NEWS. GENERAL

Matters of Interest Condensed Into Brief Paragraphs.

Bryan carried New York city by 28,000 but lost the state by 145,000.

Grover Cleveland went back and voted, but who for is not stated and made no appreciable difference.

A federal judge in San Francisco has decided that Hawaiians are not Ameri-cans, or rather citizens of this country.

Atlanta newsdealers will not handle the New York Sun because of its mean attack upon the memory of Gen. Robert E. Lee.

A. S. Kilson, whose father, Commodore Kilson, was worth $15,000.000, is now a bill poster in St. Paul, at $60 a month. On his 25th birthday he inherited $100,-000 and got through with that in short order. On his 30th birthday he will receive another instalment.

The American Rice Growers' Distribution company, limited, has been incorporated at Crowley, La., with a capital of $15,000,000, half of which is paid. The officers are as follows: William K. Vanderbilt, of New York, president; Wil-liam Duson, of. Crowley, vice president and general manager; Alexander W. Hall-burg, of New York, treasurer; James P. McGovern, of New York, secretary.

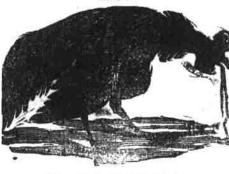

A Curious Coincidence.

The letters "O N" might be supposed to possess a mysterious charm, as they form the termination of many of the most distinguished names in history No other letters of the alphabet will furnish so remarkable a coincidence as may be found in the following list made up from ancient and modern names: Aaron, Solomon, Agamemnon, Solon, Bion, Phocion, Bacon, Newton, Johnson, Addison, Crichton, Porson, Buffon, Montfaucon, Tillotson, Fenelon. Massillon, Warburton, Leighton, Lytton, Walton, Anacreon, Ben Jonson, Milton, Byron, Thomson, Tennyson, Anson, Washington, Napoleon, Wellington, etc.

A Greek scholar has called attention to a very curious coincidence about the name of Napoleon. If you take away the first letter of his name, you have "apoleon;" take away the first letter of that word, and you have "poleon;" do this successively down to the last syllable, and you have "leon," "eon" and Put these several words togeth er in this order, Napoleon on oleon leon eon apoleon poleon, and you have a Greek phrase the literal translation of which is "Napoleon, being the lion of peoples, went about destroying cities.'

Once I was fat, I was handsome and stout, Oh! I looked beautiful, And I felt, oh! so proud. 1900.

But now I am haggard, I look thin and worn out, I'm not today handsome And do not "crow" loud. [Contributed.]

In Virginia.

Bryan carried state by 25,000 majority. Returns indicate that Democrats elect congressmen from every district with possible exception of 10th, where it may take the official vote to decide.

Brown's Buttered Watermelon, Colonel George W. Anderson, a man of splendid genius and rare oratorical gifts, was stumping for Greeley and Brown down in southwest Missouri. One night in the midst of his speech an old fellow arose in the back of the Ir house and said:

"Colonel Anderson, is it true that K Governor Brown was so drunk at that | M Yale alumni dinner that he buttered M his watermelon?"

Colonel Anderson reared back on his Mi pastern joints, straightened himself to Ne nis o reet and with a non's roar a swered:

OVATION TO SIMMONS.

Makes a Speech Urging Harmony and Good Feeling.

Raleigh, Nov. 6 -- Chairman Simmons was serenaded at 10:30 o'clock tonight. A great crowd gathered and gave him an ovation. He made a stirring speech in response to the calls.

Chairman Simmons said: "My friends and fellow citizens: I thank you for this splendid demonstration. I am deeply grateful to my friends of this city, this county, and all over North Carolina for the efforts they have this day made in my behalf. The senatorial fight has been a sharp one. Much anything that ought not to have been said, I regret it and I am sure they regret it. Some hard things have been said though I may be unable to forget them. We all belong to the same household; we are brethren. Now that the fight is over. it behooves us to close up ranks and get together; coase fighting each other; cease complaining; cease criminations, and recriminations, and get ready for the next fight against the common enemy. In the name of the Democratic party, I appeal for harmony. Let us bury our differ-ences, forget dissensions and present a solid front. No man ever had truer and more loyal friends than I have had in this contest, not only in this city and county, but in every county in the State. They have worked hard for me; they have given their time; they have made sacrifices; they have worked earnestly and in-telligently. The result is a majority sufficiently large, not only to gratify me, but to vindicate me against any aspersions that may have been cast against me in the heat of the contest. Advices received indicate my majority will ex-ceed 50,000. It has been my ambition all along to win by as big a majority as you gave Aycock in August. It may not quite reach 58,000, which was his ma-jority, but it will not fall far short of it. It is enough and I am satisfied.

