Low Fords Now Being Assembled

Detroit, Nov. 7.—The following amount of production of new Fords is allowed to be authentic and is given at by leading automobile authorities:

While production has been under way since about October 20 when the first motor came off the line and was stamped by Ford, complete assemblies did not get under way until Monday Oct. 31.

Since that time, output has been gradually increased until now between 60 and 70 cars are being manufactured daily.

This output, at present, is confined almost entirely to the two-door models. A few of the roadster models are being built. It is evident from activity at the plant that efforts are being made to speed up the production of this model as soon as possible.

Final work is also being done on the four-door jobs, and it appears likely that this will be the next model to go into production.

The complete assemblies, in knock-down form, are being shipped to the various assembly plants as fast as possible. The early shipments are going to the far-away points first.

Our latest investigation discloses that it is the present plan of the company to speed up production in order that between 300 and 500 complete assemblies may be made daily within the next two or three weeks.

In order to provide for this increase we have learned that plans are being made to add many thousand men to the present payroll. Employment right now continues active and large numbers are being added to the working forces daily.

While it will take considerable time to supply the entire dealer organization with sample lines, it appears that efforts are being made to get the jobs into key points so that a showing may be made in the very near future.

New Car Good Looking

We have been fortunate enough to view the new car, and we can truthfully say that it is a good-looking automobile. The Ford, as we formerly knew it, is a thing of the past. The new car is a modern automobile.

To the man who has been accustomed to the Ford car, the new model will be a revelation. To the man who has been accustomed to a more modern automobile than the old Ford, it will be a good-looking little modern car with many outstanding mechanical and construction features.

The body design of the new car comes closer to resembling a little Chrysler than anything we can think of. It has that same type rounded panel in the back, and the window designs are similar. A streamline effect is used, instead of the old break in line at the cowl. The radiator is rounded and is something like the Whippet, although not as extreme.

The nameplate is oval with a blue enamel background and the familiar trade name Ford worked in.

Full crown fenders, along the Lincoln design are used. The car is equipped with full bumper in front and bumperettes in the rear. They are Ford-made.

MEXICAN REBELS FACE FIRING SQUAD COOLLY

Mexico City, Nov. 8.—The rebel leaders executed in recent days in the state of Vera Cruz faced the firing squads with fortitude traditional among Mexican military men.

Fernando Reyes, rugged old revolutionist of the Villa days, when he stood before the squad, took command himself and personally issued the order to fire. In obedience to his words the bullets ploughed through his body.

General Adalberto Palacios turned to the spectators when some joke caused them merriment, and said rebukingly:—"This is no laughing matter."

Palacios, however, laughed himself, when Martinez Pulido, who was standing beside him ready to be shot asked Palacios for a few paces.

"Be sure and pay them back," said Palacios, handing the money to Pulido, who gave it to the members of the firing squad as an inducement to take good aim and put the bullets through his heart.

To insure precise marksmanship and instant death, Pulido unbuttoned his shirt, bared his chest, and pointed his finger at the heart, as the soldiers fired.

GOMEZ EXECUTED BY FIRING SQUAD

Bodies of Mexican Rebel Leader and Two Companions Brought To Mexico City.

Mexico City, Nov. 6.—The body of General Arnulfo Gomez, one of the chiefs of the recent revolution, was brought back to Mexico City late last night. Gomez had been captured and executed near Teocelo, State of Vera Cruz, by General Escobar, commander of the federal forces, early Saturday morning. Two other rebel officers were executed at the same time, General Viscarra and Col. Castanos, and their bodies were on the same train.

It was difficult to recognize the Gomez of old. His characteristic up-turned moustache was gone; there was a light growth of beard, and the body was thin, showing the effects of privations Gomez must have suffered during his short-lived rebellious adventure. A mole on the left cheek, near the mouth, made identification possible.

Take Photograph

A photograph was taken of Gomez and his nephew, Francisco Gomez Viscarra, and Colonel Salvador Castanos, as the bodies, dressed in civilian clothing, were laid in ambulance stretchers at the railway station, while large crowds, eager to satisfy their curiosity, surged around.

Viscarra's body was lowered first from the box car and was immediately identified by his widow, despite the dishevelled beard. Next came the body of Gomez and finally that of Castanos. They were taken to the military hospital where surgeons were ready to make an autopsy, as required by law before burial.

Gomez showed seven bullet wounds, four near the heart, Viscarra thirteen, Castanos five. When the surgeons' work was completed, Gomez and Viscarra were laid in two silk-lined coffins bearing silver plates, on which the names and date of death were inscribed, and turned over to Vito Alessio Robles, brother of the president of the anti-re-electionist party supporting General Gomez in the presidential race. The body of Castanos remained unclaimed on a marble slab in the hospital.

FIFTEENTH CHILD WEDS THE FIFTEENTH CHILD

Large Families Are the Order of the Day in Cleveland County.

Shelby, Nov. 6.—An indication as to the large families of Cleveland County is shown in the fact that there is in this county a young married couple in which both the husband and wife were the fifteenth child in their respective families.

Dathia Spangler, who now lives with his wife in the Union community, was the fifteenth child of Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Spangler. Several years ago he was married to Miss Gladys Mauney, who was the fifteenth child of Mr. and Mrs. Marcus Mauney.

There were seventeen children in the Spangler family—13 boys and four girls—and fourteen of the children are living, three of the boys being dead.

In the Mauney family there were 16 children, all of whom are now living.

Some time back Rev. John W. Suttle, prominent Baptist minister, stated that in his opinion the fifteenth child in each family married each other and a later check-up reveals that Rev. Mr. Suttle was correct.

Both families are prominent in the community life, social, church and business life of Shelby and the county.
