OLD NORTH STATE NEWS AND GOSSIP ODD AND INTERESTING HAPPENINGS. Encouragement for Farmers in State Weekly Crop Bulletin.

It Has Been a Good Week All Around, but More Rain is Needed-Corn and Cotto Planting Practically Completed-Rice ning Along Finely-Ground Dry and Hard-Short State Stories.

The Weekly Crop Bulletin of the North Carolina section of the climate and crop. service, says for the week ending Monday. May 12:

"Another most excellent week for the progress of farm work was experienced, and where sufficient rain fell the weather was very favorable for the growth of crops. However, drought has been intensified over many counties by the total absence of precipitation, and from these points many unfavorable reports were received. Very beneficial showers occurred in many localities on the evening of the 7th, and it is thought that the moderate rain of Sunday night was gen eral over the eastern half of the state where it was most needed. While more rain is required for crops in the drier localities, especially for wheat and oats, for transplanting tobacco, and to bring up late planted corn and cotton, it appears that no positive damage to crops by drought has resulted so far. The temperature averaged quite high, in spite of two cool days, on the 8th and 10th, the mean being about 5 degrees above the daily normal. The amount of sunshine was also abundant. The temperature conditions have been favorable, ex cept that growth was slightly checked by cool nights during the latter portion of the week. Farmers have been so active everywhere that a large number of grop correspondents report farm work now well up, and that crops are clean and well cultivated; in many sections the ground is now dry and hard.

"Planting corn and cotton are prac tically over, except that many bottoms have still to be planted in corn. Early corn looks healthy, has grown fairly well and in the south portion is over 18 generally. There are some complaints of damage by chinch bugs and cut worms. ot doing so well. Late planted cotton is coming up slowly and mevenly on account of the lack of sufficlent moisture, so that good stands are not yet assured; light vains have benefited much of the crop; chopping to stands is actively underway. The most serious effect of the drought has been to delay the transplanting of tobacco, and in many sections plants are getting oversized; the rainfall Sunday night fell over the section where most needed and will give an impetus to the work of setting out tobacco plante, which is now under way in the most important central northern counties. Peanuts are be planted. Bice has come up nicely. Wheat and oats need rain and are heading low; spring oats are well advanced in growth. Complaints of damage by potato buge are more numerous than for several seasons past. Sweet potatoes have sprouted. but slips will be scarce. The strawberry crop was somewhat cut short by dry, warm weather which ripened berries too small for market. Pastures have made elow growth during the week.

Miss Childers' Queer Prank. Lenoir, N. C., May 13.-Mr. Will Childers received a letter from his niece, Miss Cordie Childers, the young music teacher, who has been mysteriously missing from her home here for two weeks, last night. The letter states Miss Childers is in Sterling, Nebraska. The only excuse she gives for her strange conduct is that she did not have the nerve to say good-bye.

the Story of a Hurry Call Fos a New York Ambulance,

A young physician tells an amusing experience of the days of his ambu lance service. A hurry call was received one day, and he with the am-bulance was dispatched with great haste to a tenement in one of the poorarts of the city. He climbed sev-

IN MOLTEN LAVA WORDS FAIL TO DESCRIBE SITUATION Senate Raises the Relief Fund to Half a Million Dollars. Looters Have Begun the Ghastly Work of Robbing the Putrid Corpses-Thrilling

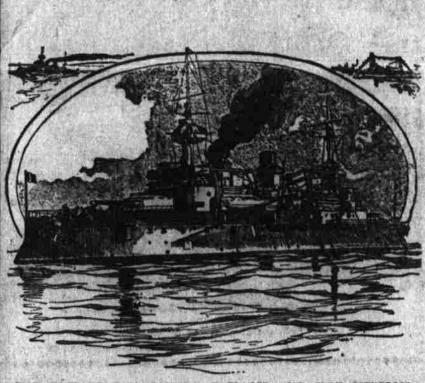

Stories of Some of the Survivors-A Rescuing Vessel's Dangerous and Splendid Work of Relief.

Fort de France, Island of Martinique, May 18 .- Strange to relate, in view of the number of inhabitants of St. Pierre who were swept to death by the volcanie waves from Mount Peles on Thursday last very few corpses have been found by those who are engaged in the work of cremating the dead bodies. This is due to the fact that the most populous quarters of the town are buried under a thick layer of lava which apparently entirely consumed the bodies of the victims.

Public interest centres in the stories of the survivors and in the efforts being made to succor the refugees. A woman named Laurent, who was employed as is servant at St. Pierre, in the household of M. Gabriel, and who was among those taken to the hospital in this city, in de-sribing her experience, said that on the day of the terrible disaster she heard a load report and thereupon fainted. When she regained her senses a few, hours later tim and amiably volunteered the in-formation that she was ready to go to the hospital at any time. She was a remarkably healthy accident case, and Gabriel family still alive, but they died before assistance could reach them. Mile, Laurent, although she lived for

It was not a burn requiring hospital treat-ment, and the douted hospital treat-work of specoring the catastrophs. The care of the physicians, died without being santly.

Words fail to describe the present sit uation at Pierre. A small detachment of French troops is making efforts to bury the dead, although the government seems to be uncertain as to what is to be done in this direction. Looting al the dead has begun already. While coming to Fort de France the Potomac picked up a boat containing five colored men and one white man whose pockets were filled with coin and jeweiry, the latter evidently stripped from the fing of the dead. Lieut. B. B. McCormi ander of the Potomac, arr these men and turned them over, to the commander of the French cruiser Suchet for punishment. The Potomac also brought a ton of supplies to Martinique When the cable repair ship Pouyer-Quertier, Captain Thiron, started on her mission of mercy she tried to pass through clouds of burning cinders and the risk of catching fire in order to reach the terror stricken people ashore. But she succeeded in bringing to this port 456 people, mainly former residents of the village of LePrecheur. This was on Saturday last. Since then the steamer, as the result of the daring trips, has succeeded in bringing many other persons to Fort de France. On Sunday she secured 928 persons and piloted the French cruiser Suchet and the Danish cruiser Valkyries, who took on board fifteen hundred per sons. H The path of the volcanic torrent which swept over St. Pierre is marked out in a range manner. The vicinity of the shore, where vessels anchored, was swept by a whirlwind of volcanic gas, which ripped, tore and shattered everything in its passage, but left few traces of cluders behind. William and the English Throne.

A glance at the list of royal persoo ages in the direct line of success sion to the British throne reveals some interesting facts. How many people know that there are only two adult males between Emperor William and King Edward? It is, however surprising it may be, a fact that the German emperor is the third male successor over twentywomen or children. Only two are men of full age-the king's only son, the Duke of Cornwall and York, and his