"News from the national election is not altogether satisfactory, it may be that we have lost our great leader. I do not despair, but news fills me with doubt and more grief than the joy I feel in my per-sonal triumph. If we have lost Bryan, it is the nation's loss and to Democrats of North Carolina who have supported him so correctly and so lovely it is a him so earnestly and so loyally it is a personal loss as well. What a grand thing it would have been to have elected this great man and champion of the people president of the United States. "My term as senator will extend for six years from next March and, if we have lost, at the end of the term beyond all doubt we will elect our president, and I will have two years more, and then we will take possession of the places now filled by the enemy.'

Interesting North Carolina Items

In Condensed Form.

Durham Herald: An evangelist who has just closed a meeting in Salisbury was presented a purse of something over $600. Of course this was purely volun-tary, but we hope the good old Methodist brother who has to attend conference next month will have no trouble in settling up his affairs.

A special, Nov. 6, from Raleigh says: feeling has been displayed and some bit-terness engendered. Doubtless both sides have said things that had better have been left unsaid. If my friends have said went to the polls and voted for Mc-Kinley, but did not work, and that tonight they went in ex-Congressman Nichols' office, took election returns and about me. I will try to forgive them, shut the negroes out. Jim Young, the negro leader here, says: "The negroes intend to take charge and control of the Republican party in North Carolina. Our minds are made up to do this."

Greensbero Record: The biggest fraud in the country is the "Old Horse" sale of the express company, held every two or three years. It is unclaimed freight and is sold like a bag in the bush, no one knowing what is being offered for sale. A darkey paid $1.75 for a package Saturday at the sale here and when he opened it he found he had a bundle of white supremacy literature left over from the summer campaign. Of course he was mad-who wouldn't be under such circumstances? But the fellow who dances must pay the fiddler.

Raleigh Post: Dr. Cyrus Thompson, secretary of state, has received a letter from Judge Advocate Gen. Samuel C. Lemley of the United States navy de-partment, asking that the State records be searched for any record leading to the discovery of any direct descendants of Capt. Johnston Blackley. This is for Capt. Johnston Blackley. This is for the purpose of finding some one to christen the new torpedo boat Blackley when it is launched at South Boston, November 22. Judge Lemley says that it has been discovered that Capt. Black-ley married a Miss Hoope, of New York, and one child, a daughter, was educated in North Carolina. Hence the hope which the officials of the department which the officials of the department have of living relatives in this State through the aid of the secretary of State.

A special from Greenville, Nov. 6, says: The mayor of Greenville furnishes a list of cases disposed of in his court each week to the Reflector for publication. The names of Charles John O'Hagan and Charles Janzes were in the list of convictions for being drunk and disorderly that appeared Monday, and because their names were published they intercepted the editor while going from his office to his home Monday night and attempted to assault him. O'Hagan grabbed Editor Whichard around the body when the latter drew a gun. the sight of which protected him against harm. The assailants were given a hearing before Mayor Moye this morning and fined ten dollars and costs each. They appealed to the superior court and are bound over. Wilmington Star, 6th: News of a cowardly and brutal assault by Willie Jones, a young white man, upon his mother, Mrs. Jones, at her home near Whiskey Creek, was brought to the city yesterday, and Sheriff MacRae with Deputies Millis and Dr. W. McMillan left immediately for the scene of the crime. From the information that could be gathered, it seems that Jones quarreled with his mother about getting his breakfast and without provocation struck her several terrific blows in the face with a stick, knocking out her right eye and badly bruising her head. The only other persons in the house at the time were Mrs. Jones' two daughters. One of them was knocked down by the infuriated man before he left the house. Mrs. Jones ran to a neighbor's house and fell exhausted on a bed. The news spread rapidly throughout the neighborhood and in a short time a posse of men were searching the woods for Jones. The sheriff and his posse joined in the search, but could not locate the villain.

A Lucid Decision.

A correspondent, referring to a recent article in Law Notes on "The Grammar of the Courts," calls attention to the following lucid decision of Sir John Taylor Coleridge in the case of Turley against Thomas, 8 C. and P. 103, 34 E. C. L. 312: "It has been suggested as a doubt by the learned counsel for the defendant whether the rule of the road applies to saddle horses or only to carriages. Now I have no doubt that it does."-Law Notes.

An Accident.

Little Bessie having been punished for misbehavior, slunk to the other end of the room, crying. Her mother turned to view her repentance, but found her engaged in making faces at her.

"Why, Bessie," said her mother, "how can you do so?"

"Oh, mamma," answered the little girl, "I was trying to smile at you, but my face slipped."-London Answers.

Still Free.

