(By Miss Western Newspaper Union.)

No star is just which ever once was seen. We always may be what we might have been.

FOOD THAT IS LIKED

A salad is always a dish to include in any luncheon menu, as well as dinner.

Cabbage Salad.—Cut a small, new cabbage into quarters, and let stand in ice water to chill; dry in a cloth, cut out and discard the hard center, then shred very fine; add a shredded green pepper freed from seeds and veins and a tablespoonful of fine chopped parsley. For a pint of material mix one-half teaspoonful of salt, one-fourth teaspoonful of mustard, the same of pepper, four tablespoonfuls of oil, and two tablespoonfuls of vinegar. Mix thoroughly. Garnish with bits of cooked beet and hard-cooked eggs.

Tomato and Onion Salad.—Peel and slice ripe tomatoes; peel and cut into thin slices one mild onion. Put the onion in the salad bowl and pour over four tablespoonfuls of French dressing; with a salad fork and spoon turn the slices of onion over and over in the dressing. Add the slices of tomato and turn them carefully in the bowl, to keep the shape; add some tender heart leaves of lettuce and serve at once.

Vegetable Salad.—To one-fourth cupful of French dressing add one tablespoonful each of finely chopped onion and parsley; mix thoroughly and pour over one-fourth of a cupful each of shredded cabbage, sliced celery and radishes, one-half cupful of cooked beets and carrots cut into small cubes. Toss in a salad bowl until well mixed. Serve on lettuce leaves.

Century Salad.—Slice a cucumber or two, add sliced red pepper and chopped olives, with a bit of scraped onion. Serve with either a French or a boiled dressing.

Frozen Tomato Salad.—From a can of tomatoes take all the large pieces of pulp, press them through a sieve and season highly with salt, pepper, onion juice, and a little tarragon vinegar. Put this mixture in the freezer and freeze as for water ice. Take out the dasher, work down well into the can, repack and let stand for two hours. Chop not too fine a half cupful of walnuts and serve the tomato on lettuce sprinkled with the nuts and garnished with mayonnaise. Or pass the mayonnaise in a bowl.

"BEN-HUR," WORLD'S MIGHTIEST ATTRACTION

At National Theatre, Next Monday and Tuesday

The magnificent plot, fine characterization and beautiful love story are among the outstanding reasons why "Ben-Hur" has gripped the imagination of America for fifty years. In the motion picture coming to the National Theatre on Monday and Tuesday the splendid portrayals of Ben-Hur by Ramon Novarro, Esther by May McAvoy, Mother of Hur by Claire McDowell, and Tirzah by Kathleen Key, add to the effect and enhance the romance. These players live the romantic side of the story, which is just as engrossing as the sea battle or even the chariot race.

Miss McAvoy, who previously was best remembered by her role of Grizel in "Sentimental Tommy," is a charming Esther, daughter of the Merchant of Antioch, who secretly has saved the Hur fortune for the young heir, and Ramon Novarro in the Ben-Hur role is handsome, marked by sincerity, depth and range of feeling.

Perhaps the deepest note is struck after Ben-Hur and Esther set out to find his lost kin, who have been imprisoned in a forgotten Roman dungeon and (unknown to him) finally released as outcasts. Mother and Tirzah find the youthful Ben-Hur asleep on a bench outside the disused Palace of Hur. The sister kisses his shoe but the mother does not dare to touch him. Silently they go away to save him from the ruin which is theirs.

There are few dry eyes during the enactment of this scene. But the sorrow is turned to joy after Esther discovers the outcasts in the Vale of Hinnom, takes them to the Divine Healer, whose benediction cures them and the happy four are reunited.

Performances start, matinee 2 P. M.; night 7.00 and 9.00 P. M.

RULE OF CONDUCT FOR AUTOMOBILISTS

Supreme Court Upholds "Stop Look and Listen" For Railroads.

Washington, Oct. 31.—A rule of conduct for automobiles and others who cross railroad tracks was laid down today by the Supreme Court in a case appealed by the Baltimore and Ohio railroad.

In setting aside a judgment in favor of the estate of Nathan Goodman, killed at Whitefield, Ohio, the court, through Justice Holmes, declared that "when a man goes up on a railroad track he knows that he goes to a place where he will be killed if a train comes upon him before he is clear of the track. He knows that he must stop for the train, not the train stop for him.

"In such circumstances it seems to us that if a driver cannot be sure otherwise whether a train is dangerously near he must stop and get out of his vehicle, although obviously he will not often be required to do more than to stop and look. It seems to us if he relies upon not hearing the train or any signal and takes no further precaution, he does so at his own risk."

The court announced that it had laid down this rule of conduct for the control of all courts, "once for all."

MISS ROBINSON FREED AT CHARLOTTE HEARING

Judge Currie Finds No Probable Cause in Connection With Brother's Death

Charlotte, Nov. 1.—Miss Catherine Robinson, 18-year-old school girl, went back to her home in Catawba county this afternoon, freed of a charge of manslaughter in connection with the killing of her brother, Conley E. Robinson, prominent young lawyer, last Thursday morning.

City Judge E. M. Currie ruled that there was no probable cause for holding the girl for Superior court after the state had introduced its evidence, and the girl was free.

Witnesses called by the state included Mrs. Conley Robinson, wife of the slain man, who told the court, in response to a defense question, that she believed that her husband would have killed her if his sister had not interfered. She told of his coming home, apparently crazed, attacking her as she held their sick baby in her arms and then attacking his sister.

Mrs. Robinson told the court she did not believe her husband knew what he was doing at the time. Her testimony was interrupted by intermittent spells of weeping.

Other witnesses included Police Chief West, Dr. R. Gallant and Detectives Allison and Honeycutt, all of whom were at the Robinson home shortly after he was fatally shot.

Miss Robinson did not go on the stand, the defense resting its case without presentation of evidence. She was greatly affected during the trial. During the afternoon she left with her father, Rev. C. W. Robinson, veteran Baptist minister, for their home near Long Island in Catawba county, 12 miles from Statesville.

Court officials said today that this case had been cleared up with record speed, only five days having elapsed since the tragedy at the Robinson home until the final chapter was written in court today.

Berlin Cremations Outnumber Burials

Berlin, Nov. 1.—Berliners prefer cremation of their deceased to burial or interment in mausoleums. The number of funerals in recent months has been about 2,100 per month. Of these the number of cremations was usually about 1,075, that of burials 1,025.

The chief reason for the preference given cremation is an economic one. In a world city like Berlin burial lots are expensive, and the cemeteries are far beyond the confines of the city and difficult of access. Then, too, the crematories furnish double coffins—that is, the outer coffin is heavy oak and the inner pasteboard. The family pays only for the inner coffin, which is burned with the corpse, while the oaken coffin remains property of the crematory and is loaned successively to bereaved families.
