs or other groups of cars have sought a "fleet rate," which the attorney general has said is illegal under the present law. Insurance companies have not looked kindly on the rule which makes it mandatory for them to insure all applicants.

Battles over these and other provisions are already under way in the courts and the incoming legislature will also face them. The proponents of the law have declared that these are difficulties in the machinery of the law and that time will eliminate inequality or injustices. The supporters of the principle of the law are not confined to the limits of the state.

By this law the cost of automobile operation in the state are greatly increased. The owner driver of a small car in 1926 paid $10 for registration and two dollars for an operator's license. In 1927 he must pay also from $16 to $30 as an insurance premium. The rates for larger and commercial vehicles scale up to about $150 a year.

SIX NOW AWAITING DOOM IN DEATH CHAIR

Three Negroes Scheduled To Die This Month—Four Executions During Past Year.

Raleigh, Jan. 2.—A last minute addition ran the number of death row inmates greeting the New Year at state's prison to seven.

Six languished there when the last execution of 1926 took place but recently they were joined by George Frank Basemore, Greene County negro, who came with a January 20 death sentence hanging over him.

Robert Lumpkin and Booker Williams, Robeson county negroes, are the only other members of the grim colony with the day of their death set. They have been twice reprieved and the final date is now January 21. The other four men have appeals pending. They are: W. L. Ross, white, Warren county negro; Ernest Walker, negro, Durham, and Charlie Johnson, negro, Mecklenberg.

There were four executions in 1926, running the total for the death chair to 87 since its establishment in 1909. Last year there were also four commutations, give life an even break with death.