After two solid hours of moonlight and uninterruption she thought she had him. "I admit that you are the sweetest"-

"Yes, go on," she whispered. "But the doctor has forbidden me sweets," he added. And the sensitive moon retired behind a cloud .- Philadelphia Record.

Falling Hair

If your hair is coming out by the handful, you are losing from 500 to 1000 hairs a day l You are bound to have thin hair or no hair at all very soon at this rate, aren't you? Better stop this falling at once by using Ayer's Hair Vigor. It will make your hair grow, too, grow thick and long.

"Yes, it is true that Governor Brow buttered his watermelon at the Yal alumni dinner, and I am happy to in form you that that is the only way in which watermelons are eaten in polit society."

Anderson's happy retort was greete with a shout of laughter and a roar o applause by his auditors. His inter rogator sat down discomfited, and that was the last ever heard of the story of the buttered watermelon-all o which goes to demonstrate the value of Danton's famous motto: "L'audace! L'audace! Toujours l'audace!"

Colonel Anderson was a wonderfu stumper. He was most emphaticall a rough diamond. In the rough an tumble, catch-as-you-can style of deba ing he never had a superior in Mi souri, which is saying a great deal. H was an adept in the use of every sp cies of oratorical weapon.-Cham Clark in Saturday Evening Post.

The Errors of Society.

The dark blots that divorce makes 1 society are too easily seen and too sa to write much about, so I will giv only a few incidents of the absurd an humiliating positions in which peopl may be placed: I once occupied a sea on the grand stand at the Newport Ca sino during a tennis match. After had been in my seat a short time, man I knew, once divorced, but remain ried, came in with his new wife and occupied the two seats on my left, and a few moments later the woman from whom he had been divorced and who had also remarried came in with her new husband and sat directly on my right. Whether the ticket agent arranged this for a joke I am not prepared to say, but all went well until I grew tired of the game and got up, leaving the four in a straight row, which made an interesting picture for a few moments. The four soon realized, however, what people were staring and smiling at, and, looking daggers at one another, immediately rose and disappeared in the crowd. The incident amused the lads and misses very much

A lady I know very well in New York, who was giving a dinner party, told me she always dreaded the arranging of her guests at her tables, lest she put people together whom the "Inw had set apart," as she put it. "It would be perfectly dreadful to seat a gentleman beside a lady to whom he is paying alimony."-Smart Set.

SIMMONS AND CARR.

Messages Exchanged Between the Eminent Democrats Yesterday On the Result.

Raleigh, Nov. 7.-Gen. Julian S. Carr telegraphs Mr. F. M. Simmons today as follows:

"Accept my heartiest congratulation. In all your efforts to promote welfare of North Carolina and Democratic party, I pledge my loyal support.'

Mr. Simmons replied:

"Accept my thanks for congratulations." It is my earnest desire that any dissen-sions in our party may be speedily healed. I trust the spirit of your telegram will meet with universal response from our party friends and that we may all work together for the success of the Democracy and welfare of the State. Surely nothing shall be left undone on my part to accomplish this much to be desired result."

The Latest News.

New York. Nov 7 .- The Evening Post gives McKinley 284 and Bryan 155, with Nebraska in doubt. The Post makes the Republican majority in the house 41. Kentucky is probably for Bryan. Sena-tor Clarke in Montanais probably elected. The Republican plurality in Indiana is 20,100; in Illinois, 100,000; in Utah, a clean sweep. Colorado goes for Bryan by a reduced majority. Missouri gives a by a reduced majority. Missouri gives a heavy Democratic plurality. Ohio gives 60,000 majority for McKinley; South Dakota, 10,000 for McKinley. In Idaho the Republicans gain enough to carry the state. Delaware goes for McKinley by about 2,500. The legislature is close. McKinley's plurality in the state of New York is 147,459. In Greater New York (the city) McKinley received 280,394; Bryan, 308,018. For governor, Odell has 271,155; Stanchfield, 316,123.

CROKER ON THE RESULT.

Richard Croker this morning looked wan and haggard when he came down to breakfast at the Democratic club. He said: "I feel very bad and tired. I guess I couldn't feel much worse. Of course I am greatly disappointed that Bryan didn't win. I honestly believed that he would be elected."

DELAWARE VICTORY TEM. PERED.

State Goes for McKinley, But Democrats Will Control Legislature.

Wilmington, Del., Nov. 6.-Returns so far as completed indicate a Republican majority in Newcastle county of 2,000 to 2,500. This will give the state to the Republicans by 1,200 to 1,500. The Democrats have carried Kent and Sussex counties, according to earlier re-ports, electing the two state senators and nine out of ten representatives in Kent county, and making gains in Sus-sex county. This makes it certain that the Democrats will have a majority of the next legislature, and elect two Democratic senators.
