THURSDAY EVENING, Dec. 27, 1900.

Rev. H. H. Goff will commence a protracted meeting at the Chapel in East Kinston next Sunday morning at 11 o'clock. The public invited.

Some work is being done on Queen street. More of such work is needed and badly needed. The road machine should be put to work on the streets.

We were in error in stating in yesterday's paper that Miss Gertrude Bagby, of Wilmington, was visiting Mrs. L. P. Tapp. She is visiting Mrs. J. T. Middleton.

Mr. W. C. Fields is fitting up a handsome business office in his new building, occupied by Ellis' Carriage Works, on Gordon street. He will move into it in a few days.

The Episcopal Christmas Sunday school celebration will take place tomorrow (Friday) night at 7:15 o'clock, at the opera house. No admission charged and no collection will be taken. Every one invited.

Mr. Cephas Hay, who was accidentally shot Christmas night by Mr. Rhem Taylor, continues about the same. He was resting easy this morning. A crisis will be reached tonight at the 72d hour since the accident. Dr. W. T. Parrott, who is attending the young man, says he will recover if he lives through that hour.

We have received a copy of the new almanac for 1901 published by the Royal Baking Powder Co. It is an artistic and useful book and will be of interest to housekeepers. We are authorized to say that any woman reader of THE FREE PRESS can secure a copy without cost by sending a request to the company, at 100 William St., New York.

Gen. Nelson A. Miles and one of his aides, together with a gentleman from Pittsburg, whose name we did not learn, and who has recently purchased a big farm near Newbern, passed through Kinston this morning for Newbern. They were in the handsome parlor car "Vance." Gen. Miles will spend several days fishing and hunting on the farm with the gentleman from Pittsburg.

An observing and experienced merchant gives this information and advice to other business men: "Advertising space in the newspaper is as much a part of your business and property as the display window or the business office, and just as indispensable. Get rid of the common but woefully mistaken idea that advertising is something outside of a business—a mere external aid, but not an integral part. Advertising space is a valuable part of your stock in trade, and it multiplies a thousand fold your opportunities of doing business."

Printer's Ink for the last week of the year offers to business men a number of timely suggestions. For example: "If you need advertising at all you need it during the dull spell that follows the holiday season. Don't think there is no use in pushing for business. Don't get an idea that people stop buying goods with the passing of Christmas. The beginning of the new year is a very good time to get new customers started with you. That your competitors stop or decrease their advertising immediately after the holidays is the very best reason why you should not do so."

Mrs. C. B. Woodley and son, Master Isaac, were returning home Christmas evening about dusk, after taking dinner with relatives in the country. Ernest Tull was in the buggy with Mrs. Woodley driving. Mrs. Woodley was holding her baby. Master Isaac was standing up behind. At Adkin Hill they saw three negro boys, nearly grown, standing near the road. One was heard to say: "Now we'll have some fun." One of the other negroes said: "You better not do that." When the horse got near them one of the negroes threw a lighted fire cracker, which exploded near the horse's head. The horse shied, throwing Mrs. Woodley and the baby out of the buggy. They fell on the wheel and then between the wheel and buggy. Mrs. Woodley was very badly bruised and Dr. Woodley fears one of her ribs is broken. Mrs. Woodley tried to protect the baby but its face was bruised from striking the axle. After the occurrence two of the negroes ran off. One of them did not run, and being questioned gave his and the other negroes' names. It was a deliberate and mean attempt to cause injury and ought to be severely punished by the law.

If you would have an appetite like a bear and a relish for your meals take Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets. They correct disorders of the stomach and regulate the liver and bowels. Price, 25 cents. Samples free, at J. E. Hood's drug store.
