THURSDAY EVENING, Oct. 29, 1903

The frost for four or five days in succession this time of year is something unusual for this section. There was also considerable ice.

As he was coming into the city yesterday, Mr. Daniel Taylor's horse shied at a large sign tacked up on the road and jumped to run. Mr. Taylor was thrown from the buggy and sustained slight injuries.

Tickets for the Faust minstrels are on sale at Dr. Woodley's drug store. It is said of this company that they carry the finest scenery and richest costumes of any minstrel show traveling. Friday night Oct. 30th.

A gentleman on the westbound A. & N. C. passenger train this morning had a very large rattlesnake that he killed below Newbern. The snake measured six feet and four inches in length, and when killed contained 3 birds and a rabbit, undigested, as if just eaten. It had only nine rattles and a button.

A valuable bird dog belonging to Dr. Wm. Edwards showed signs of hydrophobia a few days ago and was confined. Since that time the dog has developed a genuine case and will have to be killed. It is not thought that any other dogs were bitten as the doctor, who is familiar with the symptoms of rabies, placed the dog in confinement at the first signs.

Mr. W. S. Fields' horse became frightened at drum beating on the corner of Gordon and Heritage streets yesterday afternoon and ran away, throwing Mr. Fields from the buggy. Though his head struck a hard substance, and a painful wound was inflicted, Mr. Fields held on to the reins and never let the horse get away. He was taken home and a doctor summoned, and said from the soreness caused by the fall is all right today.

Mr. E. B. Blansett, from whom the check was stolen yesterday, has recovered it. Mr. Blansett's wife found the check under the seat of the buggy yesterday evening when he got home. The presumption is that the thief became frightened at the publicity given the matter, and being afraid to present the check for payment put it in the buggy so that Mr. Blansett could get it. Mr. Blansett says he did not go near his buggy from the time he obtained the check until he discovered his loss.

One of the county officials had no end of amusement yesterday with an English sparrow that he had captured. He put the little bird in his coat pocket and walking up to persons in the court house, he would ask the one approached if he did not want some chinguepins, and turn his pocket toward him. The man of course, would reach his hand into the pocket and touch the bird, which would move. This invariably caused a sensation, the man hurriedly jerking his hand out of the pocket, and that peculiar feeling known as "cold shivers" would chase each other up and down his back. The officer would quietly tell him that a little chicken snake wouldn't hurt him, but this didn't mend matters at all, rather had a tendency to aggravate the "creepy" feeling.

There is one man in the city who certainly does not believe that marriage is a failure. That man is Oliver Harrison, colored, who will tonight be married for the fifth time. Oliver drives for Oettinger Bros., and he has been a public character on the streets for years, and every body knows and likes him. He is 61 years old but does not show more than half of it. The bride-to-be is a widow of 35 summers. The reporter was in the register of deeds' office this morning when Oliver came in, and though it was the fifth time that he (Oliver) was embarking for a matrimonial voyage, his manner at once proclaimed the object of his visit to the court house, and the register of deeds merely asked the names of both parties. He showed the enthusiasm of a beginner and was evidently under the influence of the tender passion.

Ted E. Faust Minstrels.

On Friday at high noon a street parade will occur in this city. It will announce the Ted E. Faust Superb Minstrels who are to appear at the opera house on the night of Friday, October 30. A feature of this parade will be the military band of Prof. W. C. Roth, "The Sousa of Minstrelsy." It will number 22 solo musicians. In the parade will also appear Ted E. Faust's 50 all-star minstrel artists. They will parade the principal streets and render open air concerts along the way. In the evening at 7 p. m. in front of the theatre a special open air concert will be rendered. This is absolutely free. Special attention is called to the orchestra of 18 pieces; also to the costly costumes worn by the company in their street parade, in their first part, and in their olio.

The OWL DRUG STORE

You Can Travel Many Miles through many states and you will find few drug stores that you would exchange for ours. The reason is to be an independent something about our store which makes our patrons loyal to us. They are always telling their acquaintances about our store. We will not attempt to explain it. We simply try and conduct our store in such a way that our patrons will feel as they do "It's-er-rything. It is the same feeling that you have toward your life-long family physician. Of course we desire to increase our list of patrons as soon as new cast members know our store they become loyal. If we should fail to suit you we don't want your money.
