The morning train to Morehead City today was filled with people on their way to that popular summer resort. The travel to the seashore is on the increase every day now. A number of Kinstonians will go down on the afternoon train to spend Sunday there.

Mr. Redding Pope, who lives about seven miles from Kinston, in Vance township, lost a barn of tobacco yesterday by fire. It caught from the furnace, caused by two bricks falling out and the blaze licking through the aperture thus made. His loss is about Services the pastor. Sunday services the pastor.

Mr. Dempsey Wood, of Kinston, accompanied by his friend, Mr. Ashby Baker, of Raleigh, has again been down to Morton's pond on a pleasure fishing trip, and had fine success and I understand they contemplate making some arrangement for this pond by which they may stock it up with a greater variety of their much sought after sport.—Harlowe Cor. Newbern Journal.

The board of directors of the Neuse River Shad Stew association and their families had a big barbecue dinner at Mr. Greene Taylor's yesterday. About 75 ladies and gentlemen were at the dinner and had a fine time. Barbecued pigs and baskets filled with the choicest edibles to be found in the country were there in abundance, and lemonade was served to all "without money and without price" and the day was spent in such a pleasant manner as not to be forgotten soon. A good many Kinston people were out to the dinner and all expressed themselves as having had a fine time.

Albert Chandler, the "snake charm-as having had a fine time.

Albert Chandler, the "snake charmer" referred to a few days ago in these columns, was bitten yesterday by one of his pets. It was a king snake and not deadly. Albert was tantalizing the snake when his snakeship got mad and struck him on the finger, bringing the blood. He paid no attention whatever to the bite and no evil effects resulted. He was bitten, he says, a few days ago by his white oak snake and experienced no pain at all. The reason ascribed by young Chandler for snakes not hurting him is on account of his whole system being so heavily charged with electricity. Along this line he is also more or less of a peenomenon, being able to stand a voltage that would put the average person out of business.
